Town Council.

The Council met on Monday evening, all the councillors were present.

The town treasurer's report for the month of September showed receipts of $8264.26, and expenditures of $1264.27.

Coun. Ketchum read a letter from D. McNicol, vice president of the C. P. R. in regard to the building of a new station, and asking the council to name a site that would be suitable to the townspeople. Coun. Ketchum thought it would be a good move for the Council to take some action in the matter.

Coun. Dugan spoke of the revision of the voters list and said there had not been any revisor appointed by the Council as the law calls for. He moved that J. W. Gallagher and Stephen Green be appointed.—Carried.

Coun. Ketchum said that Mrs. L. P. Fisher, had waited on him in regard to the floods in Mexico in which many people had been drowned and the people there were badly in need of help, as they were homeless and destitute. He felt that the town could not legally give a grant but thought perhaps they would be able to assist them in any way they possibly could.

His Worship said that Mrs. Fisher had called on him and he intimated that perhaps a public meeting might be called.

Coun. McManus seconded by Coun. Hagerman, moved that the catch basins on the Institute hill be closed and the surface water run into the creek. Carried.

Coun. Fawcett said he had some complaints to make. When he was appointed chairman of the street committee he thought he would have something to say in regard to the work being done, but he found that he had not. Work was being done at the Bull spring, and when he went away he left Mr. Graham, to make the necessary repairs, but he had been taken off the job by Mr. Kelly. The public would blame him for that but it was not his fault. If the job had been done as he had laid it out, the money would not have been wasted as it has been. He thought if Mr. Kelly would attend to his duty as Marshall there would be better order in the town. If he is going to cater to drunken men he had better be put in some other position. When he (Fawcett) went away he had his work laid out, and he found that Mr. Kelly had taken upon himself to lay down an asphalt sidewalk in front of the Victoria Hotel, one of the biggest ram holes in town. He knew a man in town who had a receipt or his taxes from Mr. Kelly and it did not appear on the town treasurer's books. He spoke of drunken men being arrested by officer McCarron at night and let out of the lockup by the Marshall in the morning. He wanted the public to know just how he stood in the matter.

His Worship said that in regard to the man, Graham, who had been working on the Bull Creek job, it was through his orders that he was asked to stop work there and do some work on the sidewalks. Mr. Graham had said that he would rather give up his job than work under Chief Kelly, and he felt there was nothing to do but let him go, which he felt he was perfectly justified in doing.

Chief Kelly said there was nothing said to Mr. Graham except what His Worship had told him to say. Coun. Fawcett had asked him to look after the work on the sidewalks when he was away and he had consented to do so. In regard to laying the sidewalk in front of the Victoria Hotel, he told Mr. Boyer if he would put in the curbing he (Kelly) would see the proper authorities and ask them if they would lay the sidewalk. He had never done any work unless he got an order from the town officials. He had never catered to any drunken men, and had always tried to do his duty conscientiously, and showed no partiality to anybody. He did not know about any man having a receipt for his taxes which was not credited on the treasurer's books. He was no thief. If he had taken any money out of the town by mistake he stood ready to make it good. When the council thought that he was not the right man for the position he occupied, it was their privilege to discharge him.

Coun. Ketchum thought that Coun. Fawcett should be a little more guarded in his language. He talks to us as if we were all black sheep and he was the only white one. If he would devote his energies to a better channel it would be more profitable for the town. When I am called away from town I am very glad to have Coun. McManus take my duties and feel that everything is all right. But not so with Coun. Fawcett. He comes up from St. Andrews once a month to see that the town's business is properly conducted. His remarks about Chief Kelly were extremely severe and uncalled for. His (Ketchum's) experience with Chief Kelly and the Police Magistrate had convinced him that they were both capable and efficient officials.

Coun. Fawcett said he did not mention Mr. Dibblee in his remarks. He felt that he had been turned down. If the Mayor had taken the matter out of his hands he was to blame. From this time forward Mr. Kelly can do the work. If he (Fawcett) had pinched any man at the board he would have to be excused.

Coun. Ketchum seconded by Coun. Hagerman moved that the assessors be paid as follows: $100.00 to the principal assessor and $25 each to the two assistants. Carried.

His worship said he would sign cheques up to the amount of money in the bank and after that was exhausted he would sign no more cheques.

Stung by a System

The new time card issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway which came into effect October 3rd. would seem to indicate that this Corporation is putting forth strenuous efforts to wipe the Town of Woodstock off the map. The Plaster Rock train, which has proved quite a convenience to the travelling public, both from this and up-river sections, has been taken off altogether and we are left with only one train a day to and from up-river points. The morning train now leaves here at 6.45, or a short time before old "Sol" lifts his shuiling face over the Eastern hills on cold, frosty mornings. The night train from St. John and other points, which formerly arrived at 10.10, will in future get here whenever it happens to pull in, which, it has been decreed, must not occur before 11 p. m. We are unable to understand why passengers who desire to leave here in the morning for points South or West should be required to crawl out from the Ostermoor two hours before daylight in order to catch a train that arrives at McAdam nearly an hour before any other train leaves there. McAdam may have it's charms, but we have never seen it listed among the Winter Resorts, nor has it ever occurred to us that it's attractions are sufficiently enticing as to induce the travelling public to remain there any longer than absolutely necessary. We admit that we are not experts in railway matters, but we know when we are "stung," and we have a suspicion that the C. P. R. is administering the stinging process to this town in very large doses.

We have never been given as good railway service by the C. P. R. as the progressiveness of this County required, nor have we ever been able to get from them accommodation commensurate with the patronage they have received.

It is clearly evident that this section of the Province needs and must have another railway. It is an undisputed fact that in Carleton County we have the very best and most prosperous agricultural district in the Maritime Provinces, we have natural scenery, the beauty and grandeur of which is unsurpassed on the Continent. In addition to all this we have possibilities and adaptabilities for the development of large manufacturing industries, but at the present time we are at the mercy of the C. P. R., and the accommodation we are receiving at their hands is little better than would be received by the smallest way station or siding.

Appropos of the treatment that is being handed out to Woodstock we are reminded of a story that is told of two colored gentlemen who met on the station platform at Amherst, N. S. one day just before the arrival of the "Ocean Limited" from Montreal, and the following conversation took place.

"What you goin, Hanford?"
"I's goin' to Maccan, Partlow."
"What train you goin' on?"
"I's a goin' on de Ocean Limited."
"Why, de Ocean Limited don' stop at Maccan, Hanford."
"Yes, she do, Partlow."
"I say she don't stop dar."
"Well, she do."
"No, she don't nudder. Why, she don't eben hesitate dar."

Twelve Years Imprisonment.

The Polli murder case was brought to a conclusion at Andover on Saturday afternoon when Judge McLeod sentenced the Italian prisoner to twelve years in Dorchester penitentiary, he having been found guilty of manslaughter.

The trial aroused considerable interest throughout the province and the question of the immigration of Italians to this country was generally discussed.

Pollis seemed quite unconcerned when his sentence was pronounced and beyond lowering his head betrayed no emotion, apparently expecting that his sentence would be quite as heavy as it was. He glanced neither to the right or left as he was being conducted from the court room, although the eyes of hundreds were upon him, but went back to his dungeon cell with pale set face and steady step.

Judge McLeod in pronouncing his punishment for the murder of James Orr, a fellow labourer, paid a high tribute to Messrs Carvell and Jones, the counsel for the prisoner, saying that they had ably fulfilled their obligations. His honor was satisfied with the verdict of the jury and named a term of confinement which, he said might be materially reduced if the Italian behaved himself properly in prison.
