FOR SKIN DISEASES

A TREATMENT THAT COSTS NOTHING UNLESS IT PROVIDES SATISFACTORY RELIEF

We have a grayish white ointment with a pleasant odor that is clean to use, which we believe is the best known remedy for skin diseases. It is especially efficacious for overcoming eczema in all its various forms, ringworm, acne, pimples, blotches, insect bites, tetter, certain forms of ulcers, sores and wounds. It is strongly antiseptic, cools, soothes, and healing. It is all itching and burning caused by skin eruptions.

We are so positive this ointment is unequalled that we offer it with the distinct understanding that if after having given it a reasonable trial, you are not satisfied with the results, you have only got to tell us and we will, without quibbling, return every cent paid us for it. We exact no promises or obligations whatever.

We want you to try Rexall Eczema Ointment. The first application gives a refreshing sense of relief, and because of its germ destroying power, it eradicates the germ or parasite which causes eczema and many other eruptions. It quickly allays the inflammation, gives protection to the inflamed surface, and helps restore healthy tissue. It is particularly active in relieving skin ailments peculiar to children. You certainly cannot lose anything by trying it. We would not dare make this offer except we are positive Rexall Eczema Ointment will satisfactorily benefit you. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Remember, you can only obtain it at our store—The Rexall Store. Edgar W. Mair.

WHERE EVERYBODY GOES ON STILTS

There is a vast district in France where the entire community moves, goes about and transacts its business on stilts. This district is called 'Les Landes,' a name given to it because nothing more than a vast sandy plain presented for cultivation and quite incapable of bearing grain. In point of size, it is the third department in France and it lies to the north of the Acour. Strange to say the whole country to the south of that river is fertile. The Landes are thinly populated, and the inhabitants, who are among the poorest peasants in France gain their subsistence by fishing by such little agriculture as is possible, and by keeping cows and sheep. The shepherds made use of their stilts for two purposes first because walking is quite impossible on account of the sage and undergrowth of brush, and because the height of their stilts gives them a greater range of vision. From their elevated position they can watch their flocks for many miles because the land is absolutely flat. The stilts have a head something like a scrub, and, when, fatigued, the shepherds use this as a comfortable seat and while away their time in knitting.

The stilts generally are about six or seven feet high, and near the top there is a support for the foot which has a strong stirrup and strap, and still nearer the top a band of leather fastens the stilt firmly to the leg just below the knee. The old shepherds, gaunt looking and wearing shabby, sleeveless sheep skin coats and gaiters and the chere, a sort of tam o' shanter hat, pass their entire days from dawn until dusk mounted on their perches. They are often accompanied by their wives and their children, and sometimes by their grandchildren who use a stilt about three and a half feet in height.

Some of these Landes shepherds are most wonderfully clever in the management of their stilts. They run races step or jump over brooks clear fences and walls and they are able to keep their balance and equilibrium while stooping to the ground to pick up pebbles or to gather wild flowers. They fall prone upon their faces and assume their perpendicular without an effort, and in a single moment after they have thus prostrated themselves.
