Farmers should eat more oatmeal.

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or to eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

He feeds his stock carefully, avoids over-feeding and selects the stock food that he believes will give the best return in strength and general efficiency.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats."

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals.
Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

The year 1909 will be marked in the calendar as a red letter year in the history of the crusade against consumption. The movement received a great impulse from the congress of distinguished physicians which was held in Washington, U. S., in the autumn of 1908 to consider the further measures to be taken to stamp out this dreadful enemy to the life and happiness of mankind.

Canada in common with the rest of North America, perhaps we should say the world, has participated in the renewed and increased activity which resulted from the deliberations of the congress.

Never since the organization of the Canadian Association for the prevention of Tuberculosis has there been such activity displayed in Canada in this fight for life. Older branch associations have been reinvigorated, ed, new associations have been formed which are showing in many cases a vigorous activity.
Several new institutions for the relief and treatment of consumptives have been opened and the demand for our literature has been larger than ever. Take it all in all 1909 was a year of great progress in the work of the Association.

The Tenth Annual Meeting will be held in Montreal on the 7th of June next and preparations are being made to make this one of the best, if not the best meeting in the history of the Association.

Indigestion Cured

This disease from which so many suffer gives the average physician a great deal of trouble. The best medical men have endorsed PSYCHINE, and recommended it in scores of the most obstinate cases. It has never failed in a single instance to give prompt relief.
When directions have been followed, a few doses will remove that tightness and weight on the stomach. Taken regularly it positively cures General Distress, Flatulency, Nervousness, Coated Tongue, Heart Burn and Palpitation. If you have never used PSYCHINE, don't hesitate a moment longer. Try PSYCHINE to-day.

Mr. Arthur Tension, 88 London Street, Toronto, says: "For six or seven years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia. Too much acidity of the stomach the doctors said, originated the troubles. I tried scores of remedies without avail. Eventually I used PSYCHINE and this brought immediate relief and cure."

NO HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT PSYCHINE

It prevents the children taking cold, wards off that terrible malady, La Grippe, and completely fortifies them against disease. It should always be used for colds weariness, loss of appetite, bronchitis and weak lungs.

For sale by all druggists and dealers, 50 cents and $1.00.

FERGUSON'S MARRIAGE.

(By F. F. in 'Australasian'.)

Old Ferguson had been a widower for two years, and almost from the time of his wife's death speculation had been rife in the township as to the possibility of his marrying again. Every one believed he would but who the bride might be was difficult to foretell.

There was Mrs. Ellis, at the postoffice, a nice, pleasant, companionable body, rather a chatterbox, but a man of Ferguson's age could not expect perfection, and, anyway, he was not used to perfection. The late Mrs.
Ferguson had been rather a tartar. He would surely look for peace in his late middle age.

There was Jadet Mostyn, a handsome, placid woman, barely 40, with a hundred a year of her own.

There were the two Skeggs girls. Both good housewives. They were rather plain certainly. Minnie even more so than Kate, still either of them would jump at old Ferguson and obey his slightest wish.

Then there was Miss Moore, who had many admirers, but who unable to decide on one, had reached the age of 35, and who had begun to find home rather uncomfortable on account of the advent of a stepmother.

Old Ferguson who was barely 50, was known as Old Ferguson to distinguish him from Young Ferguson, his son. He was a pleasant, genial soul, a splendid man of business, and owned a comfortable farm kept in apple-pie order.

Many people thought that Mrs. Ferguson's rule was largely responsible for this order.
See had looked after accounts, made her own bread, soap, and candles, sold eggs butter and fruit and had the home in the most spick and span condition. They expected at her death to see every thing go to pieces, but it seemed as if the order she had inaugurated soon gained sufficient momentum to continue of itself, under the hand of Jennie, the hitherto incapable servant.

Old Ferguson knew well that he was expected to marry again, and he knew also which of the ladies in the town had been mentioned as suitable for the vacant place.
This amused him very much, for although his mind was not quite made up, it was nearly so, and he knew that when he did marry he would surprise and probable annoy everyone.

However, he was quite willing to consider all claims, and to this end he went to tea several times with Mrs. Ellis, drove Miss Moore to the show, and went home to dinner with the Moores after church, frequently went to the Skeggs's house, and as often went to see Janet Mostyn and her brother.

Mrs. Ellis was the cleverest of them all, and the township was quite certain that if she had made up her mind to get him she could most certainly have him. Very few people doubted but that any of the ladies would be most willing, and in this they were probably right.

Old Ferguson never acted on impulse, and evening after evening he would weigh the matter carefully, and Young Ferguson, sitting on the other side of the fire, used to wonder why his father was so silent

COLDS Quickly Cured

Everybody has a cold. Some resort to tablets and powders that contain dangerous drugs, and death from heart-depressing remedies is not infrequent.

It's poor policy to neglect a cold—especially when it can be cured so quickly without medicine.

You can send the soothing vapor of the pine woods, the richest balsams and healing essences, right to the cause of your cold by inhaling Catarrhazone.

Little drops of wonderful curative power are distributed through the whole breathing apparatus in two seconds.

Like a miracle, that's how Catarrhazone works in bronchitis, catarrh, colds, and irritable throat. You simply breathe its oily, fragrant vapor, and every trace of congestion and disease flees as before fire.

Catarrhazone Cures

Don't experiment longer—Catarrhazone means sure cure. Two months' treatment, guaranteed, price $1.00; at times, and what his thoughts were, tha they so frequently amused him.

One evening, Old Ferguson said, 'Could you take a liking to a step-mother, Alec?'

'Depend on who it was,' returned the lad briskly. 'Don't go choosing some one young enough to be your daughter.'

Old Ferguson nodded his head in approval.
'Quite right, my boy, quite right. It would be awkward, like, if I did, and then you
