

It Satisfies

A paint that looks and wears well is bound to attract the attention and favorable comments of your next door neighbor — just as paint that fades, peels, and chalks off in a few months is bound to attract their attention and condemnation as well.

Martin-Senour Paint 100% Pure

Meets every requirement of a good paint—it shows its quality in the can and as it flows from the brush, and months afterward there it shines—a testimonial to the honesty and skill of its makers.

The luckless house owner who depends on the flimsy protection afforded his property, through the use of a cheap adulterated paint, will soon find himself bluffed and vanquished.

A house protected by Martin-Senour Paint can enjoy the thousand shrieking voices of the wind, while you listen from the vantage ground of your well shielded home.

A Good Pure Paint, while defending your home, renders you far greater service—it adds greater comfort, health, protection, cleanliness; besides it saves your buildings from emptiness and decay.

Crossing the Atlantic by spending less than three days upon the water is now a possibility. Not that the big liners are smashing whole days from their records, but the eastern terminal of the railway recently completed across Newfoundland is only about one thousand miles from the coast of Ireland. It is but a short distance from Cape Breton to Newfoundland, and a half-rail, half-water journey from New York to London will be attractive to those who suffer from sea qualms. Youth's Companion.

Women Home Companion for April.

As spring comes around again, the WOMEN'S HOME COMPANION lifts its own standard another degree with its Easter Issue. The cover design, by Fanny Y. Cory strikes a true April note which is faithfully carried out in the entire magazine. A full page painting by Balfour Ker, is one of the tenderest subjects ever attempted by this artist, and "Old-Time Gardens in the Connecticut Valley" by Charles Edward Hooper, with illustrations by Herman Pfeifer, is an unusually artistic feature. "The Campaign of Hope," the tireless fight against tuberculosis, is waged with undiminished enthusiasm and is awakening people throughout the country.

"The Empty House," a story in two parts by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, has its first thrilling instalment in this number. It is a story for every woman with a busy, self-sacrificing husband to read. "The House of Healing" by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins is gaining new friends with every chapter, and short stories of unusual humor and charm and power fill out the list of fiction.

Never was the household so well taken care of: Margaret Sangster, Woods Hutchinson, M. D., Kate V. Saint-Maur, Doctor Jean Williams, all give their best work. "May-Pole Dances," "Wood-Block Printing," "A Perfume Garden," "Happiness Chest," Miss Farmer's Recipes, Evelyn Parsons' Summer Embroideries, Music, Art—these are just some of the contents of this surprising magazine. The regular departments, Miss Gould's big Fashion Section and the pages devoted to the Young Reader, are all better than ever.

A young lawyer was appointed to defend a negro who was too poor to hire counsel of his own. After the jury was in the box the young lawyer challenged several jurymen whom his client said had a prejudice against him, "Are there any more jurymen who have a prejudice against you?" whispered the lawyer. "No, boss, de jury am all right, but now I wants you to challenge de judge. I has been convicted under him seberal times already, and maybe he is beginning to hab a prejudice agin me."

The Duke of Durham.

(The 'Wasp'.)

The late Mr. Washington Duke, of Durham, North Carolina, at home know as 'Uncle Wash,' who manufactured tobacco products so extensively for a quarter of a century, used to tell a quaint little story on himself. 'The first time I travelled abroad,' he said, 'I visited Brussels and went to see all the sights. In one of the public buildings I found an ordinary looking arm chair railed off and with a chain across its front. Being tired with a hard morning of tramping, I stepped over the fence, let down the chain, and, with a big sigh of relief dropped into this chair, the only one I had seen in the building. A guard in lace and buttons was on me at once.

"No sitting in that chair!" he blustered. "See the card on the back? The Duke of Wellington once occupied that chair!"

"Well, and what of it?" I returned, cool as a cucumber. "I'm Duke of Durham, and alive at that!"

This settled the matter. Down to the floor went that flunky, brushing the dust from my heavy American shoes with his handkerchief of real European linen. A way-up English title catches them every time. I had my rest out in that solid old chair of the Waterloo hero.

Perplexities of English

'An' so you're goin' to teach French at the school, Mr. Canewell?' said the grocer's wife. 'It's as well that some folks can teach people, for I often think it must be shockin' difficult for furriners who come here. For instance, take the word "air." There's the "air" on our eads, the hair of the hatmos, here, the are they 'unts, and the air you quite well? Yes, it must be awful confusin'.'—Tit Bits.

Robins were selling at ten cents a dozen in the markets of a certain Tennessee town last month. More than one hundred and fifty thousand, it is estimated, were shot or snared in that vicinity. A little later each one of those robins, alive, would have been worth more to the farmer than several dozen of them were to the pot-hunters. No sacrifice of animal life is so wholly indefensible as the sacrifice of the robins and other song-birds.—Youth's Companion.

Regarded from a purely scientific point of view, the hunting trip of Mr. Roosevelt and his son was one of the most successful ever known. The party secured about five hundred large mammals, the rarest and most important of which are the giant eland, the white rhinoceroses, the bongos and the sitatunga, a kind of antelope. Of some of these animals, the Roosevelt specimens are the first to be taken out of the country. The collection also includes many thousands of birds and small mammals, all of which, together with the larger animals, will go to the national museum, the Smithsonian Institution, in Washington.—Youth's Companion.

His Description.

Charles, two and a half years old, has, naturally, a limited vocabulary, yet he usually manages to express himself and his emotions very clearly.

The other night a skunk was wandering near the house, and Charles learned for the first time what the awful presence meant, for bolt upright in bed he sat, and gasped out, "O masma! Did you smell that awful noise?"—Youths' Companion.

Wind on the Stomach

A Well-Known Westerner Tells of Suffering, Misery, and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbled; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorable opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved Nerviline is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea, and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large 25c bottles; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NERVILINE STRENGTHENS WEAK STOMACHS

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be please to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous foundation of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative power that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Railway Strike Imminent.

The great strike of the Federated Mechanical Trades on the Canadian Northern and Canadian Pacific during the coming summer is probable. The men are dissatisfied with the wage schedule and have submitted to the companies a demand for an increase of two and a half cents an hour all round. This would make the schedule for machinists 45 cents an hour, the highest paid the trade anywhere in Canada. The C. P. R. men met Saturday night and decided to stand firm, and the C. N. R. men, at a meeting to-night are expected to come to a similar decision. Should the threatened strike occur, it probably will be a fight to the bitter end between the railways and union labor. The men are in much better shape for a struggle than they were two years ago.

UNION BLEND TEA

the Tea that satisfies

I PUT my business reputation as a judge of good tea back of every packet of Union Blend Tea that I sell. I do that in this way: if you don't like it, you will never buy again. And I cannot afford to spend money in advertising to gain your confidence and then destroy that confidence by offering you inferior tea. Therefore, I don't do it. You can take my word and prove for yourself that Union Blend Tea at 40c. per lb. will go half as far again as any 30c. lb. tea on the market. And it will make better tea, too. Make your tea-cup prove it.
