Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.
In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, sent to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

The New Writing.

Advice to an ambitious writer, from a Literary Bureau: "Let your story always have contained in it the element of love, but always treat it in a strikingly original way. The old forms have gone out.

SAMPLE.

Perkins listened. Yes, there on the stairs he heard the steps of a woman. He knew at once it was his wash-woman. The thought came to him, like a flash of inspiration, that he must love her. He had loved every other kind. Only this way remained open.

A new emotion—an entirely new vein—was his. He lost no time. She deposited her bundle on the floor, puffing and blowing. He began counting out the change. He could feel the warm blood mounting to his cheeks.

"Mrs. Murphy," he said at last, facing her with supreme resolution, "do not be startled, I beg of you. But in the deep of your eyes I discern something—what shall I call it—a soul wave, that is in tune with mine. What is your first name?"

"Bridget, sur."
"It does not matter. Bridget, listen to me, I love you, love you with an absorbing, compelling love. Will you be mine? In spite of husband, friends, local traditions—everything—will you be mine? It is inevitable that it should be. Environment is nothing. We are imprisoned in two weak bodies, but as we gaze into each other's eyes we know at last that we two have met in an eternal embrace? Do you understand? Only say that you understand."

Bridget Murphy gazed at him an instant in wild surprise, with her hands on her hips. Then with a cry of delight she sank into his arms.

"Sure, Oi've met me own at lasht!" she murmured. "Home, husband, and frinds is nothin' to me now."
Then the struggle began.—September Lippincott's.

Drive Rheumatism out of the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy and see how quickly pain will depart. Rub-ons never did reach the real disease. Rheumatism isn't in the skin. It's deep down—it's constitutional. Getting rid of the pain, is after all, what counts. That is why Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy goes, by word of mouth from one to another. And herein lies the popularity of this Remedy. It is winning defenders everywhere. Tablets or Liquid. Sold by all dealers.

The Famous Kumiss.

Kumiss is a valuable beverage for use in the sick-room. Heat one quart of milk to seventy-five degrees Fahrenheit, add one and one half table-spoonfuls of sugar, and one fourth of a yeast-cake dissolved in one table-spoonful of lukewarm water. Fill sterilized bottles to within one and one half inches of the top. Cork, and shake. Place the bottle inverted, where they may remain at a temperature of seventy degrees Fahrenheit for ten hours; then put in the ice-box or a cold place, and let stand forty-eight hours, shaking occasionally, to prevent the cream from clogging the mouth of the bottle. It is refreshing and nourishing.—Woman's Home Companion for August.

A clever, popular Candy Cold Cure Tablet—called Preventics—is being dispensed by druggists everywhere. In a few hours, Preventics are said to break any cold—completely. And Preventics, being so safe and toothsome, are very fine for children. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh, nor sickening. Box of 48—25c. Sold by all dealers.

Rules of Color Harmony.

Much sound advice on the buying of rugs is contained in an article in the Woman's Home Companion for September. In regard to color it says: "A floor should be the lowest or darkest tone in a room, then the walls, and the ceiling the lightest or highest. This is the natural way and the safest to follow as a general rule. It gives a feeling of firmness and solidity to the floor, whereas, if the order is reversed, and the floor is lighter than the ceiling, one feels that the ceiling is coming down on one's head and that dodging is the only way to escape a blow. The floor should support the walls in color as well as in fact but care must be taken not to make the mistake of thinking that strength of color is obtrusiveness of color. Strength of color in the right place will make the scheme of decoration a successful and satisfying one, but obtrusiveness of color will make a hopeless failure of it.

"The chief color of the rug should be the chief color of the walls—not necessary the same tone, but harmonizing tones of the same shade. If the walls are a soft yellow, a rug with different shades of brown, and to give the needed note of contrast, dull soft red and blues, would look well in the room. This kind of rug would also go well with green or blue walls. The proportion of the different colors in a rug may make or mar it for one's special use. In choosing a rug it is best to have a feeling of one predominant color, with the other colors adding the snap that contrast gives, and forming a harmonious and delightful whole."

A New Way to Can Tomatoes.

Last summer I tried a new method of canning tomatoes, and it proved so satisfactory that I want to pass it on. Scald and peel the tomatoes as usual. Have the cans sterilized, place the raw tomatoes in them whole, pour in boiling water to fill the cans, running a knife around in the cans, so that all the crevices are filled, then put on the cover. Place the cans in a boiler or large vessel, pour in boiling water till it reaches the neck of the can, put the lid on the boiler, wrap it with a blanket or rug, and leave until the water is cold, which will be next morning. The cans are then ready to put away. I did not lose a can out of forty quarts. When the cans were opened, the tomatoes were whole and firm enough to slice easily.—Woman's Home Companion for September.

An Essay On Habits.

A schoolmaster once said to his pupils that to the boy who would make the best piece of composition in five minutes on "How to Overcome Habit," he would give a prize. When the five minutes had expired a lad of nine years stood up and said: "Well, sir, habit is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter, it does not change 'abit.' If you take off another, you still have a 'bit' left. If you take off still another, the whole of 'it' remains. If you take off another, it is not totally used up, all of which goes to show that if you want to get rid of habit you must throw it off altogether." Result, he won it.

A thick skull enables a man to keep a lot of useless knowledge out of his head.

A Keen Lad.

I had always heard that New Englanders were 'smart,' a young physician who has "graduated" from a village practice remarked the other day, "but I hardly thought it developed at such an early age."
He smiled reminiscently, then continued: "Just after I settled in Dobbs Corners a twelve-year-old boy called on me one evening.
"Say, Doc. I guess I got measles," he remarked, "but nobody knows it 'cept the folks at home, an' they ain't the kind that talks, if there's any good reason to keep quiet."
"I was puzzled, and I supposed I looked it."
"Aw, get wise, Doc," my small visitor suggested. "What will you give me to go to school an' spread it among all the kids in the village?"—September Lippincott's.

Slight Misunderstanding.

An Italian organ-grinder recently escaped a fine by his wit. He had been playing before the house of an irascible old gentleman, who furiously and with wild gesticulations ordered him to move on.
The Italian stolidly stood his ground, and played on, and at last was arrested for causing a disturbance.

At the court the magistrate asked him why he did not leave when he was requested to do so.
"Me no understand mooch 'Ingleese," was the reply.

"Well, but you must have understood by his motions that he wanted you to go on."
"Na, na," was the rejoinder; "I tink he come to dance."—Weekly Magazine.

Well Equipped.

A Methodist bishop was recently a guest at the home of a friend who had two charming daughters. One morning the bishop, accompanied by the two young ladies, went out in the hope of catching some trout. An old fisherman, out for the same purpose, wishing to appear friendly, called out: "Ketohin' many, pard?"
The bishop, drawing himself to his full height, replied, "Brother, I am a fisher of men."
"You've got the o' bait, all right," was the fisherman's rejoinder.—Success Magazine.
