EARLE-TWEEDIE.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, July 12, in Boston, Mass., when Miss Jennie Olive Tweedie, daughter of the late Andrew Tweedie, of Wicklow, was united in marriage to John C. Earle, a popular travelling salesman in the employ of J. M. Humphrey & Co., St. John.

Rev. Dr. Francis of Boston, was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was unattended, was becomingly attired in a beautiful suit of blue French serge.

After the ceremony luncheon was served to the young couple and a number of friends of the contracting parties.

On Friday, July 14, Mr. and Mrs. Earle sailed for St. John. On nearing the port the captain, who was a friend of the groom, hoisted the flag, in honor of the "newly weds." From St. John they went to Grand Lake for a few days, whence they came to Mrs. Earle's old home in Wicklow.

LESSER DRINK BILL, LESS CONSUMPTION

London, Aug 4—In his opening address at the annual conference of the National Association for the Prevention of Consumption, John Burns spoke in an optimistic style. He said; Tuberculosis in all its forms is a declining disease. In twenty-five or thirty years its annihilation ought to be affected.

In ten years in England and Wales consumption has diminished 19 per cent., in Scotland 24 per cent, in Ireland 24 per cent in Germany 18 per cent., in London 30 per cent., in Berlin 24 per cent., and in Paris only 3 per cent. In fifty years tuberculosis has declined over 50 per cent, for all ages, and between birth and 25 years of age it has been reduced by 70 per cent.

In speaking of the causes of the decline of Tuberculosis, he said; "Coincident with the decline of Tuberculosis and a similar decline in the general death rate and infant mortality we see our drink bill diminished from £4 12s. per head of population ten years ago to £3 8s 11d., or a diminution of 25 per cent. per head of population in the consumption of alcoholic liquor. I say that because one of the most distinguished men ever identified with consumption, Prof Bouardel, of Paris, said that the public house is the surveyor of consumption, in fact, alcoholism, is the most potent favor in propagating tuberculosis."

With the concurrence of the decline of consumption and decline of the general death rate and the decline in the consumption of drink Mr Burns said it was to be noted that "both are concurrent with better housing and all are collateral with the growing education, sobriety, better homes and social improvement of the people and their moral elevation."

Mr. Hunt was one of the oldest druggists in the province and old residents will remember the firm of Chandler & Hunt, at the corner of King and Germain streets, where the C. P. R. ticket office now is. He was born in Liverpool, (Eng.), coming to St. John when a lad of twelve years. He was 86 years of age and is survived by four daughters, Mrs. James W. Davidson, of Newcastle, N. B., Miss Ella P. Hunt at home, Miss Gertrude A. Hunt of Boston, and Mrs. Harrison Kinnear of this city. His wife predeceased him some few years ago.—Evening Times Star.

REV. GEORGE HOWARD.

The Rev. George Howard died at his residence at Hampton Village on Monday evening, Aug. 7, after a long and painful illness, in his 76th year, leaving a widow, formerly Miss Foster, sister of Berton C. Foster of Fredericton, and a family of five sons and three daughters. The sons are: Dr. Harvey Howard, of Oklahoma, and George of Winnipeg, by his first wife, who was Miss Eliza Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Clark of Centreville, and William and Fred, of Fort Fairfield, and Joseph at home, these three by their surviving mother, together with the Misses Bessie, Laura and Eva, well known and successful teachers.

Mr. Howard was born at Wells, in the county of Somerset, England, and came to this province in the early fifties, taking up his home in Carleton county, where he was converted and joined the Baptist church at Jacksonville on baptism by the late Rev. B. N. Hughes. Subsequently, in 1867, he was ordained to the ministry and entered upon his work as pastor of the Jacksonville church. Other churches he served with zeal and great success were Richmond, Macnaquac (where he remained eight years), Centreville and Florenceville two different times and a number of years each time Gagetown, Hampton Village, Havelock and Hampton Station, where after some years of faithful labor he closed his public ministry in November last, when he found his health too frail to continue his active labors.

As a preacher he was always forcible, though simple, analytical but not diffusive; practical and suggestive, with apt illustrations of the truths he was teaching; and always careful to keep the Master and His saving power before the view of the people. He was also a good pastor and ever found a hearty welcome in the homes of those to whom he ministered.

He will be laid to rest tomorrow afternoon in Hampton cemetery, after funeral services at the house at 2.30 o'clock,

CARVELL CHOSEN AGAIN IN CARLETON.

At a convention here on Monday evening F. B. Carvell was nominated as the Liberal candidate in the coming contest and the first gun in the Carleton county campaign for larger markets was fired.

The convention was the largest that has ever been held here. Every polling district in the county was represented. From Hartland came a delegation of more than 100.

The chair was taken by Councillor John Perry of Simonds, and with him on the platform were a number of citizens, among them being J. L. Merrithew, Thomas Bohan, W. L. McCain, George McLeod, John Bloodsworth, E. D. R. Phillips, E. R. Squires, Delancey Foster, Max Donnelly, William Carle, Arthur Ruff and Pennington McDougall.

After the chairman had spoken briefly, nominations were asked for. F. B. Carvell was nominated by C. E. Gallagher, seconded by Councillor John Kinney.

When Mr. Carvell took the platform, after touching on the work of organization he spoke briefly of the valley railway question. He told the audience that several weeks ago an agreement had been drawn up between the dominion government, the provincial ministry and the Quebec & New Brunswick Railway Company—the Gould Company—under which, if the Hazen cabinet goes ahead and signs the contract made possible under it, the valley will have a high grade steam railway from Grand Falls to St. John, operated as part of the Intercolonial, the scheme which he himself has always supported.

Hon. Mr. Flemming, he said, had agreed that the provincial government would go ahead under the agreement, but had declared it necessary for them to take time to investigate the financial standing of Mr. Gould.

Mr. Carvell pointed out that under this agreement the dominion government will pay one-third of the cost of a bridge at Andover, one near Fredericton and one across the Kennebecasis, as well as giving the full subsidy.

If the Hazen government carries out its part of the agreement, preliminary work on the road can be started shortly and the real work of construction go on next spring.

Mr. Carvell then took up the reciprocity agreement. He showed that the agreement is in no sense a treaty, but an arrangement which may be terminated at the pleasure of either party to it.

Passing on, he pointed out that the agreement is practically confined to natural products, and that when it comes into force the farmers and lumbermen and fishermen of Canada will have profitable markets thrown open to them. Under this agreement the farmers, for instance, will find their markets for hay, sheep, etc., much more profitable than at present.

There will be more money available for the payment of labor and property values will increase.

At the close of Mr. Carvell's address, Coun. Kinney spoke briefly. He spoke most enthusiastically regarding reciprocity and declared that the parish of Kent will give a splendid vote for it. The convention then broke up.
