A GREAT LIBERAL VICTORY.

Mr. Carvell Wins in the Local Campaign and Sir Wilfred Retains the Confidence of the Country.

We give below the result of the Dominion elections held on Monday. It will be seen that Sir Wilfred is handsomely sustained, and that he has no need to worry over lack of sufficient majority. New Brunswick has gone Liberal with a sweep, reversing its decision in March last according to those who fail to realize that whatever the politicians may say, the people will continue to distinguish between Provincial and Dominion issues. Ontario which recently gave its premier, Sir James Whitney, an overwhelming majority, only gives the Conservatives in Dominion issues some seven of a majority. Quebec remains loyal to its leader, as was, of course expected. It certainly looks as if the country was satisfied with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration. Unquestionably the personality of the man counts much. In the province the particular surprises were the defeat of Mr. Ganong and Mr. Fowler, the former especially. More than ever do we learn of the uncertainty of elections. Dr. Pugsley is elected by a good majority in St. John city and county, but the city stood by Dr. Daniel.

It is generally admitted among fair minded men that the party press exceeded itself in its unfairness this campaign. Each side is guilty in this, but the more ammunition in the shape of party organs was with the government. In time this evil may moderate itself, but the influence of the press is certainly in danger. If it is said that the lack of official influential organs in the province was in no small degree the cause of the overwhelming defeat of the Opposition, it may be replied that in the city where five papers were in support of the government, the government candidate was beaten.

Coming to our own county the contest was bitter and strenuous. Mr. Carvell is elected as the returns show by a substantial majority. Anyone who has followed the history of Carleton County in elections the past dozen of years or so, must come to the conclusion that the people are determined to decide for themselves. It is a cheer for one party today, for the other tomorrow. No one party owns the county and that is as it should be.

Sudden Death.

Charles Clare, aged 70 years, died suddenly of heart failure on Tuesday morning at six o'clock. Mr. Clare was in apparently his usual health on Monday evening and with his wife and daughter took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery. He leaves a widow, one son Charles, jeweller, of Campbellton, and two daughters, Mrs. Clyde Glenn, of Grand Falls, and Janie at home.

Mr. Clare was a carpenter by trade and a well known citizen of Woodstock. The funeral will take place on Thursday.

Death of Mrs. W. F. Sipprell.

On October 14th, the death of Mrs. Wilfrid F. Sipprell, for fifty years a resident of Somerville, this county, occurred at Boulder, Colorado. She was sixty-seven years of age and has been in poor health for a number of years, but was not in an apparently dangerous condition. Two days before her death she was able to get up and dress herself. At the time of her death she was surrounded by her husband and three daughters: Mrs. Ed. Wolverton, Mrs. Sidney Bolt, and Mrs. John Jones. Seventeen years ago Mrs. Sipprell went to Colorado where her husband had spent many years, and where most of her children were. The last years of her life were spent pleasantly surrounded by her children. The only son, Norville, is a contractor's foreman in Mexico. Mrs. Sipprell leaves one sister, Mrs. Demarias Smith, mother of E. L. Smith, M. P., of Winona, Ont., and two brothers, Joseph and James, of Somerville.

To the Electors of the County of Carleton.

GENTLEMEN,—A vacancy in the representation of this county in the House of Assembly occurred in the year 1905, and at that election to fill the vacancy I was a candidate, but for reasons fully known to you I had not the privilege of contesting the seat. And now a vacancy has again been made when a bye-election will eventually be held to fill the seat vacated by Mr. B. F. Smith, when, at the request of many voters I announce that I will again be a candidate.

I trust to be able to meet many of you before the election and explain to you the policy I shall advocate. To you I am no stranger, and you all may fully rely upon me to work for honest, pure and economical government. We have too much partyism in our politics. Instead of such we need to more faithfully blend our energies for the good of our noble province and see to it that our public affairs are more cared for.

Any and all measures that shall tend to usefulness and the betterment of our country, I shall support if elected.

Believe me, gentlemen, if you do choose me for your representative that I will earnestly and faithfully work for the general welfare of this county and province.

Yours sincerely,

JAMES R. H. SIMMS,
Bath, N. B., October 19th, 1908.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wolverton was the scene of an interesting event, when at 5 o'clock on Wednesday the 30th inst. Their niece Lauretta was married to Robert H. Gibson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. C. Turner of the Jackson, ville circuit. The bride was dressed in white Persian Lawn with valenciennes lace and insertion and was unattended. The number of valuable and useful presents which they received was a token of the high esteem in which both young people are held. Among the presents was a handsome chair given by Court Ferryville I. O. F., of which Mr. Gibson is a member. The groom's gift to the bride was a fur lined coat.

"Bob" Larsen and His Bride.

Outwitting their hosts of friends, who had no inkling of their engagement, Miss Elsie G. Phelan, the well-known Cambridge composer, and Robert G. Larsen, a former Boston newspaper man, and at present connected with the Keith interests in Boston, were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother in Somerville yesterday afternoon, and were off on their honeymoon before the news was announced to even their most intimate acquaintances.

The wish of both the bride and the groom was that there be no elaborate ceremony, and the bride's mother abided by their request, keeping her secret until the couple were started on their honeymoon. The marriage was performed by the Rev. William Couden of the Universalist church in West Somerville.

Mrs. Larsen is the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude E. Phelan, and is one of the best known musical composers in the United States, one of her marches, "On the Gridiron," at present being played by both the Symphony Orchestra and Sousa's band. Born and brought up in Cambridge, she evinced wonderful musical ability while still a school-girl, and before she had completed her High school course had a number of compositions published by both Boston and New York musical houses. Of late she has confined herself to serious and classical music, at the request of such well-known musical authorities as the White, Smith Company, the W. Thompson Company and the John Church Company.

Mr. Larsen for fifteen years was active in Boston newspaper work, but two years ago he severed his connections with the newspaper business to become affiliated with Keith Proctor's Harlem Opera House.

On the 25th of May last a performance was given at the Boston Theatre by the Society Amateurs for the benefit of the sufferers from the Chelsea conflagration, and Miss Phelan volunteered to give a piano recital rendering a number of her most popular compositions.

After witnessing the performance the management was so pleased with the talent displayed by the young composer that they requested Miss Phelan for the benefit of her hundreds of friends among the clubwomen of the country, to give her recital at Keith's Theatre during the two weeks that the biennial convention of Women's Clubs met in Boston. This she did, but she declined to continue her stage success and returned to her musical studios. But the friendship between Mr. Larsen and herself continued, and to their most intimate friends their marriage, although unexpected, proved no surprise.

Miss Phelan's many admirers and Mr. Larsen's friends are planning a reception for the couple when they return from their honeymoon.—Boston Journal, Oct. 23rd.
