Heaviness at Pit of the Stomach

A Feeling of Uneasiness Before and After Meals Is Quickly Cured With Nerviline.

Nearly everyone gets an occasional attack of indigestion and knows just what that heavy feeling means in the stomach. "I was subject to stomach derangements, and my health was seriously hampered on this account. After meals I belched gas, had a weighty sensation in my stomach and over my left side. The first relief I got was from Nerviline—I used it three times a day, and was cured. I continue to use Nerviline occasionally, and find it is a wonderful aid to the stomach and digestive organs."

The above letter comes from Mrs. P. R. Stetson, wife of an important merchant in Brockton, and still further proof of the exceptional power of Nerviline is furnished by A. E. Rossman, the well-known upholsterer of Chester, who writes: "Let everyone with a bad stomach use Nerviline," and I am sure there will be few sufferers left. I used to have cramps, rumbling noises, gas on my stomach, and severe fits of indigestion. Nerviline was the only remedy that gave me relief, and I found it so entirely satisfactory that I would like to have my letter of recommendation published broadcast in order that others may profit by my experience."

You'll find a hundred uses for Nerviline—it's a trusty household remedy.

This is the second mysterious explosion and fire in the Government arsenal. About three months ago there was a fire in an adjoining building, the result of a political plot against the Estrada Government. Several citizens were deported from Nicaragua indefinitely for alleged complicity in the plot. It is supposed that the present disaster is also due to political unrest. The course of politics in Nicaragua has not been smooth and peaceful, although there has been no open opposition to the present Government.

Mulai Hafid, the Sultan of Morocco, has informed Gen. Moinier, commander of the French column which relieved Fez a fortnight ago that, for the purpose of assuring the security of the country, he wants a permanent garrison of 5,000 French troops at the southern capital, and another French force of 5,000 men at Mequinez, a city thirty-four miles from Fez.

The rebellious Arabs in Assyria, Arabia, have captured Abha, the capital, and have made prisoners the 3,000 Turkish troops composing the garrison. Three batteries of artillery and several large guns also have fallen into the hands of the rebels. A relief force, under the grand shereef of Mecca, marching to relieve the Abha garrison, has been routed. Izzet Pasha, who succeeded in suppressing the revolt in Yemen, is preparing a strong expedition against the Assyrian tribesmen.

The report of the French Senatorial committee which has been investigating the disappearance of Church funds explains how the milliard of francs, or $200,000,000, which was expected to be realized from the property of the religious congregations dwindled to $30,000,000 francs or $6,000,000—about enough to provide for the aged members of the orders. This amount is all that is left in the hands of the State. The report shows how the Church outmanoeuvred the State and checkmated the scheme of obtaining money for the secular schools. Legal actions, sometimes to the number of thirty, were brought against the State liquidator and fought to the highest courts when, as generally happened, the claimants disappeared, leaving the State liable for all the costs. The report points out that the congregations obtained the best legal advice gratuitously, while the State depended upon the divided counsels of several departments.

A great storm in London on May 31st did much damage, six persons were killed by lightning at Epsom Downs, and the homing multitude who went by road returned to London in a rainfall like a cataract. The weak point of the automobile was never more emphasized. One after another they succumbed as the deluge penetrated their mechanism. It was as if a fire hose had been played upon them. Traffic was constantly held up by machines breaking down. The road from London to Epsom was lined at frequent intervals with broken down motors, derelict cars waiting for a horse to haul them home. Railroads in the Acton district were covered by three feet of water and for some time it was impossible for traffic to pass.

The prediction is made in Washington, according to the New York "Tribune" correspondent, that the Canadian reciprocity agreement will be adopted by the Senate with out amendment and with more than thirty votes to spare. The prediction is based on a careful poll of the Senate. This poll shows a remarkable change in sentiment, due in a large measure to the fight President Taft has made for the legislation and to the overwhelming public sentiment in favor of the agreement.

Coughs, Colds, BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhazone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhazone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Throat Trouble. The wonderfully soothing vapor of Catarrhazone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and falls entirely to help the throat or lungs. To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing, and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhazone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhazone only. 50c and $1. at all dealers.

At the inquest at Harrow over the drowning of Sir William Gilder, the dramatist, the violence showed that Sir William overexerted himself in going to the rescue of a woman of the name of Enery, who was also in bathing at the same time and had got into a deep water. Mr John Diller, Nationalist member of Parliament for East Mayo, was dangerously injured about the head and back in an automobile accident on Sunday night, June 4 near Dundalk, 45 miles northwest of Dublin. It was at first thought that Mr Diller was dying, and a priest, who was hastily summoned, administered the last sacraments. He rallied, however, and was removed to Dundalk, where he now lies in hospital in a serious condition. The automobile dashed into a culvert and Mr Diller was thrown through the glass screen.

Andre Bismont, of France, won a $20,000 prize for the second stage of the Paris Rome Turin race, when he finished first at Rome. Roland Garros tied in the contest until Plo was reached when his machine was wrecked. Clifford Heston, the American aviator, declares that France has stripped the United States in the flying game. Lieut Lucia, of the French army, and a passenger M Hennequin, had a narrow escape from death when their aeroplane fell and was wrecked. Each had a leg broken. At Versailles MGubt fell and fractured his hip. Peasants near Tashkend in Russia are reported to be much disturbed over the appearance there of an aeroplane in which Airman Vasiloff has been making flights. Some of the more credulous of the natives, who had never heard of the air craft, believed the aeroplane to be a huge angry bird. The University of Pennsylvania has won the first intercollegiate balloon race, the "Philadelphia II" having covered 115 miles in a little over seven hours. An aeroplane so safe that aviators may sleep in it when flying is reported to have been invented by Sydney Hargrave, a London boxkite expert. The chief improvement is the substitution of ropes for rigid stays. He calls the new machine "fool proof." Marcel Pennot, a French aviator who flew 115 feet with his aeroplane in a fight at San Diego de Los Binos, has died in a Havana hospital. World Wide

IMMIGRATION AND GROWTH

Canada can afford to discriminate in the matter of immigration. While it may seem selfish and unreasonable to deprive foreigners of the better prospects of success which our general conditions afford, it is quite fair to take precaution against influences tending to lower our average standard of citizenship. We have not been sufficiently successful in solving the problems of growth to warrant us in keeping the doors open for all who may choose to come. Last year we deported 784 who were found to be physically unfit or likely through even tendencies to become recruits in our criminal population. This seems a large record, and it is made more conspicuous by the fact that during the same year 17,816 were rejected at the different ports of entry. This seems like a startling record, but as 15,404 were citizens of the United States, it indicates nothing more serious than border activity in turning back the undesirable floating population.

A bulletin recently published shows the total immigration for the past decade to have been close on two millions. Of these about 750,000 were from Britain and 700,000 from the United States. During the latter years of this period the influx has greatly increased. As American opportunities are closing and conditions in the Republic are approximating those of Europe in volume of immigration from the United States has proportionately increased. Whatever justification there may have been for ill-considered admission before the pressure of industrial conditions became a possibility in Canada, it is now the duty of the Dominion authorities to protect the interests of those already here. Even with all the care that can be exercised, foreign admixtures will lower the standard of citizenship, but it is a tendency that should continually be resisted. Our chief care can now be bestowed on the quality of immigration. The quality is assured.—Toronto Globe.
