NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

Jacksonville.

Among those who have returned from Normal school for the Xmas holidays are the Misses Edna London, Deborah Clarke and Master Bonnie Vail.

Miss Uarda Burr, who has been teaching in Upper Bloomfield will teach next term in the new school house between Jacksonville and Waterville, known as the Palmer Settlement school.

Miss Marion Fowler has accepted the offer of the trustees of the Upper Jacksonville school and will teach there another year. Miss Fowler has given the greatest satisfaction and is now on her second year in her home district.

Dr. Phillips returned from St. John on Saturday last and Mrs. Phillips and Miss Georgie returned from Lindsay the same day where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay.

Mr. David Burpee has sold his farm to Mr. Henry McCain of Georgetown and will vacate it the last of January.

Miss Clara Turner of the Domestic Department of the Consolidated Schools of Hampton and Sussex was the guest of her parents Rev. E. C. and Mrs. Turner for two weeks.

Miss Harmon conducted an interesting school closing with recitations and singing. An instructive feature was the reading of original Christmas stories by some of the older pupils. Miss Harmon is spending her vacation in Woodstock.

A representative gathering of friends from Northampton, part of the Jacksonville circuit met at the Methodist Parsonage last Tuesday and after a pleasant evening with the genial pastor and his wife presented the latter with a liberal purse of money. It is whispered that another delegation from that church who were unable to attend last week are coming during the holiday season on a similar mission. Such occurrences show that people have the true spirit of appreciation of the work of their pastor Rev. E. C. Turner and his efficient helper Mrs. Turner.

The services in the Methodist church here were of the theme of Christmas on Sunday last. Special music was given by the choir in accord with the subject for the evening "No room for Him in the Inn." A solo was sung "Little Babe of Bethlehem" Miss Alice Tilley presiding at the organ.

Little Miss Goldie Havens who has been dangerously ill with appendicitis is gaining strength rapidly under the care of Dr. Prescott.

The many friends of Miss Hazel Tilley are rejoiced to see her among them as usual after her recent illness. Mrs. Tilley is recovering slowly from Bronchitis.

Kilburn.

The recent cold weather froze the river over here and teams have been crossing for some days. We are having light snow flurries and very mild weather now.

Hedley Dykeman has been to Woodstock on a business trip.

Florence McEnerlin held the public half yearly examination of her school Dec. 18th; the pupils were examined in reading, writing, geography, grammar, etc. and there were several recitations which were as follows:—The Three Holidays, by Roy Dykeman, Clayton Clark and Maggie; True Love, by Ada M. Dykeman; The Snow Shoveller, Nellie Denning; When Santa Claus Comes, Olive Carr; Writing to Grandma, Grace Carr; A Secret to Santa Claus, Madeline Denning; The Bad Little Boys, Ray Clark. The pupils were treated to candy, peanuts and raisins.

At the concert and basket social held in the Temperance Hall the sum of $17 was realized which will be used for church purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cyrus were on a business trip to Benton. They drove by way of the Eel River stream.

A crew of men are engaged repairing the bridge across the Eel River stream at Kennedy Mills.

Williamstown.

Another Xmas is nearly here, with its joys for some and sorrows for others, with its family gatherings and friendly greetings.

We have hardly snow enough yet for good sledding, but have had some severe weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Page and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McWaid took a drive to Woodstock Tuesday.
