Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in one organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach those controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

Why Her New Hat Affected Him?
(Chicago Tribune.)

The rain, which had come suddenly and unexpectedly, was falling in torrents, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

Among the persons who had taken shelter under a friendly Madison street awning was a fashionably dressed woman.

"I beg your pardon, madam," said a plainly attired man, considerably past middle age, stepping up to her and lifting his hat, "but I want to offer you my sincere thanks."

"What do you mean sir?" she said.

"Thanks for what?"

"I never expected to see it again," he went on with tears in his eyes. "It has been nearly thirty years since"

"Since what, sir? What are you talking about?"

"Pardon my emotion, madam, but I used to live in Salt Lake City, and"

"I have nothing to do with Salt Lake City, sir. I never was there in my life."

"But I was. That was my home for many years. And when I saw"

"When you saw what?"

"That hat of yours, madam! It brought back the old thrill! It's an exact reproduction of the great Mormon Tabernacle, which my eyes have been aching through all the weary years to see once more before I die! My longing has been satisfied at last, and I thank you from the bottom of a grateful heart!"

Again lifting his hat, he stepped forth into the pouring rain and strode rapidly down the street, wiping his eyes as he went.

A Tiger In Wales.

(From The Chicago News.)

England's recent fright over an imagined airship from Germany is paralleled by the amazing tiger scare which put Central and South Wales in commotion about seven years ago. It was reported that a tiger had escaped from a travelling menagerie at Brecon. Mangled sheep were said to mark its course across country to Landrindod Wells, some farmers lost their dogs and on market days at Builth, Brecon, Ronybont and Llanmarlach the wild beast was the centre of rumor. Country schools were closed because parents feared to let their children go along the roads, and bands of armed men sought to hunt the tiger down.

This state of terror lasted a week, though no person was found who had actually seen the tiger, but only people who "had heard that some one else," and so forth. Then the truth was hunted down and the origin of the whole affair discovered at the remote hamlet of Eberedy. One night the schoolmaster there, in dismissing the children, playfully had warned them not to loiter in going home lest a tiger should get them.

The scared children accepted the warning as real and hastened home with stories of a savage beast lurking behind hedges or growling in ravines. And so the story grew, as stories do under the culture of imagination.

From Missouri.

The following amusing incident occurred some years ago in northwestern Missouri.

A gentleman went to a small primitive village for the purpose of inspecting some land which he had owned for a number of years but had never seen. Reaching the place one evening, he secured lodging in a small house.

The next morning, he went to the back of the house, where on a bench was a tin wash-basin and near at hand a barrel of water and a dipper. After washing his hands and face he took from his pocket a tooth-brush, and, pouring some water on it from the dipper proceeded to brush his teeth.

A small boy of the house watched him for a few moments in unfeigned astonishment, then yelled: "Oh, mom, come quick and see the fellow sharpening his teeth!"—J. W. Duncan.

When I Was Your Age.

(S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record Herald.)

When Pa was my age there were few grown men could do what he could do what he could do:

He didn't waste his time at play,
But did a man's work every day;
He'd muscles that were hard and strong;
He sought the right and shunned the wrong;
His parents never had to scold
Or fret when pa was twelve years.

"When I was your age—" "Jimmee!"
How often pa says that to me!
At every meal I have to hear
The same old thing, or pretty near;
When he was my age he would eat
Just wholesome things and pass the sweat;
He wouldn't even taste of cake,
And shunned pie for his stummick's sake.

When pa was my age he would save
Up every cent he got—and brave!
If he'd met a lion, it
Could not of frightened him a bit!
The thing he liked to do the best
Was good hard work with little rest;
In school he stood above them all,
And he was nearly six feet tall.

"When I was your age—" Every day
Pa hands that out the same old way:
His head is bald, his stummick's bad;
He's lost the muscle that he had;
Ma can't afford to keep a maid:
Pa's not a great man, I'm afraid—
At least no banners seem to fly,
And no band plays when he goes by.

Down where he labors, wet and dry—
They keep pa in a little cage;
I wonder why he wishes I
Would be like he was at my age?

Ice Tumbler Replaces Ice Water.

Exit ice water, enter the ice tumbler. The ice tumbler is made of ice and is a European novelty. It is of fairly stout construction and easily made. A mold conforming with the desired shape of the vessel is filled with water, which is then frozen solid and after removal is shipped into an outer paper envelope for convenience in handling and to protect the ice from the heat of the hand or surrounding atmosphere. The goblet is made fairly thick at the base or foot, becoming thinner at the rim. The size at present made is about five inches in height, weighs nearly four ounces, and holds some nine fluid ounces.

When the receptacle is turned out of its mold it has the appearance of porcelain, but if preferred it can be tinted, it only being necessary to add a small proportion of harmless coloring matter to the water with which the mold is filled. The average life of the goblet is about half an hour in ordinary summer weather. The liquid poured into the tumbler has its temperature far more appreciably decreased by contact with the surrounding ice than is possible with the ordinary method of immersing a piece of ice in the glass containing the liquid, and is far pleasanter.

Tell some deserving Rheumatic sufferers, that there is yet one simple way to certain relief. Get Dr. Shoop's book on Rheumatism and a free trial test. This book will make it entirely clear how Rheumatic pains are quickly killed by Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—liquid or tablets. Send no money. The test is free. Courtship in Ireland.

An Irish boy marries when he has a rid house, and an Irish girl just when she pleases. Sometimes she so pleases while yet her years are few; at other times she is content to wait upon wisdom. In the latter case, of course, she makes a wise choice; but in the former almost always a lucky one—for Luck is the guardian angel of the Irish.

"You're too young to marry yet, Mary," the mother said, when Mary pleaded that she should grant Laurence O'Mahony a particular boon.

"If you have any patience, mother, I'll cure meself of that fault," was Mary's reply.

"And she's never been used to work, Laurence," the mother said to the suitor, discouragingly.

"If you only have patience, ma'am," was Laurence's reply to this, "I'll cure her of that fault." And he did, too.

200 Year Old Butter.

Ghee is used in India as is butter in America and European countries, says Popular Mechanics, and in fact is butter, so prepared that it never grows stale, instances being preservation for as long as 200 years.

In preparing ghee, butter is boiled until all the watery particles and curds have been thrown off by repeated skimmings. When the liquor is clear oil it is poured into a vessel to cool. When cooled it is in granulated form, and kept for years without becoming rancid or of bad odor. Ghee has been found in deserted castles, where it must have been left more than two centuries ago.

Another "Sunshine" Feature

The Gas Ring

This is an entirely new idea, and will especially interest people who reside in natural gas districts. The gas ring takes the place of the lower Sunshine fire-pot, thus making it possible to burn gas in your furnace without inconvenience. Such is not possible in a furnace where the ordinary gas log is inserted; for, should the gas give out, a coal or wood fire could not be started until the gas pipes were disconnected.

To provide against sweating in the summer time, Sunshine Furnace is equipped with a nickelled steel radiator and dome. All bolts and rivets are nickelled, all rods copper-plated. This special treatment, besides meaning quicker and greater radiation from the radiator and dome than cold chill iron could possibly give, acts as protection for the bolts, rivets and rods from inroads of gas. When cast iron comes in contact with our nickelled steel it is coated with our special Anti-Rust treatment, which prevents the slightest possibility of rust commencing anywhere in Sunshine Furnace.

What Women Really Want.

What women want to-day, says a writer in Harper's Weekly, what they have always wanted, what they will want, so far as we can see, as long as human nature is human nature, is something to take care of.

Erym the wash-woman with her half-dozen babies always underfoot and in the way, to the celebrated professor of geology, the dream is the same—something to take care of.

Learning does not quench the instinct nor wealth destroy it, nor independence deaden it.

A woman at the very top of one of the learned professions recently explained her economies by saying she was investing in a little farm, upon which she intended to bring up a little adopted boy and girl, adding with infinite pathos; "The part I will have to play will be father's and not the mother's, because of my work, but it will be worth while anyway."

No political duties of interests are going to change this instinct.

Conditions have changed, woman's occupations; necessarily she has changed her methods to meet the need, but she is still the caretaker, still finding her chief happiness and her chief labor in looking out for others, in protecting the rising generation.

It will be the very last instinct to yield, if ever it does, to new and strange forces. The adjustment to economics is unavoidable. Women are demanding new rights because new conditions render their work futile or difficult without them.

But wherever and whenever women are able to get beyond the actual needs of the body, the necessities of life, they will provide next for their happiness, and their happiness lies always in something to take care of.

Absent-Minded.

Administer in a small country village, who was noted for his absent-mindedness, was once observed to stop suddenly in the middle of his sermon and heard to mutter: "I knew she would! I knew she would!"

When the service was over, someone asked him the reason of his exclamation.

"Dear me," said he, "did I? Well, you know from the pulpit I can just see old Mrs. Rogers' garden, and this morning she was out pulling up a cabbage, I thought to myself, 'Now, if that cabbage comes up suddenly, she'll go over,' and just then it came up, and over she went."
