CAMPBELL'S CLOTHING

You Don't Know Clothing Comfort Until You've Worn a

Campbell's Clothing SOLID COMFORT ULSTER

It is made of closely woven tweeds and friezes, is big looking, loose and easy fitting, and is light to carry. The beauty of the coat is in the collar, which rolls, folds back or turns up to suit all weathers. Altogether, it is the best kind of coat to keep you warm and cosy when the mercury is down to zero.

Sudden Death of Alonzo Hale.

Alonzo Hale, a well known citizen of Grafton, died suddenly at his home on Thursday evening last of apoplexy. Mr. Hale was in his usual health until the day previous to his death, when he had an attack of heart trouble from which he recovered and was able to be up and around. A recurrence of the trouble took place the following day with fatal results. He is survived by a widow, who was a Miss Rossborough, formerly of York county, two adopted daughters of Mrs. R. S. Starrett, a sister of Mrs. Hale also survive.

Deceased was 62 years of age. The funeral took place on Saturday and was under the auspices of Woodstock Lodge F. & A. M. of which he was a member.

Carleton County Man Killed in the West.

On December 22, while at work as a bridge carpenter at Pasque, where the Northern Pacific Railway crosses the Columbia river in the state of Washington. Herbert J. Dibblee, age 40, who has been away from here for fifteen years, was accidentally killed. He was at work on the abutment when the derrick fell from above and hit him on the side of the head. He was the son of Alfred C. Dibblee, of Northampton, who died a year ago.

Deceased is survived by his mother, four brothers, Alfred W. and Donald, at home, Bert and George, in Spokane, Washington, and two sisters, one in Canton, Mass., and one in Seattle, Wash.

The body arrived here Thursday afternoon in charge of his brother, Bert Dibblee. It was taken to the Baptist church, where a short service was held by Rev. H. G. Kennedy, and interment made in the Pembroke cemetery.

General Grant's Smoking Habits.

Ferdinand D. Ward, who was associated with General Grant in an unfortunate business enterprise after the Civil war was over, in the story of "Grant as I Knew Him," tells of the latter's smoking habits. "Grant," said Mr. Ward, "smoked incessantly. I have known him to go to bed with a heavy Havana in his mouth, put out the lights, smoke for a time in the dark by the sub away and light it first thing on waking in the morning. Sometimes Grant would smoke another whole cigar before breakfast. At luncheon or dinner he would put a half-finished cigar aside to be resumed immediately after finishing the meal. When he came to the office I always had five of his favorite three for 50c. cigars ready for him, and he invariably smoked them all during the day."

WORN, WORRIED MOTHERS

Much of the worry which every mother of young children undergoes would be spared if the mother kept Baby's Own Tablets on hand and gave an occasional dose when the child was fretful, cross or feverish. Nearly all the ailments of childhood can be traced to the stomach, bowels or teething. For these troubles no medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets, and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that the Tablets are absolutely safe. Mrs. O. El. Studdard, Haldimand, Que., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my home for a long time and always with the best results. I do not know how I could get along without this medicine." Sold by medicine dealers or my mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Development of Aroostook.

(Houlton Pioneer.)

The new electric road from Presque Isle to Washburn is already bringing prosperity to the town, even before its completion. Large crews are in the woods to cut 6,000,000 feet of logs for the mills the coming year. This is to be followed up until the two mills at Presque Isle and Stevensville at Fort Fairfield will use up 10,000,000 feet a year. This means, according to A. R. Gould's estimation, some 1,200 to 1,500 carloads of lumber will be hauled over the new electric railroad to market a year. Besides the cut upon the timber lands on the Presque Isle stream and its tributaries, the Aroostook Lumber Company can drive their logs down the Aroostook river and take them to the mill from the river by the electric road over the branch, a haul of only a mile or two.

What is the Trouble?

A correspondent from Williamston says The DISPATCH subscribers at that office do not get their mail regularly. In fact not half of the time, and wants to know what is the trouble. If our correspondent will write to the Postmaster General, stating the facts, perhaps the matter will be remedied. We have written to P. O. Inspector about irregularities in the mails, and interviewed him personally in regard to the matter, and were told that unless we marked our letters "Private" they would not come under his observation.

How One Cross Was Won.

Sir Arthur Wilson, the new head of the British navy, holds the Victoria Cross. How this decoration was won is thus told in the New York Sun:

"It was at a critical moment, during one of the Egyptian campaigns, when a corner of the British square had been torn asunder by a furious onslaught of fanatical dervishes and through the gap the way seemed open for them to pour in and turn the battle into absolute rout. Wilson sprang into the breach and single handed as he was lay about him with his sword and absolutely held the enemy in check until some of the soldiers of the York and Lancashire regiments rushed over to his assistance. When in this savage sword play his blade snapped off at the hilt, Wilson dropped the latter and began knocking dervishes over with his fists. So full of admiration at his bravery were his fellow officers that they presented to him a superb sword in place of the weapon he had used up, and the V. C. was given him when he next reached England."

Murphy of this place.

A Matrimonial Seidlitz Powder.

(Everybody's Magazine.)

At an important state function in London, blue tickets were issued to persons of high rank, admitting them to that part of the hall reserved for members of the royal family. Less distinguished guests were given white tickets. Through some mistake, an important public man received a blue ticket while his wife received a white one.

When the couple reached the audience chamber, there began to be trouble, inasmuch as the lady firmly declined to be separated from her husband. An aide endeavored to reason with her, pointing out the dreadful consequences that would follow a mingling of blue and white.

"How absurd!" exclaimed the lady. "What do you take us for—a Seidlitz powder?"

She was permitted to enter with her husband.

HOTEL FOR SALE.

I have for sale a first-class Hotel in one of the most thriving villages on the St. John River. The buildings are all in first-class condition. All modern improvements. The hotel has hot and cold water throughout, with bath rooms and excellent plumbing. It has a big patronage from the travelling public, as well as a good local patronage. Everything in connection with the property will be sold with it.
