

Still Growing.

A crippled peddler came hobbling to our door one day, and my aunt sympathetically inquired the cause of his lameness.

"You ain't Christian Science, mum, be ye?" he asked. "No, I s'pose not. It's jest my luck. Well, mebbe you know of two kind-hearted old ladies livin' together—you can't mistake 'em; one has a squint an' the other has a mole alongside her nose. No? Well, I'm not goin' to miss 'em for not askin'. I want to see them old ladies mighty bad."

It transpired from his artless rambling that he had fallen when a child and injured his hip in such a way as to check the growth of his left leg.

"But," interrupted my aunt, "your left leg is—"

"Yes, mum, I'm a-comin' to that presently. A year ago I sold a paper of pins to two old ladies in Broomwich, as 'lowed that Mother Eddy's method would lengthen that leg. Seemed to me I'd heard of leg-pullin' in that connection, an' I judged I might as well give it a try, so I told 'em to go ahead with their absent treatment. Mebbe you can guess how tickled I was when that short leg actually began to grow by the follerin' week. It kep' on growin' steady, and within six months I was again in Broomwich with two ekal legs an' a heart full of gratitude for them kind ladies. Well, they was gone. I never had no chanet to thank 'em. I didn't mind that so much, but in another month I seen my left leg was still a-growin'—didn't know enough to stop. I went to Broomwich in a hurry, an' tried to find out where they'd moved, but nobody knowed. Well, good day, mum, I'll be joggin' along, for I've got to find them old ladies and switch their treatment on the other leg. Needn't tell me there's nothing in Christian Science!"—Charlton Lawrence Edholm.

To Digest the Food

Bile in the intestines is as important to digestion as are the gastric juices in the stomach and bile is only supplied when the liver is in active condition.

The serious and chronic forms of indigestion are cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills because of their influence on the liver, causing a good flow of bile to aid digestion and keep the bowels regular, thereby preventing fermentation of the food, the formation of gas and all the disagreeable symptoms of indigestion.

Long standing cases of chronic indigestion yield to Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills after all else has failed.

Here's the proof.

"I was for many years troubled with indigestion and headache and derived no benefit from the many remedies I used. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and after taking four boxes the result is that I am once more in the full enjoyment of the blessing of good health."—Mr. Duncan McPherson, Content, Alta.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Woman's Home Companion for April.

The Woman's Home Companion for April is full of Easter suggestions, spring fashions, Easter entertainments and Easter dishes. Grace Margaret Gould describes and illustrates the new styles in gowns, shirt waists, hats and in dress accessories. Fannie Merritt Farmer, the greatest cook in America, gives the recipes for many delightful spring dishes. It is a big magazine, cream full of interesting articles, stories, illustrations and valuable information.

Maxine Elliott tells how she built her theater in New York. Dr. Woods Hutchinson gives expert advice on what to eat in the spring. There is an interesting article on the Emmanuel Movement, entitled "How Psychotherapy Works." Prof. Frank A. Waugh explains "The Foundation of Good Gardening." We are told how to make window and porch boxes for plants. A milk expert tells how to make sure that milk is clean.

Cyrus Townsend Brady's new novel, "Hearts and the Highway," is begun in this issue of the Companion, and there are stories by Nellie L. McClung, Laura Spencer Porter, Izola Forrester and Florence Morse Kingsley. The illustrations, as usual with Woman's Home Companion, are by well-known artists, and are of the very best.

Thoughts for the Day.

It is easy to be a Christian—if you don't devote much time to it.

The true estimate of a friend lies in whether his coming makes your more cheerful.

Make plans for to-morrow, but remember that 2,000,000,000 other people are likewise planning.

People who talk all the time don't do much harm, for what they say is forgotten.

Philosophy may soothe an aching heart, but not an aching head.—(St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Seeing and Hearing.

"Did you see the shot fired?" was the question asked of an Irishman called as witness on a trial once had in Kansas City.

"I did not," was the Celt's response, "but I heard it foired."

"The evidence is not satisfactory," sternly announced the presiding magistrate. "Step down."

"This legal finding was evidently not precisely to the liking of the Irishman, for no sooner had he left the stand and had turned his back than he gave way to a somewhat laugh. This had the effect of arousing in turn the judge's ire, and he immediately recalled the offender.

"How dare you show such contempt of court?" demanded His Honor. "What do you mean by laughing in this manner?"

"Did Your Honor see me laugh?" asked the Irishman, in a most respectful tone.

"No, but I distinctly heard you laugh," said the magistrate.

A twinkle came into the eye of the witness.

"Such evidence is not satisfactory, your honor," said he quietly, whereupon, every one, including the judge, laughed.—Elgin Burroughs.

In Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick head ache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Treatment for Dandruff.

A very excellent dandruff cure is this: Sixty grains of resorcin, one dram of ether one dram of olive oil, six ounces of alcohol. Shake well and apply to the scalp with a stiff bristle brush like a mucilage brush. The head must be well laundered twice a week with warm water and plenty of soap. A great deal of dandruff will fairly choke away the growth of new hair.
