MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP.

The Wrong Door.

Charles E. Wells, who has been called the ground-hog Senator of West Virginia, because he once introduced a bill advocating the changing of Ground Hog Day from February 23 to July 4, was staying overnight at the Grand Hotel of a budding West Virginia village not long since.

He was awakened in the morning by heavy pounding on his door, and the voice of the old man night clerk saying, "Five o'clock! Better get up or you'll miss your train."

Mr. Wells didn't intend to catch a morning train and hadn't given any instructions that he should be called at the unearthly hour of five o'clock, so he paid no attention to the old man's morning greeting and was asleep again almost immediately.

In about fifteen minutes he was again awakened by the pounding on his door and heard the voice of the old man saying apologetically, "Don't get up. I tapped on the wrong door."

Babies suffer from chafing, scald head, skin irritation and eczema.

Eczema often develops from the milder forms of skin irritation and has a tendency to spread over the body and become chronic.

Baby eczema means torture for the little ones— anxiety and loss of sleep for the mothers.

But baby eczema is almost immediately relieved and certainly cured by the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

This Ointment heals as if by magic. Patient treatment will cure the worst case of eczema.

Unlike unsanitary powders, which clog the pores of the skin, it promotes healthful action of the skin and makes the skin clear, soft, smooth and velvety.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a necessity in the home where there are small children. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Sewing Suggestions.

For a handy needle book a piece of blue satin ribbon eight inches long and two inches wide is pointed at each end and finished with a small blue silk tassel. It is then stitched to a second piece of ribbon the same size and sewed across to form three small needle pockets. Into the three pockets are thrust small papers of needles.

For a plain baby dress choose a good grade of nainsook and use a pattern in which the sleeves and dress portions are cut together. Bring the fulness to the front and back, with scant gathers upon the shoulders. Sleeves should be long, medium, short and roomy. The skirt should be finished with a three-inch hemstitched hem. Trim with very narrow lace at the neck.

When a new skirt braid is required, rip off the old one, clean the skirt, baste on the binding, then stitch it with the machine, turn it up into position, baste in the edges, sew it fast by hand, and do not let the stitches show on the right side. When finished take out the bastings and press on the wrong side with a warm iron. Before removing bastings from any kind of work, cut them in short lengths, never pull long threads out, they draw up the work and you are fortunate if it does not tear.

Embroidery is one of the most fascinating amusements for long winter hours, and just now the artistic are making attractive doilies in huckaback. First the large doily is outlined upon the square of material and the edge is worked with a colored flax in a medium buttonhole stitch. The edge can be perfectly plain with small or large scrolls or more intricate. After working the pattern, cut it from the goods, press it on the wrong side and outline a wreath of oak leaves around the edge. These leaves should be large and worked with oak silkateen. The pattern employed is merely the darning stitch, woven back and forth, the same as all huckaback patterns. Only extremely large leaf or floral patterns will look attractive when fashioned in this manner.

Laugh and Live.

He who laughs longest lives longest. It is the sense of humor that makes the world go round. Life is too much of a tragedy to be taken very seriously.

Have you ever noticed how seldom men have a really hearty laugh? Most men are content with a fleeting grin. "Laugh and the world laughs with you."

They who look askance at him who laughs loudly will leave him alone when the time of weeping comes.

Between the loud laugh that speaks the vacant mind and the cynical smile that points to a faulty liver there is little difference. Both may denote a sense of humor, but the sense lacks discrimination. The merriest man often laughs with his eyes alone.

A woman sometimes laughs, not because she has good teeth. And we often laugh because we dare not cry.

Did the sense of humor prevail the millennium would be here. We would take ourselves less seriously and others more so.

Most of the people who sing "I Want to be an Angel" would be very much hurt and annoyed if their request for a pair of wings were acted upon.

Those who have hard things to say about the present existence will probably make worse remarks about the next.

This life is just as full of woe as we imagine it to be. And it is as happy as we make it. A whole-hearted bad man is often to be preferred to a half-hearted good man. Thoroughness in good or evil must command at least attention.

Death is a misfortune that overtakes our friends, and from which we often imagine we are immune.

Life is what gives us the most trouble in the world, and what we are very loth to give up.

A sense of humor would keep us from pitying our fellows. We should pity ourselves instead.

Satisfied

The professor steps into the barber's chair and assumes an attitude of deep meditation.

"Hair cut, sir?"

"Please!" The barber cut his hair.

"Like a shampoo?"

"Um—please!" He gets the shampoo.

"Shave you, sir?"

"Um—yes?" One shave.

"Massage?" He nods assent, and consequently is massage. The barber removed the towel, the professor arises and mechanically takes the proffered check.

"What's this?"

"Your check, sir"

"My check?"

"Certainly, sir. Haircut, shampoo, shave and massage."

The professor rubs his hands over face and head. "Did I get all that?"

"Surely, sir."

"It's queer, very queer—most extraordinarily queer! A most wonderful example of parapsychical phenomena!"

"What's queer, sir!" asked the barber in dismay.

The professor draws a small, oblong black box from inside pocket.

"Why, the working of human mind. What I came in for was to get my razor honed."—Pluck.

Need of Fertilizing.

Two farmers of the old school upon the platform of a railway station the other day when a lady passed dressed in the height of fashion.

"There John," said one, "what do you think of that lady?"

John eyed her for a minute and then said: "Ah Bill, it is bad ground that takes so much top-dressing."

"Figures Don't Lie, But Liars Do Figger."

An old colored man, who could neither read nor write, and who had been found by his master to be deficient in his marker-book accounts, blamed the butcher for tampering with his book. The gentleman of the house remonstrated by saying:

"But, Tom, figures don't lie."

"No," answered the old man, "but liars do figure."

"Have you ever heard the story of 'Algy and the Bear?'" asked a boy of his father.

"It's very short:

"Algy met a bear.
The bear was hungry.
The bulge was Algy,"

CHANGE OF LIFE

A Time of Interest and Great Importance to All Women.

Wrecked health is produced by neglect during this trying period, and small wonder that women look forward with dread to its coming, for if not properly passed, it is but the beginning of an endless chain of troubles.

As soon as the unmistakable signs known to all women make their first appearance, Ferrozone should be used regularly, and if persistently taken will be a guarantee of happy, healthy, old age.

Nothing can bring more pleasure than to know that the days of sickness and suffering are over. This can best be accomplished by building up the system with Ferrozone, which produces blood, muscle, tissue, and strength to resist and ward off disease.

Ferrozone increases the appetite, strengthens and improves nerve tone, and digestive processes, thereby strengthening and invigorating the whole system. It gives tone to the heart, regulates its action, removes distressing palpitations, and it lays the sound foundation of perfect health.

Ferrozone is a sensible and efficient tonic; it brings back strength very quickly, and few people are so strong and healthy that they would not be benefited by using it.

Be advised and try Ferrozone. It is very pleasant to take, one tablet after each meal. All reliable druggists sell it for 50c per box, or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont. 13

Grape Fruit the Apple of Eve.

Columbus Journal.

Down in the West Indies they have a story that came down thru the mist of ages, that the grape fruit was what Eve tempted Adam with in the garden of Eden, which fruit Adam ate, and thereby brought mortal woe upon the world. The story is believable, since what fruit could so completely fill the vision of Eve, as the big golden globes glowing in the green branches? But the story is not altogether romantic. It broadens out into history. The roots of the technical name of grape fruit run way back, into the linguistic lore of prehistoric nations, until they are lost in the beautiful story of Eden. The alleged apple was a citric fruit, which down in the West Indies they will not eat, because of this doleful fact.

A Danger To Be Avoided.

"I understand that you farmers are going to get most of the profits from crops this year."

"So I hear," answered Farmer Cornrossel. "But we've got to be mighty keeful. If we ever get to payin' dividends reg'lar some captain of finance will git hold of us an' we'll be organized an' syndicated an' merged, till there won't be no profits fur nobody except a few fellers with a little office somewhere in Jersey City."—Washington Star.

Gentlemen! Keep Your Seats.

A Boston girl the other day said to a southern friend who was visiting her, as two men rose in a car to give them seats:

"Oh, I wish they would not do it."

"Why not? I think it is very nice of them," said her friend, settling herself comfortably.

"Yes, but one can't thank them, you know and it is so awkward."

"Can't thank them! Why not?"

"Why, you would not speak to a strange man, would you?" said the Boston maiden, to the astonishment of her southern friend.

Manner of the ocean.

(Boston Herald.)

John R. Drexal, at a dinner in New port, said of good manner: "The Hottentot thinks his manners are the best, the Frenchman thinks his are, the cowboy thinks his are, even the sailor—but listen. I once attended a reception on a man-of-war. A distinguished statesman, visiting this man-of-war, dispensed with the usual formal salutation I heard a sailor near me say:

"Who's that lubber what don't tip his skypiece to the skipper?"

"Choke your luff," returned another sailor. "That Senator Dash, the famous tariff leader."

"Well," growled the first sailor, why ain't he got manners enough to salute the quarter-deck?"

"Manner!" a third sailor chipped in.

"What does he know about manners? I don't suppose he was ever out of sight of land in his life."
