WOODSTOCK, N. B. JULY 1, 1908.

On Wednesday, at Middle Simonds, the marriage of Bird Wiley Shaw of Boston, and Miss Iona Clarke was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Mallory (Primitive Baptist) of Perth. The wedding took place at the home of Marvin B. Shaw, father of the groom and step-father of the bride. There were many guests and a large number of handsome presents. After two weeks Mr. Shaw will return to Boston with his bride.

Mrs. H. Herzy Stevens and sons, Harry and Jack, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stevens at Somerville, and Mrs. E. A. Britton at Windsor. Mrs. Stevens is a daughter of the late Charles Augustus Simonson, a well known farmer of Carleton county.

Hon. J. K. Flemming has his family settled in their cozy new home at the south end, near Mr. Flemming's mill.

Thursday a farmer attempted to pass over the Depot street crossing while the shunting of cars was going on, when his sloven, loaded with two tons of pressed hay, was bumped by the rear end of a "double header" freight train that was backing up. The load was overturned and the wagon ground to fragments. The escape of the driver and horses, a handsome span of sorrels, was narrow but complete.

The United Baptist people have temporarily settled the matter of increased accommodation for the rapidly growing congregation by having what is termed "the lower church," holding a hundred more than the newer building, brought into requisition. The old church was built 37 years ago by the then Free Christian Baptists and the building is still staunch.

At the Tuesday evening prayer service Rev. E. J. Webber of the Methodist church, asked permission of his congregation to allow him to go one Sunday before the end of the year, and the following day, he and Mrs. Webber went to Sussex, where Mrs. Webber's parents reside. His departure so suddenly created some surprise among his flock.

The Government Agricultural commission, consisting of W. W. Hubbard, Dr. Landry, and W. F. Fisher, (of Chatham), and Donald Munroe, M. P. P., Hon. J. K. Fleming, and H. P. Timmerman (representing the C. P. R.) were at Hartland on Thursday conferring with the farmers as to their needs for increased marketing facilities, with local men of industry in regard to furthering the development of the country's resources, and with produce shippers. A spirited public meeting was held in the evening.

There is a great deal of building going on, but, with the exception of the big brick block, it is mostly of minor importance. The new C. P. R. dining rooms are taking on a finished appearance and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Throughout the county the condition of the crops is most encouraging. Never was the prospect for hay more encouraging; grain promises equally well, and potatoes, upon which rests a great deal of speculation, are so far doing finely. Bugs are making their appearance but the farmers are appearing in the hay-field also and are waging war against the pest.
