

FAMOUS BRITISH ADMIRAL

Royal Naval Club, Portsmouth.

To the Zam-Buk Co.
Dear Sirs,—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) RODNEY M. LLOYD, Admiral.

Praises Zam-Buk

How It Healed a Terrible Burn.

From top to bottom of the great British naval ladder Zam-Buk is known and used. Admiral and stoker alike have proved its value, as the foregoing and the following show:

Stoker Kingsnorth, of H. M. First Class Cruiser "Cochrane," says:—"One day I slipped and fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but from the first, the burn took the wrong way, owing to a lot of coal dust and dirt from the pipe having got embedded in the flesh and setting up blood-poison. A large scab appeared, and from underneath the festering flesh matter oozed out. I was in fearful pain and didn't know how to get ease.

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good for my arm. Indeed, I got worse, and I became alarmed at the spreading of the poison. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced; and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

No matter in what occupation or stage of life you may be, for skin injuries and diseases of all kinds you will find Zam-Buk is the latest and best in scientific healing. That is why it is so popular to-day. Mothers should see that it is always handy in the home.

It is a proved cure for eczema, ulcers, abscesses, ringworm, poisoned wounds, tetter, itch, bad leg, varicose ulcers, suppurating wounds, cold sores, chapped hands, babies' sores, inflamed patches, etc. Zam-Buk is also a specific for piles. All druggists and stores at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all substitutes and harmful imitations.

The King's Effigy on Indian Coins.

When the new Indian coinage was designed at the beginning of King Edward's reign, his majesty's effigy was made to correspond as closely as possible with the design adopted for England. The first British Emperor of India was, in consequence, presented to the ignorant and superstitious masses of India without a crown or any of the insignia of Imperial sway. Nothing could have been more alien to Indian conceptions of sovereignty, and in its way the mistake was serious from a political standpoint. It was even said to have been the cause of some serious disturbances in Madras.

Some correspondence the Bombay Chamber of Commerce has had with the government of India shows that the error was persisted in, steps were in progress to remedy the defect at the time of King Edward's death, and that it is not likely to be repeated in the new reign. When commenting on the proposed issue of the new nickel anna (penny) coin a year or two ago, the Chamber pointed out to the government that it would be politic were the cast of the Emperor's head to wear a crown in all denominations of Indian coin. The suggestion was carried out with the new nickel coin, but coins of other denominations continued to be minted bearing the old design. In a letter dealing with the question of the coinage of the new reign, the Bombay Chamber has pointed out that the Edward coinage has not inspired feelings of respect or veneration for royalty, a common belief in the native mind being that the effigy on the rupee was that of some official, and not that of the King Emperor, who, in accordance with their ideas of regal dignity, could only be depicted with a crown and other emblems of sovereignty. The effigy that approaches closest to the India ideal of a sovereign ruler was that depicted on the coinage toward the end of Queen Victoria's reign, when her Majesty's head and bust were represented with crown and royal robes.

Replying to this letter, the government of India state that designs were actually prepared some time ago for a crowned effigy of his late Majesty on the next issue of rupees, but his Majesty's death prevented their submission for approval. The proper authorities in England have now been addressed, the letter states, with a request for a suitable representation of the present King-Emperor. It will probably be possible to use the same design on Indian stamps; but it may be pointed out that as millions of postal packets annually reach India from this country, the end in view will not be fully attained unless the design for stamps adopted for the United Kingdom also conforms to the conceptions of sovereign dignity entertained by the King-Emperor's Indian subjects, who constitute three-fourths of the entire population of his Dominion.

London School Teachers Coming out To Canada

(Times' Special Cable)

London, Oct. 4.—The League of the Empire is endeavoring to find situations for London's unemployed teachers. Already many have gone to Canada, and it is expected more will go in the winter and spring. It is suggested that a loan should be raised to promote the emigration of teachers generally. Derisive the Swiss wrestler, sails for Montreal, Thursday to meet Gorch.

The Times referring to the Hudson Bay route says the east will presently see there is plenty of work for its railways and for a new route as well. Anyway the west cannot be denied when it has fairly made up its mind. "On the whole it seems pretty clear that the Bay has been regarded too severely; a better knowledge dispels much of the evil reputation it has hitherto borne. It is certain the thing will some day come to pass, and that day is probably much nearer than most people anticipate."

The Brazilian, Canadian and General Trust Co's net profit for the year ending Sept 30 was £28,277. A final dividend of 3 per cent on ordinary shares making 8 per cent for the year, and final dividend of 15 per cent on ordinary B shares, making 20 per cent, has been added to the reserve.

Radium Now Only $2,100,000 An Ounce

New York, Oct. 4.—Radium is growing cheaper. Sir William Ramsay in a recent London lecture, stated that the present market price is only $2,100,000 an ounce, a drop of $900,000 from the quotation given out by scientists in January last.

A radium bank has existed for some time in Paris. Last January one was started in London and similar institutions are to be established in New York and other cities. These banks loan the precious substance to scientists and physicians. The cost is enormous as much as $200, has been charged for the use of 100 milligrammes for a single day.

PLEADED FOR UNITY OF PROTESTANT CHURCHES

Toronto Oct. 3.—Archdeacon Madden, of Liverpool, England, who, with Rev. Dr. Hanson, of Belfast, Ireland, has come here to strengthen the work of the Evangelical Alliance preached yesterday morning at St. Paul's Anglican church while Dr. Hanson spoke at Trinity Methodist church. Both pleaded for unity of the Protestant churches and more especially for alliance for mission work in the Canadian West.

The monopolist started. "Why, those letters stand for Ted—I mean Tommy Rot!" he snapped fiercely.—Detroit Free Press.

RESOURCES OF CANADA.

It becomes more evident every day that the resources and capabilities of Canada are yet only slightly known. The Interior department of the federal administration has had explorers at work in the northern part of Alberta and Saskatchewan for the last two years. This section of the country was surveyed. Information is now sent out from Ottawa that there are eleven million acres of land suitable for cultivation, and seven million and a half acres suitable for cultivation when drained. From Quebec there comes a report of the work of a party of scientists who have spent months in the country lying between Lake St. John and James Bay, known as the Chibogamon region. The party brought back very valuable mineral specimens, which will be thoroughly examined during the winter by the experts. It is believed that the country visited is rich in minerals and that Quebec possesses a new C. b. l. However time will be required to definitely settle the value of the discoveries made.

PATCHOULI MOTH BALLS

There are a few women who know that patchouli, now so popular as a perfume first came on the market as a safeguard against the moth. In Kashmir, where the wonderful cashmere shawls are manufactured, the natives used the herb to protect their fabric from devastating insects, and all over Europe their shawls could be distinguished by the peculiar scent. Europeans liked the odor so much that they found out the secret of making it and adopted it as one of their choicest. The natives of Kashmir formerly made the herb into a sort of ball resembling very much our modern moth balls. These balls were placed in the folds of their shawls.

POTATOES WITH MASHED TURNIPS.

Some cooks always add a little potato to the mashed turnips, while others dredge in a little flour before seasoning. When the turnips are large, they will have a more delicate flavor if the water is changed at least once during boiling.
