Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts—strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

What Can You Do?

Lord Tennyson could take a penny piece of paper, write a poem on it, and make it worth $65,000. That's genius!

Rockefeller can write a few lines on a sheet of paper and make it worth $10,000,000. That's capital!

Uncle Sam can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an eagle and make it worth $20. That's sovereignty!

A mechanic can take a piece of material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $1000. That's skill.

A merchant can take an article worth 75 cents and sell it for $1. That's business!

A lady can purchase a hat for $1.50, but she prefers one for one $30. That's extravagance!

A coke-drawer can pull several tons of coke in a day and get several dollars. That's labor!

A preacher can preach for a whole year on $10 per month—and—live. That—O, that means he has a saving wife!

Things that Went Wrong.

On one of the rear seats of a street car going south a few mornings ago sat a portly, well-dressed man who wore a swell suit of clothes and sported a heavy gold watch chain. He was smoking a cigar.

"Sir," said the conductor, politely, "it's against the rules to smoke inside this car. You'll have to go out on the front platform."

"Young man," responded the portly passenger, with a frown, "do you know who I am? I'm one of the heavy stockholders of this road."

"Oh, that's different," rejoined the conductor, touching his cap. "You can stay here and smoke all you please."

The Two Friends.

Yesterday afternoon two men met at the northeast corner of Clark and Randolph Streets.

"How are you, Ringgold?" said one of them, as they stopped and shook hands.

"I'm not at all well, Tomlinson," answered the other. "For about a week I've been troubled with a cough and a sort of tickling in my throat."

"I'm awfully sorry, old man," said Tomlinson, "but I don't know of anything that's good for it."—Chicago Tribune.

Wedding Rings as ertain Hangers.
(London Globe.)

A handsome tabernacle of silver gilt has been erected in the Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament in the new Roman Catholic Cathedral at Westminster.

For years past, in anticipation of this event a lady who has done much for the cathedral has been collecting gold rings on which the inner curtains hang. She has succeeded in persuading many of her friends and relatives to leave at death their wedding rings for this service.

At the present moment the curtains of silk inside the tabernacle are supported by about fourteen golden rings which she has obtained, and on each of them the name of its donor is inscribed.

The Fair Complexion.
(Contemporary Review.)

It cannot be an accident that nearly all those conquering races which were also colonizers have been fair. Perhaps there is only one indisputable exception—the Arab; for of the tribes which furnished a large proportion of the Roman armies in the earliest time some were blond doubtless as the Samnites. So it was with the Spanish conquerors. One may see flaxen hair, blue eyes and even red cheeks in Costa Rica, Segovia and elsewhere not infrequently to this day. But set against the dark colonizing people which might be found the multitude of Gauls, Teutons, Slavs, Greeks, Scandinavians, English in Europe, Persians, Medes, Indian Aryans, Afghans of Asia—the preponderance of the fair is overwhelling. Some names in this list may surprise the "general reader"—as the Persian. The people so-called nowadays are not blond. I can only advise the bewildered to inquiry.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country that all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheaper Fuel For Farmers.

"The time is not far distant," said N. C. White in the "Plankinton," when the American farmer will be making his own fuel out of corn stalks and other refuse about the farm. There has, I know, been a great deal of disappointment over denatured alcohol. When the law was first passed every one expected that it meant an immediate change, and all a farmer would have to do would be to get a kettle and a few lengths of copper pipe and start in producing his own fuel.

"It has been found, however that there is much to learn before this time arrives. The work of discovering a cheap and practical method for the farmers to make this commercial alcohol has been carried forward by the experiment station of the Department of Agriculture and along in the fall it is expected that the department will have a complete plant in operation and through this, men from all the agricultural colleges throughout the country will come to learn the method of producing alcohol.

"They in turn will teach it to the farmers in their States. The experiments now are being directed, I am told, towards the use of cheap, starchy material about the farm at a cost where it can compete not only with gasoline, but with kerosene. If successful, an entirely new field of endeavor will be opened, as with cheap fuel, much can be done that now is not attempted because of the expense. I understand that representatives of the Agricultural Department are now in Europe for the purpose of investigating the methods there of making denatured alcohol."—[Milwaukee Sentinel.
