Canada's Next Census.
(By Archibald Blair.)

The next census of Canada will be taken under the date of June 1st, 1911, and will embrace the subjects of population, mortality, agriculture, manufactures, minerals, fisheries and dairy products. Population will be recorded under the heads of race and personal description, citizenship, nationality and religion, profession, occupation and trade or means of living, wage-earning, and insurance, education and language spoken and proficiency.

Every person living on June 1st will be entered on the schedule of population by name, as member of a family, indication of household, together with place of habitation, sex, relationship to head of the family or household, and whether single, married, widowed, divorced or legally separated. The month of birth, year of birth and age at last birthday will also be recorded.

Entries will be made for each person to show the country or place of birth, year of immigration to Canada if born elsewhere, year of naturalization if formerly an alien, and also racial or tribal origin, nationality and religion. Every person of alien birth who has become a naturalized citizen is a Canadian by nationality, and every British subject with residence in Canada, as well as every native of Canada who has acquired citizenship by birth or naturalization is also a Canadian by nationality. But there is no Canadian by racial or tribal origin unless the Indians are so counted.

Every person having an occupation or trade will be entered for it, but if employed in the census year at some other occupation for part or whole time he will be so recorded also. If the person is working on his own account the entry will be so made. An entry is also required to be made showing where the person is employed, as on a farm, in a woolen mill, at a foundry shop, in a drug store, etc.

Wage-earners are entered to show the number of weeks employed in 1910 at chief occupation or trade, at other than chief occupation if any, the hours of working time per week at chief occupation or at other occupation if any, the total earnings in 1910 at chief occupation, the total earnings at other than chief occupation, and the rate per hour when employed by the hour.

Entries are required to be made for each person showing the amount of insurance held at date of census upon life, as well as against accident or sickness, together with the cost of such insurance in the census year.

Under the heading of education and language records will be taken for every person of five years of age and over, showing the number of months at school in 1910, and if the person can read and write, and the language commonly spoken by each person.
The cost of education in 1910 for persons over sixteen years of age at college, convent or university is also called for.

The last question on the schedule of population relates to infirmities. It calls for a record of each person having an infirmity. If blind, deaf and dumb, crazy or lunatic, idiotic or silly, a record thereof will be made in the proper column, and the age at which the infirmity appeared is required to be specified.—Toronto Globe.

A Doubtful Member.

In Miss Wood's kindergarten class there were eight pupils, four girls and four boys.
One of the boys, however, had not yet reached the estate of kilts, not to mention trousers. Accordingly, when little Susan Phelps was asked by a visitor to tell how many girls and how many boys there were, her confused reason went as follows:

"There's eight, one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, Miss Elliot," she replied.
And if "he's" a girl," she pointed at the one who wore dresses instead of manly garb —"why, then there's five girls and one, two, three boys. But if 'she's' a boy, there's one, two, three, four girls, and one, two—four boys. She's really a boy, you know, Miss Elliot, she confided, in conclusion.—

Road History.

Road History.—A novelty at the Brussels International Exposition is a graphic history of roads, from the Roman road to the most perfected modern form. An avenue about a third of a mile in length leads up to the pavilion of Civil Engineering, and is divided into sections, each two meters long, representing all the different types of roads that have been employed by civilized nations.
Thus the visitor is enabled to make a direct comparison showing the peculiarities and advantages of all the various kinds of highways that man has devised to enable him to move about easily on the surface of his planet, on foot, on horseback, and in carriages and wagons.—Youth's Companion.

There are signs above the horizon that the prize fight will follow the cock fight and the dog fight into the record of abandoned brutalities. Such things are as persistent as the impulses that tend to perpetuate them, but the world is improving.—Toronto Weekly Globe.

An Aquatic Tragedy.

When visitors came, Bobby was often turned out of his room into the garret for a night or two. He did not object to this, but he felt that it endangered certain cherished possessions.

When his uncle, the clergyman, arrived unexpectedly one night, Bobby was transferred to his garret quarters in haste and with small ceremony, and neglected to take any precautions to guard his treasures.

"I have to thank the thoughtful person who placed a glass of water on the table near the bed last night," said the clergyman, the next morning. "I awoke in the night, and found it refreshing."

"Oh!" said Bobby, in a tone of sorrow and reproach. "You've drunk up my nice new quarum and all—"

But here Bobby's revelation was suppressed by his mother.—The Youth's Companion.

Lightened Her Burden.

The new boy on the ice-cart was German, and a trifle dull, but he had a helpful spirit.
The first day he took ice to the Skyline apartment house, and Norah Daly's face looked down at him through the dumb-waiter-shaft from the fourth story, he saw that she was young and small.

"Gwan!" he called up to her, as he had heard the other men call, and Norah, stepping back, began to pull with all her might at the rope.

What was her indignation when at last she had brought the elevator up to her floor with a pull which almost wrenched her arms from their sockets, to see the German boy step off the elevator.

"They told me you take small pieces, lift it off by your own self," he said, "but I think you are not so strong to do it. I come up—lift it for you—so!"

And unmindful of Norah's wrath, he swung off the five cents' worth of ice, and bore it to her refrigerator.—The Youth's Companion.

A Lemonade Hint.

If the sugar is dissolved in a little hot water before putting it into lemonade, it will not sink and wilt sweeten it more quickly.—
