King's College, Windsor Notes.

On Nov. 3rd a very interesting game of Rugby was played between the College fifteen and U. N. B. The field was in fairly good condition, but too muddy to allow much fast or open play. At the end of the first half neither team had scored, but in the second U. N. B. rushed the game and scored two tries in quick succession in the middle of the half. Neither of these was converted. Though King's defence was excellent, their men were unable to get away and do anything in the line of scoring. The tackling of our halves held the score down considerably, but the game ended 6 to 0 in favour of the visiting team. In the evening the visitors were entertained by the students and their friends at an At Home given in the gymnasium. On Nov. 6th, the College team will play Acadia.

The Students' Missionary Society has decided to send at least two delegates to the Men's Missionary Convention to be held in Halifax on the 23rd and 24th of this month. During the coming year the Society hopes to have some of the men prominent in Missionary activity to deliver addresses for the benefit of the students and the people of Windsor generally.

The College has been visited recently by the Rev. R. A. Hitz, M. A., travelling Sec'y of the S. S. Commission of the Church of England in Canada, and Dr. McElfresh, President of the S. S. Commission of the U. S. A. Both of these delivered to the students very helpful and inspiring addresses on S. S. work, which were much appreciated.

Windsor has done well in the Extension Campaign of the College, having raised about $6000. It is to be hoped that larger towns with greater resources will do at least as well.

Many graduates and friends of the University spent Thanksgiving Day in the town, showing that who have gone out from the walls of King's feel that their Alma Mater still has an attraction for and a claim upon them.

Many old King's men will be glad to hear of the good work that Prof. Selva, who is a graduate of the University, is doing, and will join with us in congratulating him on his appointment as associate professor of Philosophy in Sewanee University.

Men's Missionary Congress

The Men's Missionary Congress to be held in St. John, Nov. 20th. to 22nd., serves to direct the attention anew to what someone has termed "the biggest thing in the world":—certainly the greatest factor in recent years in the spiritual awakening of the manhood of our churches—the Layman's Missionary Movement.

Whatever attitude one may profess toward missions in general, the position of the Men's Missionary Movement is so fair as to challenge the most kindly consideration of every right thinking man. The purposes of the movement, to investigate the missionary needs of the church at home and abroad and then to inspire the manhood of the church adequately to support the great enterprise, is broadening and uplifting.

Too many men live narrow, unsympathetic lives, seldom straying from the path of personal profit and advantage. The result is a shrivelling in heart and intellect. The Layman's Missionary Movement gives men great things to dwell upon. It invites them to survey the whole field of human activity, to take account of the forces at work for the uplift of mankind and to take council together how the work of making the forces of good predominate and rapidly increase their sway, can best be accomplished. It is a noble movement in which every man may worthily wish to have a part.

For some time the grave question in ecclesiastical circles has been concerned with the evident loss of the interest in the work of the churches, particularly among the men. The Laymen's movement to arouse an interest in missions, is solving the question, temporarily at least, and earnestness and devotion are being displayed where indifference was before. The introduction of the Layman's Missionary Movement as an active force in every church in this province and the country adjoining—one of the hoped for results of the Men's Missionary Movement in St. John—would be a long step in advance in the moral and spiritual uplift of our own people.

Lumber Outlook Not Good

Most of the Local Mills Will Probably End the Sawing Season Early in December Though One Firm Will Run Into New Year

The outlook presented to the lumbermen in this province for next year does not seem particularly encouraging at the present time and, unless a change for the better presents itself, it is not expected that the season of 1912 will be recorded as distinctly noteworthy for its activity. All lumbermen agree that the cut this year is to be greatly curtailed and various reasons are given for the decrease.

The strike in England some weeks ago practically paralyzed business for a time, but trade is now assuming its normal conditions. The disturbance in trade, however, caused much uneasiness. Ocean freights advanced considerably and this fact curtailed shipments during the months of September and October. It has been practically impossible to charter any tramp steamer in the ordinary way for a lumber cargo, as business for them in other ways, has been much better. These reasons are attributed by authorities on the lumber trade for the slackness at the present time, but there are others as well.

Stocks of Canadian spruce are not excessive in England, it is reported, but the consumption for the last month was disappointing. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia spruce has formidable competitors in the Russian woods, which up to two years ago were not marketed in very large quantities, but since that time have become factors in the British lumbering trade.

English capitalists have gone into Russia in the manufacturing business and production has greatly increased, and is expected to still further increase. Labor in Russia is but a fraction compared to what it is in Canada, and the costs of production are considerably cheaper; while the ocean freight is only about one half what it is from maritime province points.

Though it is an acknowledged fact that Russian wood cannot compete as to quality with that of Canada, yet the price when it is considered in the United Kingdom, is responsible for the increased demand as small quantities can be purchased at almost any time and delivered in a remarkably short period.

Operations on a small scale have been begun in the New Brunswick woods, and several lumbermen have sent crews into the woods but their work will be quite limited as compared with other years on account of the reasons given and because of the general curtailment. Since they have quite a supply of logs already piled it is expected that the mills of Stetson, Cutler & Co., will be about the last to cease operations this year, in fact it is thought that they will run until well after the New Year. With most of the other mills, however, this will not be the case. Early in December will probably see the close of the mills owned by Murray & Gregory, Charles Miller, John E. Moore & Co., Hilyard Bros. Messrs Warner and others, but much, of course, depends upon the weather, which if favorable may allow some of these plants to continue cutting for a little while longer.

King George's Head on Canadian Stamp

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Canadian stamps bearing the effigy of King George will be put on sale by the Post Office department within a short time. The Dominion postal authorities were not satisfied with the portrait of the King which was adopted for the British stamps and which has since been so severely criticized. It was decided to obtain a design for Canada and this has been done. The new stamp series is said to be an especially handsome one. The designs were submitted to King

Marys' Gift Will Found Girls' Home

LONDON, Nov. 7.—It is announced that Queen Mary will devote the £65,000 subscribed by the Marys of the empire as a coronation gift to the establishment of a home for working girls. The fund was partially subscribed by the women of Canada, who rejoiced in the name of Mary.

What the Navy Will Cost

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier first placed his naval scheme before Parliament he estimated the cost of building and equipping the ships called for, if the work were done in England, at $11,000,000; if done in Canada the cost was placed at some $15,000,000.

The Montreal Gazette, evidently basing its statement on the figures contained in tenders which have not yet been officially made public, now places the cost of the vessels fully armed and equipped at something like $24,000,000. The cost of maintenance, first placed at something like $5,000,000 a year, will also, it is said, be considerably more than the original estimate.

It is an exceedingly costly undertaking the country is being asked to enter upon. It will be well if the whole question, with full information, is sent to the people in the form of a referendum before a final decision is reached.

entry into Montreal on Nov. 5th., with 94,000 bushels of wheat for Ogilvie's Mills. Her cargo was taken aboard at Port Colbourne, and was, in addition to a fuel oil supply, sufficient to last three months. The ship was in command of Captain Martin and Pilot Murray of Kingston. To a reporter the pilot said: 'The ship can easily carry 100,000 bushels of wheat through the canals. I look to see her type become very popular in the grain trade on the lakes. The only drawback is the slow speed—about six knots per hour. That makes them a little hard to control, but I think that could be remedied partly by making future oil burning ships with single instead of twin screws.'
