

CURES CATARRH

Stomach dosing was found ineffective, and the principle of inhalation was finally perfected. Even the Romans and Ancient Greeks used it, but not in the scientific manner that the physician prescribes to-day. The most wonderful results have been secured with a new treatment known as "Catarrhozone," which sends germ-destroying vapors directly into the air passages of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

Rich, Pure Essences are Breathed Right to the Spots that are Sick. Cure Follows.

Catarrh proves especially good in those chronic cases where mucus drops down the throat, sickens the stomach, and pollutes the breath. When the nostrils are stuffed, only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes, the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhozone act as magic.

Once you stop taking medicine into the stomach and get the healing oils and pure balsams of Catarrhozone at work, you can be sure of quick and lasting cure for nose colds, catarrh, weak lungs, bronchitis, and speaker's sore throat.

Catarrhozone

Beware of imitations. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, and $1, the latter being guaranteed. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Florenceville.

Edward Brown, so well known in Florenceville some years ago for his industry, steadiness, integrity and thorough-going efficiency, and who has lived for some years in Maine, has chosen Cobalt, the famous mining centre of New Ontario, as his new place of sojourn. Three of his sons have preceded him, at longer and shorter intervals. It is not long since Ray and Kern, at different dates, went there. A few days ago, El started, and Mrs. Brown and daughter, Mona, who have been visiting friends at Florenceville, purpose leaving for their new home about the 15th inst., or later. The Brown's did well at Florenceville, have done well in Maine, and are likely to succeed at Cobalt.

Mrs. Mark Dooley, of Johnville, vigorous and cheerful and carrying her years well, was visiting friends here last week.

Will Smith, who worked for McKellar and Tomlinson Odellic last winter is home. Never saw Will look better—the picture of robust health.

There was a cake and ice cream party at Howard Taylor's at Connell one evening last week.

George Jack, one of the English immigrants has located at Oliver Miller's. Your correspondent joins heartily in welcoming the worthy immigrants who have come to Carleton County. His interview with the Gowans as they were en route for the Page farm near Centreville was a very pleasant one.

G. Graham has come to work with John Thompson at harness making.

Fred Turney, of Stickney was in the village on Saturday.

Mrs. Otis Shaw, of Wicklow, was visiting at Holland Esley's on Sunday, too in the Sunday school in the a. m. Mrs. H. Esley is improving in health.

It is gratifying to see Mrs. W. L. McCain so nicely recovered from her long and severe lameness.

Our Baptist friends held a Band meeting at the church on Sunday p. m. A goodly number from East Florenceville were present.

Womanly Troubles

Should Not Be Allowed to Undermine Health.

It is impossible to go into details on this subject, but the experience of many a poor woman who is crippled for life, just because she didn't use a good remedy in time, should be a warning to others.

When the first stages of womanhood appear in a young girl, a great deal depends in getting her over this critical stage, so that in years to come she will not develop green sickness or consumption.

When she complains of flushed face, headache, bearing down feelings, give her a course of Ferrozone, which will carry her past the crisis.

In the adult woman if any irregularities occur, Ferrozone will be found a remedy of remarkable potency and power.

There is nothing better for the complexion than Ferrozone. It removes the dark circles from under the eyes, removes and cures all manner of skin eruptions, gives brightness and brilliancy to the eyes, a rosy tint to the cheeks, whitens the teeth, and develops a well-rounded, plump, and handsome form.

Ferrozone is the ladies' favorite, and should find a place in every household. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet, convenient and pleasant to take. Price, per box, 50c, or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists, or the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

ent. The interest in the Band meeting in a cheering feature of a religious earnestness.

W. A. Taylor and sons have furnished ten cords of wood for the F. C. school.

One question, hard for your correspondent to figure out, is, how a prisoner at Woodstock recently could warrantably be allowed to go free with monetary advice, when forty-nine and a half dollars of the amount he was charged with having stolen still remained uncovered, and without any guarantee of the loser regaining his money. Such a proceeding may be admissible by law, but not by justice. There is too much encouragement given by such action to the man of elastic conscience who might wish to appropriate and use some other man's money. The man who is robbed, not only loses his money, but undergoes the care and strain of the ensuing trial; and it seems that the culprit should be required to repay the whole of the money, and make an apology besides to the wronged man, in order to get straight with that man and so get fairly straight with the community, with law and also with justice. Of course there are difficulties involved; but all moral and social reform involves difficulties, and citizen's lawful property needs better safeguarding.

One of the regrettable features of our County activity at present is the so large number of fine farms advertized for sale, as also those for sale not yet advertized, especially wherein this involves leaving the County or abandoning farming to take up some other business. Farm after farm thus for sale presents great attractions. Fine buildings, abounding conveniences, beautiful fields and excellent equipment for work, eloquent and abundant testimony to the industry, enterprise and thrift of years which has resulted in homes that are a credit to the owners and to our far famed County. It is true that, "The great West has many attractions and so has the busiest mori," but the following lines are also true and fitting. "But weal is not made in a day, boys. Don't be in a hurry to start."

Distance is lending enchantment to the view, as also the ambition-stirring reports of the great doings in the West. But the East abounds with its attractions and advantages, too. These eloquently call for the beholding.

Sometimes, the decision to sell results from discouragement. Some of our farmers' sons are not enthusiastic as to farming. The life is too quiet, not enough of excitement, or of the social element, or the work seeming too much of a drudgery or other reasons.

One thing is evident. There needs, in our County, on platform and in press, as also in personal discussion, to be more of a consideration and presentation of farming as a science, a profession, a business, suited to call into action a young man's brightest intelligence, diligent study, keenest alertness, greatest enterprise, most resolute progressiveness. There is opportunity to keep in touch with the foremost thinkers, to live the best, to cultivate wholesome social intercourse to move among the leading men of the day, to maintain public debates, to enter into cooperative union for betterment of conditions, as to markets, transportation, pure seed, high grade stock, farm equipment, &c., &c.

Then, again, it would be well if to a greater extent a partnership between the farmer and his sons were entered into, and a sharing of profits. This would prove an encouraging incentive to the sons to take hold with more zealous vigor in the work of the farm, they would feel a deeper interest in the property and the work, would be educated by sharing responsibility, and encouraged by their shares of the profit.

Again, there are cases wherein it is almost a heartbreak, when people after a quarter of a century or more have toiled, saved and accumulated comforts, and have a wealth of joyous and sad associations, to sell and leave the home to which lives have become so thoroughly bound.

The Valley Railway Survey to Begin at once.

At the close of a meeting of the council last week Premier Hazen made an announcement of the appointments mentioned above, and stated that no grass will grow in the St. John Valley before the surveying parties are set to work. Mr. Maxwell, who has had 40 years' experience in railway surveying and has recently been employed on the Transcontinental, will be given instructions to proceed immediately with the work of organizing the survey.

Two parties will be employed, one operating between Fredericton and Welsford, and the other between Woodstock and Andover. Each party will consist of twelve or more men, and it is intended to have the survey completed if possible within three or four months.

No survey will be made of the route between Fredericton and Woodstock, as that particular section has been surveyed pretty thoroughly before, and all the necessary data is available.

Mr. Maxwell announced on the 15th that he will make Fredericton his headquarters, and he expects to have men to work by May 5th and to complete the survey during the summer. He will have two parties working, one starting from Fredericton and working south to Welsford and the second party engaged between Woodstock and Andover.

A Far Look.

Three visitors travelling in the Isle of Man thought they would visit Sasefell, the King of the Manx mountains. When walking up toward the mountain they espied an old shepherd coming toward them. They thought they would take a rise out of him, so one accosted him, saying:

"They tell me, old man, you can see England, Scotland, Ireland and even as far as America from the top of this mountain."

"Oh, yes!" said the old man. "If you will come with me I will show you much farther than America."

So, chuckling to themselves, they decided to follow him. After trudging for about half an hour up the mountain side in a boiling sun they began to feel rather fagged and kept asking the shepherd how much farther they had to go.

He kept urging them on a little farther until at last the three visitors lay down on the grass and said they would go no farther for any night.

"Now," said the old man, "if you will sit here long enough you will see the moon."

Prof. William J. Rolfe, the Shakesperian critic and commentator, recently presented one of his young neighbors with a set of Rolfe's annotated edition of Shakespeare.

Meeting the latter a few days later he asked him:

"How do you like Shakespeare?"

"Very well."

"And do you understand him?"

"Yes, I understand Shakespeare all right, returned the boy, "and I expect that in course of time I'll be able to understand the notes."

No Cause for Anxiety over Halley's Comet.

(The "Sun," New York.)

Sir Robert Ball, the astronomer, in an address on Halley's comet delivered at Cambridge University referred to the needless fear with which the approach of the comet was viewed by a good many people.

There was no cause for anxiety at all, he said. There was just as much chance of a collision between the nucleus of the comet and the earth as there was of the Empire State Express from New York to Chicago running down the night mail from London to Edinburgh.

Those who were alive in 1861 spent a couple of hours in the tail of the comet, and none was any the worse for it. The greatest inconvenience he had heard of was caused to a clergyman who, although it was a midsummer evening, was compelled by the curious haze that prevailed to light candles in his church in order that he might preach.

The comet might be truly called the spectre of the skies, for the greatest part of its bulk was of the intangible and transparent material that one associated with ghosts. The comet appeared at the critical moment of the battle of Hastings, and but for its advent and the disheartening effect that it had on the English troops the Norman conquest might never have been achieved.

The earth would pass through the tail of the comet about May 18 and afterward the comet would appear as a new evening star. It may produce electrical and magnetic effects that can be detected only by self-recording instruments.

The Chancellor's Report.

(London Daily Mail.)

Mr. Lloyd George is famous, of course, for his brilliant repartees and biting sarcasm. "I am here—" he remarked at a political meeting, but before he had time to finish the sentence a noisy interrupter had chimed in, "And so am I."

But the report was as quick as it was overwhelming. "Yet—but yet not all there!"

Cheaper Pullman Car Rates in Western States.

The traveling public in Western States, will be extremely gratified that a start has been made in reducing the anguish and unreasonable rates everywhere charged by the Pullman Company. The United States Interstate Commerce Commission has decided that an upper berth is not worth as much as a lower one, and that for a night's journey, like a run from McAdam to Montreal, the prices shall in future be $1.50 for a lower and $1.10 for an upper. The rates for this distance on the C. P. R. is now $2.50 for either upper or lower berth. The Canadian Commission have not yet considered this problem of Pullman Car transportation.

The London Daily Mail is responsible for the following:—A life-long total abstemious and nonsmoker, Professor Goldwin Smith, relates a quaint experience he once had while lecturing to a number of school children on the subject of temperance.

He had arrived at his peroration, and he was describing a certain little boy who played played truant instead of going to school, went fishing on Sunday, ran away from home and learnt to drink, smoke, and play cards.

"Children," said Professor Smith, "where do you think that boy is now?"

"Please, sir," said a voice, "he stands before us."

"NERVILINE" CURES RHEUMATISM

And Here Is the Proof—A Solemn Statement From a Four-Years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is one opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best-known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness, and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well to-day—have been well for 4½ years."

You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints—to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only; large bottles, 25c, or five for $1; sold everywhere.
