NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

Union Corner.

On the afternoon of Feb. 9th, Miss Maud McNorlin was returning from Greenroad, when about eighty rods from home, one end of the crossbar, to which the thrills are attached, gave away, the spirited horse became unmanageable. She held to him as long as she could, but the pung swaying back and forth threw her out. The horse got up such speed when turning in home lost his feet, it being a down grade and his going with such force, he slid about a rod, his head striking an apple tree, whirling him clear around, he was dead in an instant. Examination it was found his neck was broken. Maud, very luckily, escaped with a few bruises.

Jacksonville.

People have been very social during the past few weeks, with tea-parties, and evening gatherings. Many of the social events have been in honor of Mrs. Charles Emery and her daughter, Miss Mildred, who are visiting here after eight years absence from the old home. Mrs. Emery was formerly Miss Ida Harding and was very popular. The warmth of the greeting given by her old friends speaks volumes to the esteem in which she is held by all and there is general regret that her stay is so short. Mrs. Emery goes to Presque Isle this week to visit her husband's sisters, Mrs. Bull and Mrs. Kilburn.
