WINTER CLOTHING.

Don't wait till it is too late to buy your winter's clothing at cost prices at Fraser & Fraser's.

Wm Dickinson, manager of the Royal Bank left on Wednesday to spend his summer vacation at Kexton.

Reginald Wright, of Regina, and Miss Kathleen Gillis of St John are guests of Mr and Mrs E W Mair.

Mr and Mrs George Manuel entertained Mr and Mrs W Tengly, also Mr and Mrs A Manuel of Houlton during the Baptist convention.

Miss A Louise Beston left last week for St Basile, where she will spend the remainder of the holidays at St Joseph's Convent.

Mrs John McLaughlan and daughter, Marguerite, are spending a few weeks in St Andrews.

The United Baptist Convention (From Our Special Correspondent.)

The United Baptist Convention of the Maritime Provinces began its work Friday morning with an intellectual feast, which was of principal interest and value to clergymen. The vice-president of the Institute, the Rev A B Cohoon, of Halifax in the chair.

After a devotional service, a paper was read by the Rev. F E Bishop, M A of Fairville, N B, on "The Religious Value of Miracles." The writer has an excellent mind and had read widely in the literature of the subject. He was followed by Dr Hutchinson, of St John, with a paper on the "Keys of the Kingdom." It was a clear and comprehensive review of the Baptist position on this question.

The afternoon session was spent with a discussion of the two papers of the forenoon. And one speaker referring to the thief, a delegate shouted "What thief do you mean?"

In the discussion of the last paper there was some strong talk on the importance of emphasizing the basic distinction between the "Church of God" and the "Kingdom of God."

The first paper of the afternoon was by the Rev Ira M Baird, M A of Yarmouth, N S, on "Christian Socialism. The only permanent Socialism must be based on perfect individualism, was the key note of the writer. The Hon G E Foster, spoke very encouragingly of the value of the paper and said the church too often went no further on this question than the harp and song. President Horr, of Newton Theological School, the Revs Archibald, of Digby; Picombe, of Jemseg; Morse, of Westport; Fisher, of Fairville and others, participated in the discussion.

The next paper was by Dr Cutten, of Wolfville on 'The Church for the Times' and introduced his subject by repeating a conversation, the gist of which was:

One minister said, "How many members have you?" "I have 160 odd." "Oh, I have 180 and they are all odd." and afterward laid down these three principles.

1 The church must become more masculine. Christ has been too much presented as an effeminate man.

2 The church as an inspirational centre, God is interested in all things that interest mankind. Good roads, crops, clean homes, the general good of the community. It is not man's work to sell tickets, but children's.

3 The church must become more active, a our horse coach to advertise a four horse coach. The best man in the church, too old or too lazy to do anything bad is often called the good man. Goodness is to be active, a man who keeps the Sabbath by sleeping all day, does nothing bad.

The O T emphasizes the "don't," the new, "do" the middle ages "say it" get away from the world. Now get into world. Mix; Mix.

In the end Judge ask you what have you done. Ever give a cup of cold water? I never committed murder, etc. I didn't ask you that, what have you done? Go down to hell, what have you done? I never did—no room for you here. Followers of the devil are busy people. A good, though blunt motto, "Trust in the Lord and work like the devil," tenaciously working for good as others for evil, not aspire to expire but aspire to persevere.

4 The church must become more progressive, not bemoan old-fashioned prayer-meeting going out of style. Retrogression may be progression. The church must become more real, more practical, if becomes vehicle for forwarding the Kingdom of God.

The whole of the evening session was devoted to listening to one of the greatest addresses ever delivered in the town of Woodstock. Its title was The Bible and the Christian Faith, and the speaker was the Rev G E Horr, D D, President of Newton Theological Seminary, Mass. His first of all defined what he meant by christian faith. He did not as a St John paper reported, condemn the Higher Criticism. His address was remarkable for the points of agreement which he declared existed not only amongst evangelical bodies, but also between Romanists and Protestants. He said modern scholarship is in practical agreement with regard to what the Bible teaches. The Bible yields the historic christian faith. In all languages and peoples the gospel produces the same experiences and convictions. The Western world looks for facts the Eastern for experiences, both are supplementary to each other, and this should not be forgotten in our treatment of Eastern peoples.

In the whole addresses there were apt illustrations from contemporary life, as well as from christian history, dominated by a great mind and fused into a living whole by an earnest and conscientious seeker after the truth.

SATURDAY

Convention opened on time. Dr Cohoon, Moderator in the chair.

The following nominating committee was appointed, Revs A S Lewis, Dr Hutchinson, Bancroft, McIntyre, Jenner, I W Porter, Dr McLeod, Hon G E Foster, D McLeod Vince and others.

Dr Gordon of Montreal conveyed the greetings of the Ontario and Quebec Convention to the body here. Report of the Board of Governors of Acadia University showed for 1910, total enrollment 584, increase in endowment of $50,000, added to Library 1200 volumes, Graduates 37, of whom 32 received degree of B A, 5 B Sc, eight received certificates in engineering. A motion to admit as qualified for membership on the Board of Governors an adherent of a Baptist church brought out a strong discussion which revealed the heart of the Convention jealous for the integrity of their school at Acadia and the vote was overwhelming against the change.

The resignation of the Secretary the Rev J H McDoall of Fredericton was reluctantly accepted and a resolution of appreciation was unanimously passed.

President, Col D McLeod Vince.

1st Vice W W Clark, Esq, Bear River, N S
2nd Vice Rev E L Fash, Charlott town, P. E. I.

Secretary, Rev H C Creed.
Ass'ts Sec. Rev R J Colpitts, I M Baird.
Treasurer, F L Atherton.

Stipendiary, Dr Creed.

Local Convention, President and Secretary.

Convention Sermon, Rev P J Stackhouse.
alternate, Rev D Hutchinson, D. D.

Moral Reform—G A Lawson, Dr Cohoon Dr McLeod.

With a few appropriate remarks and amid great applause, Col Vince, entered upon the discharge of the duties of President.

The address of the retiring President Dr Cohoon, on Pastoral Leadership. We should desire leadership because in all departments of human action, leadership is indispensable to success.

1 Does not mean lordship, no Baptist church will tolerate that.

2 Does not mean great preaching talent.

3 Does not mean talent to get up a revival.

Pastoral leadership, the ability to inspire confidence which creates co-operation and united progress.

Qualifications for Leadership.

1. Must be a man.
2. Must have common sense.
3. Devotion to his work.

These points were illustrated and illuminated by appropriate thought expressed in chaste language and was ordered to be printed in the denominational paper.

The Treasurer's report of the affairs of Acadia University was submitted and discussed serially.

A surplus in every account was reported and Dr Cohoon was congratulated on the healthy conditions of the University's finances.

The report of the minister's annuity fund showed an increase in receipts and Dr Crowell of Canning has been appointed Field Secretary to raise the permanent funds to $100,000, which means an increase of $65,000. A rousing discussion arose over the terms of membership which still waxed warm even at adjournment. The evening session began with the adjourned discussion, in which Dr Crowell made a full exposition of the scheme.

Education was the topic of the evening and with such speakers was made very interesting.

Dr De Wolfe of the Young Ladies' Seminary at Wolfville has an attractive personality and is an ideal head for a school of the gentler sex. 'If college men and women could find the higher walks in life then our school is an influence of great potentialities,' was the gist of his remarks.

He was not afraid to assert that the leader in the home is generally the woman and therefore the importance of the Ladies' School of which he is the honoured principal.

The next speaker was Dr Archibald head of the Horton Academy at Wolfville, who has been travelling-secretary for the whole college work for several years. His plea was for the boys; God wants the boys. He had not the eloquence of De Wolfe but in earnestness, in reality, in conscientiousness he stood high in the estimation of the Convention. He is a man whom parents will readily trust with the training of their boys.

Dr Cutten, President of the Acadia University, wisely and wittily introduced himself to the Convention formally for the first time in a series of stories.

The third forward movement to raise $200,000 for the endowment fund was his text.

He presented the offer of John Rockefeller of $50,000 on condition that the denomination raises $150,000 by the year 1913, at (Continued on page four)
