

Crushed Coffee— what is it?

By a new process of crushing between steel rollers, instead of grinding, the skin, which remains in the eye of the bean after roasting, is separated from the kernel and removed by air suction, while the kernel is broken into small even grains. These grains when steeped, being free of the skin or chaff, settle quickly, leaving the liquid clear and bright, and give the true coffee flavor.

Estabrooks' Red Rose crushed Coffee is as easy to make as Red Rose Tea. Directions are in each tin.

It is strictly pure, not a particle of chicory or any other adulterant being used, and is packed in air-tight tins the same day it is roasted so to retain its full flavor, fragrance and strength.

A good combination is Estabrooks' Coffee for breakfast and Red Rose Tea for other meals.

THE SUFFERING WOMAN ENDURES

Can Be Banished by the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make.

Behind the veil of her modesty and silent patience nearly every woman endures suffering that casts a shadow over half her existence. An aching back, tired limbs, attacks of faintness, and headache upon headache need not be part of a woman's life. Such trials indicate plainly that the system requires the new blood that is supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills are valued by suffering women, who have used them, above all other medicine because they make the rich, red blood that makes women well, bright and at their best. This is the secret of the great success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Geo. C. Wadden, Wadden's Cove, N. S., says:—"A few years ago I was completely run down. At times I would be so weak that I was unable to do my housework. I suffered from severe headaches, pains in the back and dizziness, and at times I felt as though life was scarcely worth living. I had tried several medicines without getting relief, when I finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. After using two or three boxes I noticed a change, and after taking the Pills about two months I was again enjoying good health, and have since been well and strong. I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak and rundown women."

You can get this great blood-building, health restoring medicine from any dealer in drugs, or the Pills will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wm. Moores of Connell will start for Vancouver this week. His father has been there for some time and a number of his neighbors so it will not be altogether like going to a strange place. A friend writing from there a few days ago said he supposed we were having deep snow, but to see the cattle grazing in the fields as is the case at present would somewhat modify that opinion.

It is said that a Woman's Suffrage Society has been organized in Montreal and as soon as an Act of Incorporation can be passed will send Missionaries throughout the provinces to organize and generally to work to the end that Canadian women shall have the right to ballot the same as men.

Teams are coming home from the woods on account of their being not enough snow to make hauling and unless there should be snow soon the work will have to be abandoned.

Misfortune For the Bloodless.

Misfortune for the bloodless—that should be printed in all the public places. You must have blood to have strong lungs to enable you to withstand all the dust and microbes of summer and the piercing winds and cold of winter. Consumption is, properly speaking, lack of blood; the natural result of anaemia. To prevent consumption rich blood is necessary. The best way to protect the organs is to circulate this rich red blood through the lungs. Many have been saved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because these Pills are a remarkable blood builder; not indirectly but directly—with each dose. They have cured thousands of cases of anaemia; green sickness; general debility and all other troubles arising out of poor blood.

Fights Diversion of Border River.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—Senator Costigan, of New Brunswick, has obtained the adoption of a resolution calling for all the papers and correspondence in regard to the diversion of the waters of the Allagash River, one of the tributaries of the St. John river, and itself an international waterway boundary, into the Penobscott. This is a preliminary in an effort that will be made to induce the United States government to reverse the sanction which the state of Maine has thus far given to the diversion. The action of Maine has been removed from the purview of the International Waterways Commission through the influence of Senator Hale, of Maine.

Senator Costigan explains that Rufus Dwinel in 1841 applied with others to the Maine Legislature for permission to construct a canal from the headwaters of the Penobscott to the headwaters of the Allagash so as to bring the water of the Allagash down the Penobscott. Permission was refused Senator Costigan understands, on the ground that it was contrary to international law to divert a stream from its natural flow. Nevertheless, he says the applicant proceeded to build a dam which served the same purpose.

The lumbering interests on the Allagash and Penobscott warred over the question, and the Maine Legislature held an inquiry. Only one copy of the testimony still exists, but Senator Costigan says he knew where it can be obtained. The Maine Legislature passed, between 1846, several bills professed to give authority to these works.

At one time the party controlling the dam sent a hundred armed men to protect the dam from an effort on the part of their opponents to destroy the work, for which they believed no legal authority existed. A part of the dam was blown away by interests on the Allagash, permitting a part of the water to take its natural course down the Allagash, but the Penobscott interests, under arms, repaired the break and the dam remains today.

In 1903 an application was made by the Penobscott Improvement Company to raise the dam still higher, but was refused by the Maine Legislature. The reduction of the flow of the Allagash has reduced the flow of the St. John and the provinces of Quebec and New Brunswick are seriously affected, as well as that portion of Maine dependent upon the Allagash for floating lumber to market.

The Canadian government, says Senator Costigan, had hoped for settlement of the question by the International Waterways Commission, but was informed by the United States that the commission had no right to go into the question, although the United States would be glad to appoint another commission for the purpose. No such commission has been appointed.
