NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

Florenceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott McCain are rejoicing at the arrival of a son, and a daughter has come to enrich the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McMullin.

Miss Stella Hunter while sliding on Saturday, had the misfortune to break one of her legs above the knee.

G. B. Graham of Perth, Victoria County, last week set up the harness making business in the shop formerly owned by the late John Jameson. Such a business was much needed, and we wish our new citizen large success.

The basket-ball game played in the F. C. S. Gymnasium on Friday night, 5th inst, by the Woodstock and Florenceville teams, resulted in a score of 14 to 8 in favour of Florenceville. About midnight Principal Squires and staff and the pupils of the Principal's department gave a reception and furnished refreshments.

In his sermon, yesterday p. m., to a large audience, Rev. J. D. Wetmore referred to an incident in his experience in St. John, where an old gentleman asked him to take a ride with him. As they rode along, the old gentleman asked Mr. Wetmore to this effect, "Are you a Christian?" On receiving Mr. W's reply, he further asked, "What are you doing to prove it?" Bro. Wetmore spoke of the impression this question left upon his mind. Your correspondent is reminded of several things. That manly and consecrated hero, Wilfred T. Grenful, all round missionary to Labrador, was converted through listening to the late D. L. Moody preach. Before this, his interest in religion was meagre, but he felt, when listening to Moody, that there was a man behind the message. I think it was some years afterwards, that he took particular pains to tell Mr. Moody, "I was converted through your preaching." Mr. Moody with brusque brevity replied about like this, "What have you done since?" One of the things Dr. R. La Torry specially urges new converts to do is to get to work in behalf of someone else. A bishop asked a missionary, "How many missionaries have you?" "300," was the reply. "I did not ask you how many converts you have, but how many missionaries?" "I am aware of that, and yet my answer is the same. All our converts are missionaries."

It is said in connection with Phillips preaching to the one Ethiopian, that were one person of the 80,000,000 (taken as the population of the U. S. at the last decennial census) were to get converted, and the next day were to go and secure the conversion of another, and the third day the two go and secure the conversion of two more, that in less than a month the whole population would be reached, the number on the 27th day being over 67,000,000. "A missionary in China tells of a call which came to her from a home of poverty when it seemed almost impossible to leave her important duties in the hospital. She was asked to go and try to save the life of a little Chinese girl that had been thrown out on the rubbish heap to die. The missionary went and took the babe to the hospital. The child grew and became a christian. Now, she is a woman eighty-three years old, and one hundred of her descendants are christians, many of them doing missionary work." When James Brainard Taylor, then a young man, was out driving, he stopped at a water-trough. Another young man was watering at the same trough. Taylor said, "I hope you love the Lord. If not, I want to commend him to you as your best friend. The strangers went their way. The young man was converted entered the ministry, and went as a missionary to Africa." An Indian girl on being told of Christ's life, death, and request that we love Him and obey His commandments, said, "Oh, what does He want me to do? Tell me? I know I can do it." Banyon said, "I ought, with God's help I can."
