Edison And The Future

Even Gold May be Very Cheap.
(The National Magazine for August.)

The prophecies of the Wizard of Menlo Park foretell the probable status of the yellow metal in the years to come. The world's business, he says has increased so enormously that the increased production of gold has heretofore fitted in, but this point has been passed and will hereafter increase faster than business.

The mass of this commodity will become a burden. Thinking men of capital will hesitate to loan money to be repaid at some long distant period in the future with this commodity. If they lend at all, and place themselves at the mercy of a steam-shovel and a chemical works the calculated deterioration as to its value over the loan period will have to be paid by the borrower in an increased rate of interest.

More and more shall we see that it is safer to own the stock of say a railway having no bonds than the bonds of a railroad, because the stock ownership represents something intrinsically valuable, whereas with the bonds, speculators could step in and pay them off with a depreciated commodity like gold.

A Mistake In Creation

(Calgary Alberta)

A certain skeptic was contending before a minister that the work of the Creator was manifestly imperfect. Have "you not yourself," he asked, noted defects in the human organism, for instance, and thought of letter contrivance?

To his delight there was the frank reply. "Why, yes, I really think I have."

In what respect?

"Why, drawled the parson, you see, when I want to shut out anything disagreeable from my sight, I can draw down my eyelids and it's all done; but unfortunately, I haven't any flaps on my ears."

The conversation ceased at about that point.

Carmen Join in London Strike

London, Aug. 8.—The carmen joined the others strikers on the London docks today and union officials claim that 70,000 men are now affected. Work on the South side of the Thames River is at a standstill. Ships have arrived in large numbers during the last few days with full cargoes, large quantities of goods for London houses, but there is no one to unload the vessels. Cargoes of meat in refrigerating chambers are still unspoiled, but the supplies of coal to operate the freezing plants are rapidly disappearing and the strikers will not permit the replenishment of the fuel supply. The strikers are peaceful but ugly threats are made regarding the fate of non-unionists who attempt to work. Both sides are hopeful that the Board of Trade will interfere to settle the differences between employers and employees.

The Useful Dye-Pot.

For the girl who wishes to dye her own things, says a writer in Women's Home Companion, the following important rules will be found useful.

All spots must be removed from the fabric about to be re-colored, as they are apt to resist the dye and show more plainly after coloring. If the materials are white or very light cream, pink, blue, or green, they can be dyed almost any color. But when they are of a medium or dark shade, the question of color must be carefully considered. Red will take a darker shade of red or brown, or a purple bath will produce reddish purple or plum. Brown can be changed to a darker brown or a cat-skin result from the use of crimson or garnet. Cardinal red applied to a very light green becomes a crimson or garnet, and darker greens can be colored deeper shades of green, brown and black.

Fabric containing stripes or plaids in various colors do not color as well as those which are a solid shade. In such fabric the pattern is apt to show after recoloring. It is wiser to dye them a darker shade of the original predominate color. If the pattern exists merely in the weaves, it has no effect upon the coloring.

Crepes de Chine and the other light wash dyes are simple to dye, but when color fastness and the heavier silks, stir well so that the dye fluid will permeate the fabric.

Woolen goods, fine cotton, and linen all ways turn out well.

Ways Of Preparing Chicken

Chicken is by far the best meat for summer eating. Chicken shorlicks are much better than chicken pie and very much more simple in the making. Cut the chicken up put it in a pan and cover it with water, or with water and milk. Let it stew gently until the chicken is tender and the liquor well cooked down. Make the gravy of milk, thicken with flour; add a piece of butter and pepper and salt. Have ready a pair of short cakes made of biscuit crust rather short. Cut into squares and lay them on a warm dish; add the chicken and pour the gravy over while both are hot.

To prepare jellied chicken, boil in a very little water a chicken until it is so tender that the meat will fall from the bones. Chop or break the meat into rather fine bits and season it well. Fill a mould with the chicken and with sliced hard boiled eggs, in alternate layers. Boil down the broth until it measures about one pint, then add to it a scant half spoon of gelatine. When the gelatine is thoroughly dissolved, pour over the chicken in the mould and set away to harden.

Saving the Soap Bill

The reason soap dissolves and wastes away so quickly is because it is too green. If wrappers are removed and the soap allowed to stand uncovered in the pantry for a couple of days, and then wrapped again and put away, it will last twice as long. This is no trouble if the soap is bought by the dozen and all done at once. This method was tried on the advice of a chemist.

Strong Plea For Woman Suffrage

"A y state where women vote is a better state, has juster laws, better homes and finer wives than a country where the strongest moral force in the world is kept out of politics." This is the opinion of the Right Hon. J. S. T. McGowan, Premier of New South Wales, who passed through New York recently en route home from the Coronation.

"Women have been voting in New South Wales ever since the federation ten years ago," said the premier.

"There is no doubt that their influence has made a change in our politics—a change for the better in every way."

"The percentage of women voters is higher than of men voters with us. Every Australian woman can talk politics intelligently, but she is none the less womanly for it. About 75 per cent of the women voters is a reflex of the husband's vote. I don't mean that the husbands dictate to their wives or that the wives accept their husbands' opinion, but having the same interests and the same prejudices, they naturally vote for the same man. It is the other 25 per cent of the women's vote that is the strong moral influence in Australia."

"Where a woman votes differently from her husband she votes better than her husband. A good woman doesn't accept the 'necessary evil' in politics. She does not say of a candidate as a man does some times, 'He's a rascal, but we can't do any better.' She asks questions. She asks, 'Is he a good man? Is he a good husband, a good father? Does he lead a decent private life?'"

Mrs. McGowan, who is with the premier, also is a pronounced suffragist. She said: "In England I was asked if voting made women less womanly. I laughed. There are no more womanly women anywhere than among the women voters of Australia. I have voted in three elections myself. Both my daughters and all my sons are voters, and even politically we are a very united family, as we are all strong members of the Labor party. But my sister and her husband vote different tickets."

INDIGESTION

Dyspepsia Means Slow Starvation.

By the testimony of actual cures—by the words of those who have proved the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, you can satisfy yourself that indigestion and dyspepsia are curable.

"Four years ago I got into a condition of low health—suffered all possible torture with acute indigestion, wind on the stomach, and dizzy headaches. The very smell of food often was sufficient to make me violently ill. Energy was gradually fading away. I no longer had any desire for work or for the company of other people, and was in the depths of despair. Worse martyrdom brain and body could not suffer, and live. I used so many remedies without success that I was in poor hopes of getting relief when I started on Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In a month I noticed a slight improvement, and kept right on using one pill every second night. In a month I was another man, looked ruddy, strong, hearty, and I felt as if I had been made anew. Four years have gone by, and I still rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills and attribute to their power my present condition of robust health."

NINE LOCOMOTIVES BURNED AT CALAIS

(Special to Globe.)

St Stephen, N. B., Aug. 9.—The workshops and round house of the Washington County Railway at Salmon Falls, Calais, were burned this morning involving a loss of $110,000. The fire started in one of the pits of the round house and spread rapidly. Only one of the ten locomotives in the building was got out and it was used to save some of the cars that were near but eight freight cars were burned and nine passenger coaches were badly scorched. The buildings were just opposite the St Croix Cotton Mill and were erected two or three years ago. The road has since been taken over by the Maine Central and the shops will probably not be rebuilt.

Property in New York to the value of $1,576,879 is exempt from taxation and yields no revenue to the city treasury, according to a report made public recently. The exempt property is that owned by the city itself, the United States government, churches, hospitals, charitable institutions and cemeteries. Approximately one third of the sum is represented, the report states, by the property of religious societies and institutions. The largest [single] exemption is Central Park, valued at $250,000,000.

A party of Norman peasants, eight stalwart men, set out one day to gather fagots. They worked long enough to have gathered 400 but returned with 37. And the Medical Journal, which narrates the incident, no doubt hits upon the right explanation of the small accomplishment when it tells what the party of eight men ate and drank for dinner: Twenty pounds of meat, 80 quarts of pear cider, 16 bottles of wine and eight quarts of cider brandy.

The Physiology Of Sleep

(Fred W Eastman in the July Atlantic.)

Sleep is no longer indefinitely considered a wandering abroad of the soul, but is now known to be a temporary poisoning of the brain-cells by the waste products resulting during the day from the activity of the body cells in general. Thus when a muscle cell or a nerve cell acts, nutritive material stored within its walls is broken down into substances that are of no value and merely impede further action of the cell unless less removed. Normally these waste products are washed out by the blood stream which at the same time provides new cell-food and is finally itself purified by the excretory organs—the lungs and the kidneys. In the course of the day however production is in excess of removal and then the clogging effect of these substances is manifested by fatigue in muscles and brain the extreme degree of which results in the latter organ, in the inability to act, which we know as sleep. The third of our time thus spent out of commission is therefore really due to the inadequacy of the excretory organs for purifying the blood.

Say! Those Wedding Cards I had printed at the Dispatch Office were just immense.
