Letter to Mr. Watson.

Mr. Chas. R. Watson,
Agent "Gourlay Piano",
Woodstock, N. B.
Dear Sir,—I am pleased to recommend the "Gourlay Piano" from both the musician's and workman's point of view. It is a Piano which stays well in tune, and from its clarity and evenness of tone it is a delight to the Concert pianist and accompanist. The action is well balanced throughout, and is in my opinion well calculated to produce the best results. Yours truly,
J. HOLLIS LINDSAY,
Professor of Piano and Harmony,
Central Conservatory of Music,

Fifteenth Anniversary.

The fifteenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burpee was celebrated at their home in Farmerston, Carleton Co., N. B., on Thursday evening, August 27th, 1908. The affair was arranged as a surprise to the couple, and as such was a grand success, as they were not aware of the proposed gathering until the relatives and neighbors began to arrive. The surprised family then hastened to dress and prepare for the company. More and more teams and individuals arrived until forty happy people were laughing and talking in the spacious parlors of the beautiful Burpee home.

That the evening was a pleasant one and will be long remembered goes without saying. Conversation, music and refreshments of cake and ice cream were heartily enjoyed by all. Rev. D. Rand Pierce of Fitchburg, Mass., was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Edward Estey and Miss Hattie Kitchen presided at the organ during the singing. Rev. and Mrs. Pierce sang a duet entitled, "Settled it long ago." Mr. Pierce then made appropriate remarks and offered prayer. The evening was closed with all singing, "Blest be the Tie and that Binds." Near the close of the exercises, Mr. Pierce read the following original poem which elicited much interest and applause. At the urgent request of many of those present he has consented to its publication.

Verses on the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burpee.

BY D. RAND PIERCE.

Over fifteen years have rolled away,
Since down the river, blithe and gay,
Rode young Fred Burpee the farmer's son,
To the capital city of Fredericton.

Had the stores of Woodstock all run short
Of shirts and pairs and hats the sort
A young man needed? Or was he sent
As an honored member of Parliament?

Ah, no! such trifles as these could find
No place of lodgment in his mind;
For a queenly maid had caught his gaze,
And set his youthful heart ablaze.

How bright and pleasant all nature seemed,
As the love-sick lad rode on and dreamed;
While his faithful nag, so free to go,
Seemed now to measure the miles too slow.

He arrived at last; his case was won;
The day was set whose golden sun
Should see these two made one in heart
And joined till death itself shall part.

How the time has flown; for fifteen years,
Gilded with laughter and clouded with tears,
Have rapidly passed like the bird in its flight,
Since you clasped your hands at the altar that night.

And now we have met to congratulate you,
That God has blessed you all these years thro',
In basket and store; in body and soul;
And children more precious than silver and gold.

Here's Ernest the eldest, a farmer by choice,
Lithe in his body, but big in his voice;
Fond of young calves and of driving the team,
And also of porridge with plenty of cream.

And here is young Arthur with plenty of brains,
To be some great man if he only takes pains;
Fond of his studies and fishing for trout,
Caught a big salmon and how he did shout!

And here is Miss Winnifred, bright little lass,
Fond of her dolls, of the flow'rs and the grass;
And sweet little Everett, now fast asleep,
With as pretty brown eyes as ever did peep.

So Heaven has blessed you much you see,
In that which makes life bright and free,
And if you live fifteen years more,
We trust His blessings still will pour.

And when life's ending here has come,
And God's dear children gather home,
May we all meet where grief and pain,
And partings will never come again.

Death of William H. Dale.

William H. Dale, a well known citizen died at his home at Richmond, Aug 21st, of paralysis after an illness of less than a week. He was born in Cornwall, England, 64 years ago, and came to Woodstock in 1869, where he has since resided. He leaves a widow and four children to mourn their loss, Mrs. John A. Davis, of South Framingham, Mass., Mrs. William E. Bumpers, of Canton, Mass., and Eva and Willie at home.—Com.

Pleasant Easton Reception.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, Easton, was the scene of a very pleasant wedding reception Wednesday evening, August 12th, at eight o'clock. The reception was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clockedale. Mrs. Clockedale, formerly Miss Jennie Hand, was united in marriage at her home in Plymouth, August, 5th. Having boarded several teams with Mr. and Mrs. Turner, they were only too glad to open their house to welcome and receive her friends. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The many friends who gathered and the gifts received showed the esteem in which the young couple were held in the community. The wedding march was played by Mrs. William Driscoll, and the receiving committee were Mrs. Chas. Clark and Alfred Kinney. The groom wore the conventional black, and the bride looked charming adorned in ivory satin and lace. Ice cream, cake, fruit and cigars were served in abundance, and all present were delighted with the pleasant evening spent, and left wishing all happiness to the bride and groom.—Taken from the Fort Fairfield Review.

Miss Phelan's Concert.

Without doubt, the finest concert in years was given on Monday evening last at the Hayden-Gibson opera house.

The program included Miss Elsie C. Phelan of Boston in songs and imitations, Miss Margaret Ross, contralto, of Philadelphia and Mr. John Hollis Lindsay, pianist of the Chicago Conservatory.

Each number was enthusiastically received and repeatedly encored. The first number on the programme was the Concert Etude of MacDowell's for piano. Mr. Lindsay's interpretation was exquisite. For an encore he played Liszt's Gondolier, and in this he showed marvellous technique. His rendition of Chopin's Polonaise, Op. 22 was masterful, and the audience called him back again and again.

It was a delight to once again hear Miss Ross. Her voice is richer, more vibrant and she gave us an encore to her first group of songs a delightful rendition of "Comin' thro' the Rye." This only brought another encore. Her dainty rendition of three of Miss Phelan's songs were more than appreciated. Both Miss Ross and Miss Phelan were so absolutely at home, entirely free from affectation, that it made their numbers doubly edifying. Miss Ross was beautiful in a sheer gown of pale blue.

The minute Miss Phelan came on the stage her smile captured the house. Her numbers grew better and better and she was given rounds of applause. Her rollicking sailor song made a decided hit—her imitations were inimitable. Her "Coster Song" was especially good and she was only allowed to retire after repeated encores. Her perfect ease and attractive stage presence added greatly to her acts. She kept her audience in continual laughter, and she certainly may always be sure of a warm welcome in Woodstock.

Baker-Drake.

Today at Avondale the marriage of Anthony G. Baker of Hartland and Miss Bertha M. Drake will take place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Drake, Avondale. The wedding will be a quiet one, only the immediate relatives and closest friends of the contracting parties being present. After the ceremony the couple will go on a wedding trip to Prince Edward Island.

Miss Drake has been employed with Keith & Plummer at Hartland for more than a year and Mr. Baker is manager of the John McLauchlan Co.'s store there. They will reside at Hartland.

Social Events.

Mrs. G. Hugh Harrison gave a most delightful tea on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Rainsford, of Fredericton. After a delicious tea was served the guests repaired to the lawn where Clock Golf was enjoyed for an hour. Mrs. Allison Connell was the winner of the first prize, which was a dainty cup and saucer, the second prize going to Miss Rainsford, it being a small framed picture. The guests were Mrs. Lee Raymond, Mrs. T. Carl Ketchum, Mrs. A. D. Holyoke, Mrs. W. L. Carr, Mrs. J. A. F. Garden, Mrs. Allison Connell, Mrs. George Balmain, Mrs. Wm. Balmain, Mrs. W. W. Hay, Mrs. B. Harry Smith, Mrs. J. Stewart, Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Wm. Dickinson, Miss Beardsley, Miss Bourne, Miss Dibbles, Miss Smith, Miss Stewart, Miss Connell, Miss Rainsford.

Mrs. B. Harry Smith entertained a number of ladies on Thursday evening at a bridge party given in honor of Miss Norah Dibbles. Near the close of the evening dainty refreshments were served, after which a delightful shower of linen occurred which brought the party to a close.

On invitation of Mrs. A. D. Holyoke, the ladies of the Golf Club assembled at the club house on Wednesday evening last, when a novel entertainment consisting of an examination of the etiquette of golf was held. Miss Marion Rankin was the winner of the prize.

Opening of Hawkshaw Bridge.

The opening of the new bridge at Hawkshaw and Pokiook on Thursday last was signalized by a picnic on the heights above the Pokiook Falls. The day being all that could be desired, there was a large attendance of the residents from both sides of the river and the surrounding country. The usual sports were carried out under the able direction of Messrs L. R. Bull and A. W. Fleming of Hawkshaw, and Dr. Daman of Canterbury, including a trotting race won by Fred Elliott and a greased-pig chase won by James King.

The dancing under the direction of Charles Allen was kept up all the afternoon and up to midnight. A big bon-fire and an "Indian" supper to the committee by John Allan, was quite a novel innovation. Refreshments were well catered for by Messrs Frank McFarlane and George Clair. The ices by Teddy Burden and Ned Graham were in great demand. The tea tables by the chairman of the committee, George Burden, John Allan and Charlie Ebbet, ably assisted by the ladies were a genuine success. Great credit is due to the efforts of the organizers for the extremely pleasant day spent by all.

The bridge is a graceful, fairy-like structure of four spans supported by well-proportioned granite piers.

The Markets.

Produce beginning to move freely and heavy shipments are made.

Potatoes are proving a fair crop and on Monday were bringing $1.00 per barrel, which is considered an excellent price at this time of the season.

Oats are coming to market and the price is 35 cents.

Hay is marketable at $6.00 per ton.

Butter and eggs continue in good demand at 20 to 22 cents.
