accused of exaggeration and misrepresentation. Incidentally the proceeds of the book lifted Mrs Stowe and her family from poverty, although gain for herself had been no part of her object in writing it.

Mrs Stowe sent copies of the book to princes Albert, the Earl of Shaftsbury, and other distinguished statesmen and men of influence in England. When she and her husband visited Great Britain they were received with marked respect. At a reception given Mrs Stowe by the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, at Stafford House, Lord Shaftesbury presented to her, in behalf of the women of England, an address of welcome and appreciation.

Mrs Stowe's other books include Dred, The Ministers Wooing, Old town Folks, and many more, but none attained the popularity of the first. She died in 1896—Montreal Witness.

CORONATION DRESS OF QUEEN MARY

London, June 11.—Queen Mary's Dress for the coronation consists of two parts exquisitely blended—dress and robe. The dress, a princess model of deep ivory duchesse satin, was made at Brainfree, in Essex by the Queen's special command. It was designed by Reville & Rossiter, of Hanover Square. The embroidery was done at the Princess Louise Needlework School. Introduced in the pattern are the English rose, the Scotch thistle, the Irish shamrock, the star of India, the lotus of India and English oak leaves and acorns, all worked in the finest gold thread, with a border of oak leaves and acorns. Above this is a band of gold embroidery cunningly worked to simulate water, representing the seas of the empire.

The low cut bodice gives room for the introduction of a tucker of exquisite lace inset in two layers. The outer one is of delicate gold thread woven into splendid lace and the inner one of real laces. The latter shows above the gold lace, giving a delightfully soft finish.

Flay hand made lace and fine gold thread similar to that upon the bodice are used for trimming the sleeves, which are bordered with tiny oak leaves. The material of the robe or larger train is silk velvet, specially woven at St. Aubert.

The utmost care has been taken to obtain the true royal shade of purple. The fully extended robe measures six yards by a yard and a half. The rose, a shamrock and thistle are cleverly blended with the queen's monogram as a centrepiece. The lining throughout is of ermine. The cape also is of ermine.

Formerly it was the custom of the Queen to robe the Abbey for the coronation, but Queen Mary will wear this dress in the procession from the palace. Returning to the palace she will wear the crown.

PEAT AS FUEL.

There are immense supplies of peat both in the United States and Canada, and a writer in Cassier's Magazine is of opinion that these may be used for the making of producer gas. The use of peat for domestic purposes in European countries dates back several hundred years, but the extensive development in methods of mining and utilizing peat has been largely within the last ten years. At the present time in many of the European countries peat is a large source of power development through the aid of the gas producer and engine, and the utilization of the peat bogs is becoming general. Some idea of the extent of this development may be had from the statement that Russia alone mines annually over 5,000,000 tons of dry peat. It is estimated by the United States Geological Survey that the bogs of the United States contain approximately 12,888,000,000 tons of dry peat commercially available. As a market value of $3 per ton for machine put bricks, this represents over $38,600,000,000. The cost of preparing peat for the market is comparatively small. Reliable figures are not available for the United States. From one locality in Sweden, visited in 1908, coal cost $3.75 per ton, and peat, delivered on the operating floor, 80 cents per ton.

GREEN WATER OF THE NILE.

(Scientific American, New York.)

The green water of the Nile is quite a different thing from the green water of the ocean.

About April 15th the Nile begins its annual rise, and a month later the effect is felt at Khartoum. A very curious phenomenon accompanies this increase, in the appearance of the green water.

For a long time it was believed that the color came from the swamps of the upper Nile, lying isolated and stagnant under the tropical sun, and polluting the waters with decaying vegetable matter. With the spring rise this fetid water was supposed to be swept into the streams to make its appearance in Egypt.

Within recent times, however, this theory has been abandoned. Now, we are advised, the green water is caused by the presence of innumerable number of microscopic algae, offensive to the taste and smell. They originate away up in the tributaries, and are carried to the Nile, where under the hot sun and in the clear water they increase with amazing rapidity, forming columns from two hundred and fifty miles to five hundred miles in length.

The weeds continue to grow, die and decay until the turbid flood waters put them to an end for they cannot exist except in clear water.

Offensive as, in some respects, the green water is, it is hailed with delight by the Egyptians, since its appearance is a sign of the real flood time and the close of the water famine.

MOSQUE OF OMAR SHIEKS ARRESTED.

JERUSALEM June 14.—The sheiks and other officials of the Mosque of Omar were sent under armed escorts today to Beirut where they will be tried before a special court on charges growing out of the operations of the English explorers who, it is alleged, were permitted to violate the mosque, while excavating for sacred relics.

QUEEN MARY'S EARRINGS

It is because Queen Mary is never seen without earrings that so many smart women of today are wearing them. Her Majesty has a really fine collection of these ornaments some of which are of great historic interest. Many fine pairs were bequeathed to the Queen by her late mother, Mary Duchess of Teck who also had a great penchant for earrings. For day wear the Queen usually favors short earrings (generally of single stones which rest on the ear, but in the evening she adopts the picturesque long shape. Her ears are pierced in old-fashioned style and she will have nothing to do with the scow fastenings which are almost universally used today.

Upset by Constipation

Distressing Indigestion, Stomach Gas, Palpitation, Constant Headaches.

"It is with intense satisfaction that I am able to relate how I was snatched by Dr. Hamilton's Pills from my bed of sickness," writes H. H. Sargent, a well-known hardware traveler residing at Charleston. "So many changes of diet brought on a fit of indigestion and liver complaint, but being very busy I didn't give the matter much attention. Headaches, awful dizzy spells, and constant tiredness soon made it impossible for me to attend properly to business. My appetite faded away, I became thin and looked yellow and jaundiced. I used three different prescriptions, which physicians said would tone up my liver and regulate my bowels—but I got no relief at all till I started to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. After taking them for a few days I was surprised at the energy and force I obtained; the old feeling of tiredness and lack of desire to work disappeared, and instead came vigor, energy, ambition, good color, and sound digestion. I take Dr. Hamilton's Pills three times a week and since have enjoyed the best of health."

What's the use of feeling so tired and so stupid, and dull when Dr. Hamilton's Pills will give you such robust, joyous health. For all disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver, and bowels, no medicine compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or the Catarhzone Company, Kingston, Ont.
