The future of Europe. (Harpers Weekly.)

The twentieth century will be inevitably Germany's-and never has any nation so thoroughly deserved that triumph and success which she has now to reap. Since the days when the German people, arousing one another from their humiliation, shook off the Napoleonic yoke, they have gone on from strength to strength, with ceaseless preparation, caution, and sacrifice In 2009 a compact German population of about one handred and thirty millions will straddle Europe, from the Baltic to the Adriatic, a federal Empire reaching out from the Meuse to the Black heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Safe Drinking Indefensible. Prof. Hugo Muensterberg, who will be re membered by Torontonians for his recent lecture before the Canadian Club, is vigorously defending the moderate use of alcoholic frinks as safe.

Unfortunately, both for individual and acial reasons, moderate drinking is anything ut safe.

Canadians have too much of the sensitive ervous organization of the Kelts to warrant noderate drinking of wines and especially pirits, for the tendency of those who are of he Keltic strain is towards excess, whether n pleasure or in serious pursuits.

The Kelt is nervous, high stung, restive, wayward, subject to extremes of joy and s prow, and when he excites his neutral and emotional nature by imbibing spirituous liquors, almost invariably he goes to the extreme. But the phlegmatic German-and Prof. Muensterberg is a German-does not suffer from high strung nervous organization, and he may drink moderately with impunity. Yet this is only a half truth, for Germany, too, has its thousands of boozers and besotted drunkards. How, then, can it be said hat moderate drinking of spirituous liquors and wines is safe?

What Pres. Eliot said in his statements at the Massachussetts conferance of no-license workers which Prof. Muensterberg seeks to controvert was with regard to alcohol in its relation to efficiency of labor-that "even the moderate drinking of alcohol is inexpedient and that men exposed to cold, heat or hard ship are not better prepared for such encounters by alcohol."

This is the testimony of mountain climbers and polar explorers. So long ago as 1837 Richard Henry Dana, jr., returning around the Horn in a "temperance" ship, noted the preference of sailors for coffee over grog as stimulant after exposure aloft. Alcohol in moderation may be safe in ordinary conditions of work, but it is a false prop for sustained endeavor or in occupations calling for severe effort .- Toronto World.

Stomach Distress.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals dont tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump in your stomach, or if you have lished the dangers of maternity, reducing its death-rate from ten or more mothers out of every hundred to less than one in every hundred.

" (13) They have shown the cause and the method of propagation and of prevention of the deadly malaria which devastates whole regions and armies. It extinction is only matter of time.

" (14) They have reduced the mortality of tuberculosis by from thirty to fifty per cent., for Kock's discovery of the tubercle bacillus is the foundation-stone of all modern progress in the treatment of tuberculosis."-Dr. W. W. Keen.

Field And Garden Seeds.

The Season for the purchase of Field and Garden Seeds now being at hand, we are led to think of the importance of buying only those Seeds which are pure and of strong germinating powers. The farmer who buys the best seed obtainable does a service, first to himself; second, to hie neighbors; third, to his country. On the other hand, the man buying poor seed injures himself, his neighbour and his country; himself by raising a small crop of inferior quality; his neighbour by maintaining in his own fields a puicance in the shape of Weeds, the seeds of which, at harvest time, will be blown into the ad. joining fields; his country by diminishing to the extent of its own ability its producing power for the best products. In this connection we believe that the passing of the Seed Control Act of 1905 by the Dominion Government as been a large benefit to the farmers of our country, as it has undoubtedly prevented unscrupulous dealers from selling the very poorest seeds. For the above reasons the proprietors of York and Kent Brands of Timothy have been especially careful to buy only the best seeds procurable. We have seen a report of a qualified expert, which says that in the samples analyzed York and Kent Timothys do not contain a singleweed Seed named in the Control Act of 1905. Therefore, if the farmers of this county wish to protect their own, their neigh-Bor and country's interest, they will insist of getting York and Kenl Timothy Seeds.

The Old Lawn.

(J. W. Sangster.)

When the grass on an old lawn becomes thin, it is probably due to poor soil, too much shade, winter killing, to being tramped out, or to the presence of grubs.

If the killing out is due to shade there is little that can be done except to remove the shade.

BABY FELL ON TO THE STOVE.

Mrs. T. S. Dougall, of 523, Flora Avenue, Winnipeg, says:-"My baby girl was arranging some of her doll's washing on a clothesrack beside the stove, when she fell, and her hand, being thrown out to try and save herself, came in contact with the side of the hot stove. She sustained a serious burn, and her cries and screams were terrible.

"I sent out to the druggist for the best remedy he had to use on a burn. He said there was nothing to equal Zam-Buk, and sent back a supply. I applied this, and it soothed the pain so quickly that the child laughed through her tears. I bound up the hand in Zam-Buk, and each day applied Zam-Buk frequently and liberally, until the burn was quite cured. The little one was soon able to go on with her play, and we had no trouble with her during the time the burn was being healed. I feel very grateful for this cure, and would recommend all mothers to keep Zam-Buk handy for emergencies like th s.

This is good advice. Zam-Buk, being purely herbal in its composition, is particularly suited to the delicate skin of children. While a powerful healer, it is also antiseptic. Applied to a burn, a cut, a scald or a scratch -to any injury of the skin, in fact-it will kill all disease germs, and removes all danger of festering, blood-poisoning, or inflamation. At the same time, it stimulates the cells to great activity, and fresh healthy skin is soon produced, to repair the damage. Fifty cents spent on a box of Zim Buk has saved scores of people as many dollars, to say nothing of saving hours of pain.

At The Royal Dinner Table.

At Queen Victoria's dinner parties conversation was never general. It was governed by the Queen, and the people spoke when they were spoken to by her. Now dinner parties given by the King or at which the King is present are a very different affair.

Having selected the guests, there is no further social interference from him. Every one talks as he wishes or keeps silent, and no one is expected to sparkle or be unnatural; but it is well known that any one who can amuse the King or tell him a good story i very much persona grata.

Edward VII can punish an infringement. A very wealthy man whose money had been made out of clothing once remarked to him that he did not intend to join a certain house party as the company was so mixed.

"Hang it, man," was the King's reply, "what would you have? We can't all be tailors."

The two kinds of people on earth I mean, Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go you will find the world's masses

And oddly enough, you will find, too, I ween,

There is only one lifter for twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you easing the load

Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear Your portion of labor and worry and care? -Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Long-Coated Costumes Popular.

Both the short and the long coated spring uit will be worn, as well as the sleeveless coat that buttons low on the breast, and the whole princess gown as a coat for outdoor wear, according to the Chicago Record Herald. The tailored coat and skirt, however, promise to be the most generally used, and with them the seaprate blouse, revived and accepted for spring and summer.

The long princess street gown as a coat is a most graceful and picturesque garment. and is most appropriate for the afternoon. Tailored models with the shorter coats are made of the more silky fabrics, and also designed for the afternoon, and they are excellent in design for the woman who is contemplating but one costume for varied purposes. The long-coated costume is more popular, yet, withal, more severe.

Sea.

As Saxon England could not remain politically linked to France during the fifteenth century, so it is inevitable that the conglomeration of races which goes to form Austria-Hungary must fall to pieces. Forty-three years ago, when the great majority of the German-speaking people excluded Austria-Hungary from the Germanic confederation, the process of disintegration began. The next step will be the voluntary entrance of German-speaking Austria into the Germanic Empire, to avoid its swamping by the preponderant Slav element of the Dual Monar chy. German-speaking Swuzerland will be annexed for "strategical reasons." Holland, Germanic state, which controls the mouth of the Rhine, must drop into the German lap, with Flemish Belgium, the German-speaking maritime provinces of Russia, and probably the Danish Island of Zealand, which cintains the capital, Copenhagen, and controls the entrance to the Baltic.

But we must not look too far ahead. Before Holland and Zealand become German, one formidable power, England, will have to be overthrown, for Eigland is the pledged champion of these nations - of Holland by treaty guarantees - and must defend them with all her resorces so long as she desires to rule the seas. That the sea power of England will remain forever predominant is unthinkable; that it will have been overthrown by 2009 is an improbable contingency. Nations decline slowly. We must expect the twentieth century to witness one titanic struggle, in which England and France will lead most of Europe against Germany, just as when England, under the generalship of Marlborough, led the coalition against Louis X1V. of France from 1701 to 1713. That war fizzied out in a comprise. This will be similar. Upon the Continent, Germany will maintain her conquests; she may acquire Holland and most of Belgium, with a proviso against the fortification of Autwerp; Zealand, the key to the Baltic, will not fall to her until a later period.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidnevs is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription -Dr. Shoop's Restorative-is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controling or inside nerve.
