Confidence

We Back up Our Statement With Our Personal Reputation and Money.

We are so positive that we can relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine free of all cost if we fail.

We think that it is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Cathartics may do much harm. They may cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels, and make constipation more chronic.

Constipation is often accompanied and may be caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those parts and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of skillful research chemists. This remedy produces results such as are expected from the best of the best-known intestinal tonics, and it is particularly prompt in its results.

The White Squaw

In reviewing "The White Squaw," the Canadian-American romantic drama which will be presented by Manager of the Hayden-Gibson on Friday, Oct. 20th, an exchange says: "An Indian story with never a pistol shot or war whoop in it, a moving play in which the villain is human and the hero has his bad attributes is 'The White Squaw' which so pleased the theatre-goers at the Lyric last night. It is a real pleasure to see a natural, well acted, well staged Indian play; the contrast is so great to the usual lurid melodrama of the Paleface and the Redman."

When Miss Della Clarke set out to write her play she studied from the life and the result is, we get real Indians, neither friends in vermilion paint, nor the simple children of nature deceived by the white man with a gin bottle in one hand and a rifle in the other. Michabo and his squaw are the stolid, rather squalid children of nature with primitive tastes and instincts such as you may see to-day at Bear Island or Port Maitland. The whole play has the smack of reality. Neamata, the white squaw, is a Montreal girl found in the forest by the Indian, Michabo, and unacquainted with her parentage, she grows to love him with the Boston fur trader and the pathos of the play lies in conflict between the Indian upbringing and the quick brain of the white girl. At last when she learns that she really has a white skin she decides that she wants none of the cities and will stay and wed her French-Canadian lover and continue to wear moccasins. The play is fresh, bright and containing many witty lines as the frequent applause and quiet spontaneous bursts of laughter attested. The performance as a whole was a sort that the North Country would like to see more of. There was a real and highly successful attempt to portray real life. Very refreshing after the posturing and highly artificial mode of representation so frequently seen behind the foot lights.

TEMPERANCE VALE

The last week was very favorable for the potato diggers and the crop has been an exceptional good one this season.

Friday morning, 6th inst., the grist mill owned by Theodore Stairs was completely destroyed by fire, of which the origin is hardly known. The loss is a particularly great one as Mr. Stairs had his year's grain and other necessities stored there.

The remains of Mrs. Herman Cole, formerly of West Waterville, was brought from Woodstock Wednesday, 11th inst. and buried here. Rev. P. J. Quigg, of Rossville, conducted the service at the grave.

A meeting of the church officers from the different parts of Southampton and Queensbury parishes, in which Rev. A. A. Rutledge has been laboring for a number of years, held a meeting here Tuesday afternoon, 10th inst., and gave Mr. Rutledge an unanimous call for another year.

Rev. S. A. Hazel and bride arrived here from England recently and Thursday evening a reception was held by the members of St. Luke's church here, and other friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McElwan. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hazel were presented with cash to the amount of $24, it being given by those present. Among those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Grant and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cronkite, Southampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Parent, Queensbury, were guests of Rev. A. A. and Mrs. Rutledge Thursday.

Mrs. G. D. Fox and Mrs. Ervine Stairs, of East Waterville, were guests of Mrs. Robinson Bartlett Wednesday.

Mr. Grass, of Hartfield, accompanied by his brother, of Maine, passed through here in the latter's automobile 7th inst.

in tea must be distinctive, pleasing and unvarying to merit continuous use. The flavor of Red Rose Tea is all its own; and it never fails to win and hold approval because it never fails in quality. Try it.

C. P. Phillips, of Woodstock, passed through here 13th.

Angus MacDonald left recently for St. John to spend some time in that city.

Services will be held in St. Luke's Episcopal Church Sunday morning and in the evening the congregation of the Baptist Church will be addressed by Miss Slipp on Missions.

Misses Fox and Mersereau, of East Waterville, were recent guests of Mrs. Claude MacDonald. Miss Mersereau is from Newcastle and is teaching at East Waterville.

Work on the new line of railway is encouraging and we hope to have its completion by the end of the year.
