Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.
It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.
For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Great Men and Their Home Life.

"He that hath wife and children," says Bacon, "hath given hostages to fortune, for them are impediments to great enterprises, either of virtue or of mischief." Yet, looking over the world's "great enterprises of virtue," it is a curious fact that one finds more married men than single among their leaders.

That love is the deepest and most lasting source of ambition Bismark admitted when he wrote to his wife: "If I now had to live without God, without you, without the children, I do not know why I should not put this life away from me like a frotted garment." It is impossible to read his letters to his wife without feeling that his home, instead of hampering him, provided the human outlet that set him free to mount and make the task worth doing.

"She it is who has made me what I am," so Bismark loved to conclude the tale of how he won his wife. "For thirty-three years she has never given me a dull moment," was the Disraelian lament of her husband when Lady Beaconsfield lay dying. William Blake on his deathbed made a last sketch of his wife as an angel in tears: "For you have ever been an angel to me, Catherine."
"People talk of love ending at the altar! Fools!" In a letter to his wife, Charles Kingsley flings this sentence into the balance on the side of marriage. He always declared that the courage to enter on a literary career was roused in him by the love and sympathy he received in his home.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the Heart, and one to the Kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail then the organs must falter. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by all dealers.

Quite Correct.

A smooth looking stranger recently placed a number of penny-in-the-slot machines in a certain town. The machines bore the following inscription:

"The greatest known aid to digestion. Drop a penny in the slot. Push, then pull." At the top of the machine was a handle to be pushed, then pulled, and many towns-people who could not resist the temptation of trying some new device, for the same reason that Timothy took the wine—"for his stomach's sake"—dropped in their pennies and took a push and pull out of the machine. But that was all. No result followed, and there was some talk of blowing open the hoarded treasure.

At the end of the week the agent reappeared, unlocked the machines, garnered the wealth and retired, after explaining that "exercise was the greatest thing for digestion in the world." The crowd was so paralyzed that the agent escaped unharmed.

Excused.

The teacher—"And why didn't you come to school yesterday?"
The pupil—"Plesse, ma'am, me mudder didn't know school commenced yestiddy, and she borrowed Mrs. Green's almanic an' it wuz a last year's one."
The teacher—"And didn't your father know the day that the schools opened?"
The pupil—"No, ma'am. He don't know nuffin 'bout days."
The teacher—"How is that?"
The pupil—"He works nights."

How Worry Affects The Digestion.

That worry, particularly over matters of condition and environment, will cause the most positive form of indigestion, is proved by a case recorded in France, says Harper's Weekly. For the purpose of experiment, several noted physicians arranged with the authorities to use as a subject, a man condemned to death. He was purposely allowed to hope for commutation of sentence until three days before the official date set for the execution, when he was informed that he would be guillotined. He had always been a healthy, rugged, athletic man, a heavy eater who had never known trouble with his digestive organs or stomach disorders. Before being told of his fate, he ate a hearty meal of various foods, of which a note was made at the time. Afterwards he ate but little, and in decreasing quantity as his worry increased over his approaching execution. When executed, the post-mortem examination discovered the food he had eaten three days before still in his stomach and undigested. The organs were perfectly normal from a pathological point of view, but the depressing, prostrating effect of worry on the nerves affecting the digestive organs had prevented the stomach from exercising its function of digestion.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Getting Into Monte Carlo.

I came to Monte Carlo at night; it was as though some palace of a fairer land had greeted me. Monaco's giant rocks rose heavenward, their lighted headlands blending with a starry, yet ink black, sky. You leave the train behind—there is an ascent of many steps, marble steps, a stairway of splendor adorned with bronzes. At the top, thru a garden of great palms, you get the first glimpse of the Casino, a building of gaudy splendor, somewhat subdued at night; and your thoughts are of satisfaction and pleasure. But musings like these came to an abrupt end; the crowd swept on the Casino, and the reality was before me.

Now came the formality of obtaining from the authorities the admission card. I experienced difficulty, and it was only after proving my identity and professional standing that the green card was handed me.

No one is wanted in the Casino who is a local resident; you have to live far away and be an employer rather than an employee; this role is made to lessen the chance of the scandal often coincident with loss. After traversing the splendid hallways the card was scrutinized, and at last the doorkeeper, with profound obeisance, ushered me into the gambling salon.

You ask me for impressions—first impressions. Well, I will tell you—the neurotic perfumes of this southern land, the noise as of raining gold, the atmosphere or aura of the place, unseen yet none the less forceful, these impelled me to dive into my pocket and test the goddess Fortune.—Arthur Hewitt, in The Bohemian Magazine for October.

Spent Eighteen Dollars

"Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in stating that I have used $18.00 worth of Psychine, and as a result was cured of very serious throat and lung trouble.
My case was a most difficult one, and the doctors had practically said that I could not get well. I tried Psychine, and it did me so much good that I continued its use until I had taken $18.00 worth, with the result that I am now a new man physically. I have gained thirty-five pounds.
"It is with the greatest confidence that I recommend Psychine to all who are afflicted with throat or lung trouble.
Yours truly, C. A. PINKHAM.
