Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Turner-Hurlbart.

A very pretty wedding took place in town Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Helen Gertrude Hurlbart was married to Mr. Adam F. Turner, manager of Ponoka branch, Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The ceremony was witnessed by a few of the young couples more intimate friends, and took place in Mrs. F. M. Lee's pretty drawing room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion—Rev. E. J. Tate officiating.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. Lee, entered the room to the strains of a wedding march, played by Miss Leona Knapp, and looked exceedingly pretty in a gown of point d'esprit over white silk, trimmed with old Irish lace, with bridal veil caught up with a wreath of orange blossom.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served by Mrs. Lee. The table was tastefully decorated with carnations, hyacinths and lilies of the valley, while white satin streamers were caught from the four corners of the table to the chandelier.

The young couple left by the evening train for Vancouver and the coast, where the honeymoon is to be spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner are exceedingly popular in town and district, and their many friends extend hearty congratulations.—Ponoka (Alberta) Herald, Dec. 24.

Mr. Turner is well known in New Brunswick. He was manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia agency here several years ago. The DISPATCH*enders congratulations.

Signs of Life.

"Metchnikoff will perhaps increase man's life to 200 years by feeding him on curdled milk, and Doyen, with his old age serum, may add another fifty years to that. The signs of long life and short life, though, will still hold good, and the delicate-skinned man will be prematurely cut off at 120 or 130, while the man with the rough, coarse hide will round out a generous 260 or 265."

The speaker, a physician, and himself coarse-hided, resumed thoughtfully:

"The signs of a short life—and my medical experience has shown these signs to be true—are quick growth, a small head, white and frail teeth slightly separated, a very fair and soft and beautiful skin, early corpulence, a small mouth and fine, soft hair.

"The signs of a long life are a coarse, rough skin, strong, yellowish teeth, coarse hair, a deeply furrowed brow, wide nostrils, and a large mouth."—[New Orleans Times-Democrat.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop's doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys: Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. BELLE F. DELONG.

There is no Sleeping in the Grave.

Of humankind there are no dead, says Archdeacon Colley, Rector of Stockton, Rugby, England, in the January DELINEATOR. Man is man because he is, as the Sanskrit "muna" suggests, the "thinker," or one that has consciousness of his being; which consciousness survives the change called "death," which is but as sleep to wakefulness.

The worn physical of this life-machine, the body, falls off, as in slumber, from the psychical that indwells with it (body abide) and keeps the wheel-work ("we are fearfully and wonderfully made") on the go; and there is scarcely a moment's hiatus as the changing sentinels of the oxygen and hydrogen and carbon and other elements compounding it, departing, whisper the password to the even more volatile arriving atoms of the soul. Hence, in the falling in of the outer man upon the inner and the blending of the twain, mortality is swallowed up of life with no jar, jolt, or any cessation of being, since complete insensibility or unconsciousness has no part in the transaction.

More alive, indeed, than ever is the condition immediately consequent on the failure of the heart's systolic action and the involutions and convolutions of the gray matter of the brain, no longer vibrant to the motions of thought playing its reminiscences of earth-memories now transposed on life's higher clef and the beat of perfected rhythmic harmonies.

For true is the Latin statement, mors janua vite, death is the gate of life. Hence continuous and immediate and conscious being, with no sleeping in the grave; for, as the Burial Service of the Church of England says, "The souls of the faithful after they are delivered from the burden of flesh are in joy and felicity."

This I know, not from credal or ecclesiastical affirmation, or even from logical induction of this life's being a hateful, ghastly blunder, if not a curse, but from the teachings of many years' experience and close personal acquaintance with those who have lived in this world, now dead and buried as to their earthly body, returning time and again in a reconsecrated, wonderfully abnormal, corporeal form to company with me and others meeting together in domestic worship with praise and prayer to give them welcome back for an hour to learn of the higher life they have attained. From whom, by many in disputable proofs, visible, audible, tangible. I and those with me have apprehended there can be no gainsaying the fact that the so-called "dead" are alive.

The issue of Busy Man's Magazine for January, even surpasses the high standard which has been set in recent issues. Its pages are crammed with interesting articles, ably illustrated. The premier position is given to "The Millionaires of Cobalt." This article tells in a bright, racy style about the Canadians who have made great fortunes in the richest silver mining camp in the world, who they are, and the various callings they pursued before striking it rich. Men and Events in the Public Eye is an intensely interesting department. It is the policy of the magazine to reproduce the most timely and brightest appearing in the world's periodicals. It is carrying out this policy admirably. Every selection in the January number is timely, and serves to show the care exercised by this competent editorial staff in ransacking the world's periodicals. Articles of special interest are "The Real Owners of America," "The Social Responsibilities of Empire," "Sending Christmas Money Over the Seas," "Northcliffe and Munsey," "The Men Who Built the St. Clair Tunnel," "Canada's Non-English Newspapers," "A Novel Organization in Germany."

Another Time Perhaps.

A pushing traveller, voyaging on an American river steamer on the Yangtze Kiang in China, came up on deck one fine starlight night to find a mist lying on the river, the vessel at anchor, and the pilot walking the deck. "Why aren't we going ahead?" quoth the traveller.

"Can't see the river," answered the pilot.

"But you can see the stars," remonstrated the traveller.

"Yes, I guess we can see the stars," answered the pilot, "but until the biler busts we ain't a-goin' that way!"

MARRIED.

JOHNSTON-KIRK.—On the afternoon of Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, 1909, Lettie Kirk, of Bedell Settlement, and Chas. E. Johnston, of DeBee, were united in marriage by Rev. R. A. MacDonald, at the home of the bride's brother, William Kirk. The young couple were unattended, and the ceremony was witnessed by immediate relatives only.

LAWRENCE-KENNEDY.—At the Manse, McKenzie Corner, Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, 1909, Jennie H. Kennedy and W. Claude Lawrence, were joined in the Holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. R. A. MacDonald. The contracting parties are both very popular here, and friends join in wishing them all happiness and success in the future.

Cure Cholera Morbus
Green or over-ripe fruit will cause it—Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will cure it. An infallible remedy for all similar disorders—cramps, colic, diarrhoea, etc. A few half-teaspoonful doses of will quickly relieve the most severe cases. It's just as sure in curing sore throat, coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, tonsillitis, and kindred respiratory troubles. If you have a cut, a burn, a bruise or other external ache or pain, a free application of the liniment will reduce the inflammation and drive out the pain quicker than anything else. Keep a bottle in your medicine chest for emergencies.

PHYSICIAN TELLS HOW HE TREATS RHEUMATIC PATIENTS

A Distinguished Specialist Gives Valuable Advice.

In the first place I always impress upon my patients the importance of careful living and regular habits. Moderation in eating, keeping the feet dry, and wearing plenty of warm clothing are some of the precautions. No amount of medicine will cure, or even help, unless attention is paid to these few simple rules.

I have had perfect results where patients followed these instructions, assisted by the following blood tonic and rheumatic specific:—

Fluid Extract Cascara..... ¼ oz.
Carriona Compound..... 1 oz.
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla 6 oz.

Dose: One teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

It is advisable to drink plenty of water during the treatment.

A prominent local merchant who has tried this treatment states that it relieves backache, bladder trouble, and urinary troubles almost immediately and has a gentle but thorough action on the kidneys.

We advise all our readers to keep this prescription. The instructions are valuable.
