Dandruff Germs must Go

In Canada the dandruff germs must go. The war of extermination has been declared. The battle has begun and already thousands of intelligent Canadians have permanently rid themselves of this filthiness.

To-day it is no more necessary for a man to have dandruff in his hair than to have tartar on his teeth.

Dandruff can never be cured until the small aggravating and indomitable dandruff germ is conquered and destroyed.

And millions of dandruff germs have been destroyed, thanks to the great scientist and dermatologist who gave to the world Parisian Sage the only real dandruff cure, and hair grower the world has ever known.

If you have dandruff, Parisian Sage will cure you in two weeks.

But besides ridding the scalp of dandruff Parisian Sage is guaranteed to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. It is not a dye. It is a prime favorite with women of refinement. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and beautiful and is not sticky or greasy.

The manner in which mixed good and ill is sometimes found in man's affairs is shown by the partial failure of the western wheat crop this year. On account of the lightness of the crop, the farmers had much more time on their hands than they usually have in the autumn. And this time they used in ploughing up much more land than customary. As a result the wheat acreage sown for 1911 will be greater by many thousand acres than ever before. The partial failure of 1910 seems to have prepared the way—if all goes well—for the possibility for the largest harvest in the history of Canada in 1911—Ottawa Journal.

DOWN EAST FISHERMEN TO LOSE MUCH MONEY.

Eastport Nov 2—A loss of many thousands of dollars will be sustained by the fishermen of Passamaquoddy Bay by the absence of the schools of herring which ordinarily frequent that body of water at this season of the year. The local canning factories are receiving their supplies of fish almost wholly by rail and boat from Portland. No diminution of the sardine output is expected to result from the failure of the local fisheries.

Can't Be Sure

"How many children have you?" said the tourist affably. I dunno exactly," answered the tired-looking woman. You don't know? "Not for certain. Willie's gone fishin,' Tommy's breakin' a colt. George borrowed his father's shot-gun to go huntin,' an' Esmeralda Ann is thinkin' of elopin' I never know how many I've got till supper time comes, so's I can count 'em."

THE BEST LIGHT FOR THE EYES

The principle of "concealed lighting" is rapidly gaining way, and in England it is predicted that within a few years it will be almost universally put into practice. It is pointed out that the system of putting the sources of light in plain view is wasteful because the dazzled eye demands a greater flooding of the air with diffused illumination in order to see clearly. When the light source is concealed a far less intense illumination is required. In the reading room of the British Museum the artificial illumination is only seven one-thousandths of daylight, at the woolsack in the House of Lords only six one-thousandths, and at the clerk's desk in the House of Commons only one twelve-hundredth; yet in all these cases the amount of illumination is satisfactory, because there is no "stabbing" light from visible sources.—Youths Companion.

A Busy Little Maid

(Rochester Post Express.)

This is a story of Sir Ernest Shackleton's about a little waiting maid:

As she brought me my tea and toast and bloater one morning, I said to her:

"What a rainy morning, Mary! It's almost like the Flood."

"The flood, sir?" said the little maid. She looked at me with a puzzled smile.

"Yes" said I, "The Flood—Noah. You know—the Ark—Mount Ararat."

She shook her head and murmured apologetically:

"I ain't had no time to read the papers lately, sir."

APPRECIATED THE GIFT.

The story goes that the Chinese statesman, Li Hung Chang, during his first incumbency at Washington, received from his American friends a gift of two thorough-bred, exceedingly valuable little dogs of one of the toy breeds.

The givers received a note of thanks in which the ceremonious Li said that owing to impaired health and the strict orders of his physician he had been on a strict diet for some time and was unable to enjoy the dogs, but that the members of his legation had enjoyed them very much.—Good House-keeper.

SOLD.

A well-known German, who is something of a wag, walked into one of the public offices in Cincinnati the other day, and from the noise it was plain that he was wearing a pair of new shoes, or ones that had recently been repaired.

One of the clerks remarked about the shoes and the German said:

"I comes pretty near selling these shoes the other day."

"How is that?" asked the clerk.

"I had 'em half soled," said the German, as he walked out of the office.

A deep groan was heard as he slipped through the door.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

CLEANING FURNITURE AND CANE-SEATED CHAIRS.

For cleaning furniture here is an excellent preparation:

To a quart bottle nearly full of warm water add a tablespoonful of alcohol and a tablespoonful of olive oil; shake thoroughly until well mixed, and use plentifully in cleaning the furniture; rub well with a dry flannel after applying, and it will remove all soil.

For cane-seated chairs that have become darkened, use a solution of oxalic acid and water—a teaspoonful of the acid to a quart of water. Scrub the furniture hard with this mixture, using a stiff brush, rinse immediately with clean water to prevent the action of the acid on the cane, and the color will be restored, with the seat tightened.

There is a shortage of hickory all over the America. The small boy need not rejoice too soon. For caning purposes ash is just as good.—Toronto Globe.

THE PUMPKIN.
Oh golden pumpkin, big and round,
Thanksgiving's here once more!
In flaky crust you will be found,
As you have been before,
And when I go to Grandma's I
Shall feast, of course, on pumpkin-pie.
But it is not for pie alone
That you are used, I know
For as a charlot you shone
A long, long time ago;
Poor Cinderella would have stayed
At home without the coach you made.
And there was "Peter, Peter," too,
Who had a restless wife,
He put her right inside of you,
And then had no more strife;
She must have liked it, strange to tell
"For there he kept her very well."
And, golden pumpkin big and bright,
I quite forgot to say
How you, as Jack-o'-lantern, light
The children on their way
On Hallowe'en—what would you do
Without such useful things as you?
—Grace McKinstry in Woman's Home Companion for November.

Turpentine applied with a bit of flannel will (especially if the stains are deep) restore the whiteness of ivory knife handles.

Which of These Pictures Best Represents Your Stable?

If your stable interior is of wood, you'll do well to tear down those old, unsightly stalls and mangers—and build new ones of concrete.

In fact, the entire stable—inside and out—should be built of concrete.

This is the modern material—it has the merits of sightliness, endurance, and economy—and is sanitary.

The farmer himself can, by its use, make many little improvements that, with any other material, would require the employment of skilled labor.

If you want to know something of the possibilities of concrete, fill out the coupon and send it to us. By return mail we will send you a copy of our free 160-page book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete."

In this book you'll find complete instructions for the construction of almost everything you can think of, in the way of farm buildings, floors, vats, troughs, etc., etc.

Nowadays, for a farmer not to know how to mix and use concrete, is to confess himself away behind the times.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" will not only inform you—it will also interest you.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"
