do so most heartily."—Julia Mariow.
Any remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.
The nerve centers require nutrition.
If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and nervous debility is the result.

"The Church Side."

One day a woman went into a milliner's shop very much excited and wanted the trimming on her new hat altered. She said it had been trimmed on the wrong side.
"But," said the saleswoman, "the trimming is on the left side. That is where it ought to be."
"It doesn't make any difference whether it ought to be in front or in back, or right or left—it's got to be on the church side!"
"Church side!" gasped the astonished girl.
"Yes, church side. I sit next to the wall in church, and I'm not going to have all that trimming next to the wall. I want it on the other side, so that the whole congregation it!"

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send

The Reason it Fell.

He was a twentieth century hustling builder and under his auspices cottages and houses sprang up like mushrooms.
"Please, sir," cried one of his foremen, rushing up to him one morning in a state of mental collapse, "one of the new houses has fallen down overnight."
"What!" roared the builder. "You mean to say that one of my well-built, desirable residences has come to grief? How the dickens has that happened?"
"Well, sir," exclaimed the foreman, "there was a little mistake. Unfortunately, we took down the scaffolding before we put on the wall-paper!"

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

How to Keep a Good Complexion.

This is to some extent a matter of digestion. Where there is good digestion a beautiful complexion is bound to follow. A well-regulated stomach invariably proclaims itself in a good-looking face, and to maintain this well regulated condition attention to a fruit diet is recommended. Plums, blackberries, white and red grapes, oranges and peaches are among the table fruit and it is difficult to say which is the best for a pretty complexion. If the skin is kept fresh and the diet is laxative, the face will be good to look upon. People eat too much breadstuffs.
A pretty woman will be able to keep her charms if she consumes less starch, glue, and mucilage than the gourmand. A muddied skin is usually an indication of bad blood.
Before cold creams, lotions, or other external remedies are applied, go to a physician or medical library and find out the cause of the and unhealthy conditions.

Perfect Sleep.

It is perhaps hardly an extravagant assertion, says Health, that comparatively few people after childhood is passed, know by experience what really perfect sleep is, but are obliged to satisfy themselves with a very poor apology for this great blessing. A lady once said to the writer; "I have been reading myself to sleep after retiring, and when I have done this for two or three nights I can see that I look five years older." This is an experience that any woman can testify and conversely she can see that sleeping in a perfectly dark and well ventilated room brings back the contour and the roses of childhood or early youth. The most perfect sleep is obtained by carefully closing the blinds and making the room perfectly dark.

Then on going to bed go to sleep, not to read or write, think or plan, but for the best of all things, the foundation of all activity and energy, perfect sleep. A few nights of this experience will effect a magic transformation in looks and in feelings. There is a traditional prejudice in favor of early rising; this may be carried to excess. When early sleep is obtained, early rising is indicated by Nature in waking; but artificially produced, it is in some cases pernicious.

"Jest Putterin."

St. Smith—he was o' Ezra Jones' clerk—Wa'nt never very much in love with work.
One day when I was loafin in the store, I set an' watched him tinkerin' with the door;
Hammerin', fillin', sawin' an' screwin', "Si," sez I, "what on earth are ye doin'?" St. grinned kind o' sheepishly, "Oh, jest a putterin', Bill," sez he.
Invented a lock, an' it made him rich, But Si wa'nt satisfied—he had the itch To make more coin, an', by jing, 'd day He's got a clean million salted away.
"Si, ye lazy cuss, how did ye do it?" Sez I one day, "I can't see thru it." St. laughed sort o' modestly.
"Oh, jest by putterin', Bill," sez he.
The big bugs talk o' burnin' midnight oil, Utinin' labor an' the fruits o' toil.
That some have tolled, I ain't denyin', But with others I say it's downright lyin'.
When they talk o' their struggles to win success,
In the name o' goodness why don't they confess
That they won out (ez Si sez the other day),
"Jest by eternally putterin' away."
—Charles M. Webb, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Who Was The Loser?

A banker going home to his dinner saw a ten-dollar bill on the kerbstone. He picked it up and noted the number, and went home to dinner. While at home his wife remarked that the butcher had sent a bill amounting to ten dollars. The only money he had with him was the bill he had found, which he gave to her, and she paid it to the butcher.
The butcher paid it to the farmer for a calf, and the farmer paid it to a merchant, who in turn paid it to a washerwoman, and she, owing the banker a note of ten dollars, went to the bank and paid the note. The banker recognized the bill as the one he had found, and which up to that time had paid fifty dollars of debt. On careful investigation he discovered that the bill was counterfeit.
Now will some friend tell us what has been lost in this transaction and by whom.

This contractor got results.

He knew how to feed his men.
Some years ago a contractor building a railroad in a warm climate was troubled a great deal by sickness among the laborers.
He turned his attention at once to their food and found that they were getting full rations of meat and were drinking water from a stream near by.
He issued orders to cut down the amount of meat and to increase greatly the quantity of Quaker Oats fed to the men.
He also boiled Quaker Oats and mixed the thin oatmeal water with their drinking water.
Almost instantly all signs of stomach disorders passed and his men showed a decided improvement in strength and spirits.
This contractor had experience that taught him the great value of good oatmeal.

The Irishman's Request.

In the days when flogging was in vogue as a punishment in the British navy a Scotchman and an Irishman on the arrival of their ship in harbor obtained leave to go ashore for a couple days, and they overstayed the period of leave granted them. When they did put in an appearance they were ordered fifty lashes each. On the day of the punishment a parade was ordered to witness the indiction of the flogging. When all was ready the Scotchman asked as a favor to be allowed a piece of canvas on his back while he received his flogging. The captain granted his request and turning to the Irishman asked him if he required anything on his back while he was being flogged, to which he replied, "If ye please, yer honor, I'd loike to have the Scotchman on my back, if ye wouldn't mind."
