Centreville.

The Sherwood Saw Mill started working last week and the slumbering villagers are now awakened at five o'clock in the morning by the steam whistle at the mill.

Our teaching staff went to the Institute at Woodstock and report says that a large representation was there and that the Institute was a very successful affair. A number of Teachers whose homes are here and who are teaching in other places are home for the holidays.

The stores are well-supplied with holiday goods and the variety seems to be sufficient to suit every taste and every requirement could be met if the income is sufficient.

Prices have gone down a little on some lines of farm produce but there is an extensive movement in hay, oats and potatoes.

Letters have been received from a number of friends in the West which speak very hopefully of the future, some claiming that during the coming year that times will be as good in the West as they ever have been.

Several changes in real estate are being made which are important to those interested.

The destruction of the Tannery at Bridge-water Centre has cut off a trade in tan bark of some importance.

Fred Cheney is advertising his Hotel at Monticello for sale and in his estimation is offering a big trade to the quick buyer.

A Christmas sermon was delivered in each of the churches here last Sunday and they were in each case very interesting.

Though I know very little of the correspondents of the DISPATCH throughout the county I take the liberty and present opportunity of wishing you all a Merry Merry Christmas and a glad New Year.

Repeat it:—"Shiloh's cure will always cure my coughs and colds."

Santa Claus seems to be the most thought of among imaginary mortals just now.

We would suggest that the successful politicians begin early to fulfil their pre-election pledges. The prohibition of the liquor traffic should receive their earliest attention.

Quite a number of people drove to Upper Kent yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Miss Jennie Squires. Rev. John A. Ives preached the funeral sermon.

Debec.

The scarcity of snow, so far, this winter has been a drawback to the farmers who have much farm produce and lumber to haul.

J. E. Fleming's mill at Ryan's Crossing has been in operation for some time. There appears to be plenty of lumber for this winter at least.

The Debec mill now owned by Mr. VanWart of Fredericton will soon be in readiness for the winter's work. Mr. VanWart like Mr. Fleming has a crew of men getting out lumber.

The Flemming Billings Mills, of Elmwood is not running at present as the owners are lumbering on their own land.
