DROWNING ACCIDENT

Bliss Coulthard, a young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dow Coulthard, of Temple, York Co., was drowned while stream driving on Pleasant Stream in Maine last week. Latest reports are that his body has not been recovered. Mr. and Mrs. Coulthard have the sympathy of a large number of friends throughout York and Carleton counties.

THE BAND CONCERT

The concert given Friday night in the new Opera House under the auspices of the local band was well rendered, and merited much applause from the delighted audience. All those having parts to carry out did so with the greatest credit to themselves. There was a fair sized house, but on an occasion like this the house should be packed.

THE RIVER

The water in the river is falling and reports indicate that the fall is general. The Western Union has received the following bulletins:—

Grand Falls—Weather fine. River falling fast.

Woodstock—Water fell about six inches. Number of logs running. Fine and cool.

Edmundston—Weather fine. River falling.

CREAM INSTEAD OF CHEESE

It is quite evident that this business of exporting cream to the United States is going to have a material effect on the output of cheese. At a meeting of patrons of the Star factory in the Brockville district, it was decided, instead of making cheese this year, to skim the milk and ship cream to Utica, N. Y., to be made into butter for the American market. This trade must have a very considerable effect on cheese prices this year.—Toronto Sun.

THE LUMBER DRIVES.

May 6th—Reports from the St John headwaters are to the effect that the river has fallen considerably since the early part of the week. The recent rains have checked it somewhat, but it looks as if the worst of the spring freshet was over. The conditions at present are favorable for driving, but the logs out on the upper St. John are a long way from the boom limits yet, and considerable hard work will have to be done before they reach safe water. The Nashwaak drives are coming along well, and are expected to be out by Saturday night.—Fredericton Daily Mail.
