RHEUMATISM CURED

Zam Buk Will Give You Relief

When you have any deep-seated pain in the joints, the back, the wrists or else where, place a liberal supply of Zam Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand and rub it in.

So many of the ordinary embrocations and liniments are imperfectly prepared and not sufficiently refined to penetrate even the skin—much less the underlying muscles.

If rubbed on to the chest and between the shoulders in cases of bad cold on the chests, Zam Buk will give relief. Apart from its use as an embrocation, Zam Buk will be found a cure for all ordinary forms of skin disease and in jury.

Rev M H Manuel returned at the close of last week after attendance at the Presbyterian Synod. On Sunday morning he gave his congregation a report of those proceedings of the Synod that had particularly impressed him. Young People's Work, Sunday School Work, Social and Moral Reform, in which temperance held a specially prominent place, College matters, in connection with which he stated that thirty congregations were in need of ministers and the men were not available and he made an appeal to the boys and young men to come to take up the work. He quoted Rev James Ross, Superintendent of Home Missions, who in his Synod speech had referred to former days along the St John River when bridges were scarcer. Men would come down to the ferry landing and shout "Over, over," and the ferryman would respond. It was for the boys and young men to come to the brink of the river of opportunity to enter upon the great arena of the ministry, and shout to those who could help them reach this scene of duty, and similarly shout "Over." Mr Manuel spoke also on Home Missions and Foreign Missions. A serious crisis had emerged in connection with the latter. The work had advanced, The interest of the heathen in our fields had deepened and spread. Calls were coming for forward movement, involving increased expenditure, but the contributions to the work in 1910 were less than in 1909. The committee were called upon to do a $63,000 work with $53,000. The appeal for increased giving was very clamant. Sunday schools had advanced. Half of those joining the churches were from the Sunday schools.
