

His Noble Work at Home.

"Don't you think, Minerva," said her husband anxiously, as he tied the kitchen apron firmly around his waist, and tucked his whiskers behind the bib to keep them out of the dishwater—"Don't you think that we are carrying this idea of co-operation in domestic matters to extreme? I have been washing dishes for a week now, and between time I have been doing a little Scriptural reading, and I cannot find in the Bible any authority for men's doing kitchen work, but women are frequently spoken of in this connection.

"She looketh well to the ways of her household!" She worketh willfully with her hands! 'She riseth while it is yet night, giveth meat to her household!' These quotations, Minerva, would seem to warrant the conclusion that household duties should properly be assigned to the woman."

"My dear," replied his wife, "if you pursue your studies further you will find in II Kings xxi: 13 these words: 'I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down.' This proves that you are nobly doing the work designed for you by Providence. When you are through be sure to wash the towels clean, shake them and hang them straight on the rack. Death, you know, lurks in the dish-cloth. I am now going out to attend a meeting of the Society for the Extinction of the Microbe by Means of Electricity."

Love Sick Youth Twice Tried Suicide.

St. Andrews, N. B., March 3—For love of Rosie Black, a pretty table girl at Kennedy's Hotel, St. Andrews, Fred. Nason, 24 years old, of Debec Junction, twice attempted suicide. Tuesday night March 2nd, he took carbolic acid, and then sent for the girl to see him die. The hotel manager sent for Dr. O'Neill instead, and he was able to take effective measures. This morning, following a conversation with the town marshal, Nason put a revolver to his left breast and discharged it. The bullet struck the bone and was deflected, and although it was thought at first he was going to die, he is now considerably better. He had the revolver hidden between the mattresses, and it is thought that he intended to kill the girl if she had gone to his room as requested. The girl says she has given the young man no encouragement and that his trouble was due to drink.

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by All Dealers.

Useful Rules For Dyspeptics.

The causes of dyspepsia are so numerous and varied that it is difficult, and indeed impossible, to lay down one rule of living that will apply to all cases. Still, there are some hints in the way of advice which almost all suffering from chronic indigestion may follow with some benefit. It need scarcely be said that it is necessary thoroughly to masticate the food by chewing slowly and deliberately, depending on the natural flow of saliva induced by the chewing to moisten the food. Those who suffer from dyspepsia should never drink while eating. Liquids should be taken after—not during—meals. Liquids,

"The physician attending me prescribed, on my rallying from an attack of rheumatism, your Scott's Emulsion, which I have been taking every winter since. I find it most valuable in strengthening and building up one after a severe illness. I have not had rheumatism since the time mentioned above and I owe it to your most valuable Emulsion. It is my life now, and makes me strong and healthy."—R. PICARD, Grand Ligne, Quebec.

For two hundred years before Scott's Emulsion came Cod Liver Oil was used for rheumatism.

is modernized Cod Liver Oil; the purest and best oil partly predigested, made palatable and suitable for the most delicate child or invalid. It enriches the blood, tones up the entire system, and drives out rheumatism.

taken while eating, dilute and weaken the saliva and the gastric juices of the stomach, and thus impair the solvent powers. If you suffer from dyspepsia, never hasten through a meal, and do not read for at least an hour after dinner. The stomach being weak, rest after meals encourages digestion, while fatigue checks the process, and the consequence is that the food becomes acid and ferments, generating gases.

Plenty Good Enough.

Aunt Chloe was burdened with the support of a worthless husband, who beat her when he was sober, and whom she dutifully nursed and tended when he came home bruised and battered from a fighting spree.

One Monday morning she appeared at the drug store and asked the clerk for a "right powful nuerment foh achin' in de bones."

"You might try some of this St. Peter's Prescription, Aunty; it's an old and popular remedy, cures cuts, bruises, aches, and sprains. One dollar the bottle. Good for man and beast."

Aunt Chloe looked at the dollar bottle and then dubiously at her flat purse. "Ain't yo' got some foh fifty cents?" she ventured. "Some foh jes' on'y beasts. Ah want foh ms ol' man."—Charlton Lawrence Edholm.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few day's test will tell. Sold by All Dealers.

They Tried Another Kind.

It was Sunday evening and there was a lot of company.

David's mother had sent him upstairs to get some plum jam for supper.

It took the lad a long time to get to the third floor, but when he did reach the closet where the jam was kept, it took him even longer to get started back—not that he was afraid, but that he was somewhat interested in the jam.

Finally he returned with his face and hands somewhat the worse for plum jam. His mother took the sticky jar and surveyed him critically.

"Did you eat any jam?" she asked. "Yes'm," was the lad's reply. "And what did you do with the stones?" she asked again.

"I put em' back in the jar," he answered innocently.—Herbert Pollinger.

Recognition.

From out my arms Love strayed in long gone years,
A slender, weakly child, all doubts and fears.

To-day there met me in Life's market place
A love with sturdy limb and ruddy face;
Entranced with all his charm, I stood, and lo!

It was my little Love of long ago.

Cairo's Great University.

The students of the great Mahomedan University El Azhar, in Cairo, have, says The Standard of Empire, gone out on strike, and to the number of 12,000 have been making disorderly demonstrations in the streets of Cairo during the past few days. The Government has ordered them to go back to their studies, and has threatened to close the university altogether if they do not obey. This would be a serious matter for the bulk of the students, who are practically supported by this educational foundation for the whole of their academic career, which in most cases extends for many years. Indeed, there are students in El Azhar who came to the place as boys and are now middle-aged men, and have not yet concluded their studies. El Azhar is the most extraordinary place of education in the world. Its students are drawn from all parts of Africa and Asia, and the visitor may see highly cultured Indian and Egyptian gentlemen side by side with savages from the Sudan and negroes from the Gold Coast. It is a strange haunt of Muslim superstition and obscurantism, and is absolutely dominated by the Ulema and priests, who live in an atmosphere of mediaeval superstition, and are absolutely blind to the signs of progress which are moving in all parts of the Mahomedan world. For several years past the Khedive and the more enlightened members of the Egyptian community have endeavored to bring something of the modern spirit into El Azhar and have tried to secure the teaching of science and European languages as well as that of the Koranic texts and antiquated theology on which the students waste most of their energies. But the reforms have been angrily resisted by the ecclesiastical hierarchy, and it is probable that the present outbreak of Moslem fanaticism is largely due to their influence. As El Azhar provides teachers and priests for the whole world of Islam, its future destinies are a matter of considerable importance for Eastern society in general.

PHYSICIAN TELLS HOW HE TREATS RHEUMATIC PATIENTS

A Distinguished Specialist Gives Valuable Advice.

In the first place I always impress upon my patients the importance of careful living and regular habits. Moderation in eating, keeping the feet dry, and wearing plenty of warm clothing are some of the precautions. No amount of medicine will cure, or even help, unless attention is paid to these few simple rules.

I have had perfect results where patients followed these instructions, assisted by the following blood tonic and rheumatic specific:—

Fluid Extract Cascara . . . . . ½ oz.
Carriana Compound . . . . . 1 oz.
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla 6 oz.

Dose: One teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

It is advisable to drink plenty of water during the treatment.

A prominent local merchant who has tried this treatment states that it relieves backache, bladder trouble, and urinary troubles almost immediately and has a gentle but thorough action on the kidneys.

We advise all our readers to keep this prescription. The instructions are valuable.
