The holiday season is not conducive of much news of any kind, but things will soon brighten, when the various legislatures meet and the politicians get in their work. Perhaps of the world's news, the most startling comes from London, the metropolis of the British Empire. The story of the attack on a brick residence in the east occupied by a gang of anarchists by a body of police, the desperate resistance, the smoking of the building and finally its destruction by fire wits its inmate, reads more like a romance from the pen of Conan Doyle than a matter of fact piece of news. It goes to show, how a small body of desperate men with the ordinary fortification of a brick house, and firearms of modern type may keep at bay a large force, just as in the olden time the lord in his castle resisted the attacks of a numerous enemy. There is a very serious element to the whole question. Of all enemies to society the anarchists is the most to be dreaded. He has the bravery of desperation and if any conscience at all, a very twisted conscience. His weapons are the most difficult to face, because they are unseen and are used in the dark. England has fared fairly well at the hands of these miscreants, so far, and it was at one time even rumored, that the London police has a sort of understanding with them that if they left English Royalty alone, they would not be bothered. Like most of such stories, it is probably made out of whole cloth. At all events, the war to the knife now between the police and the anarchists, and if it is to be hoped that the effort of the former will be successful. The English people are said to be fond of caste, and to revel in classes, there is one thing about them, they recognize faithful service. The three policeman who were killed by anarchists in the raid which led up to this final battle were given a grand public funeral, which was attended by crowds of Londoners, and by high officials in all departments.

NOTES FROM THE TRIP TO THE LUMBER CAMPS

There is a wealth of material for notes so exhausters as to defy committing to paper I touch on but some of its elements of interest. Have referred to Mr Welsh's well fitted up boarding house. He has a fine mill at Foreston $5000 expense recently put in it has added much to its thoroughness of equipment. One well known characteristic of Mr Welsh is thoroughness. He wants things in good shape.

By the way had a table at Brother Charlie Wilson's (Arygle) Sunday evening (Xmas) with his daughter home from Normal School for vacation. Her large book containing such a multitude of neatly mounted specimens of the plants and weeks of the province was a testimony as to the extent to which this so important and practical study affecting the agricultural interests of N B is carried on in the institution where our future teachers are being trained, as also the skill and zest with which the subject is taught by Dr D W Hamilton who seems both a cyclopaedia of information as to New Brunswick Flora and an enthusiast as a teacher. What trips a field that full herbarium of specimens of Miss Wilson gave evidence of.

Mr Huggards Camp to be met by my genial warm hearted friend Alfred Biggar whom 8 years ago I had met in Camp. It seemed to me matters home like at once. I found the men of this Camp an interesting group indeed.

A Record Year

THE IMPERIAL LIFE'S EXCELLENT STATEMENT REFLECTS COUNTRY'S PROSPERITY

Toronto, Jan 10.—The prosperity which has prevailed generally throughout the country during the past year is being reflected in a striking manner in the annual statements of our large financial and commercial concerns. A noteworthy example is that of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, whose preliminary statement for the year ended December 31st, 1910, shows that the results of the company's operations in 1910, surpassed in every important particular those of any previous year in its history.

The new assurances effected and policies revived amounted to $6,500,000, and exceeded by over a million dollars the company's best record in any one year. The total business in force now exceeds $30,000,000. During the year the assets were increased by over $800,000, and now stand at $6,147,000; the income from premiums and interest amounted to over $1,370,000 an increase of $165,000. A new record was also made in the amount of surplus earnings, out of which profits to policyholders are paid, the net surplus over and above all liabilities, including policy reserves, now amounting to over $770,000. It is also noted that the death losses were again below those which were to be expected according to the standard tables of mortality.

The rate of interest realized on the company's funds was 6.52 per cent, an increase of .40 over that earned in 1909. This favorable rate is due to the fact that about 65 per cent of the company's assets consist of first mortgages on improved farm lands in western Canada.

The policyholders and others having interest in this strong, progressive Canadian company are to be congratulated upon the marked success which has uniformly characterized its operations, and especially the success of the year just closed.

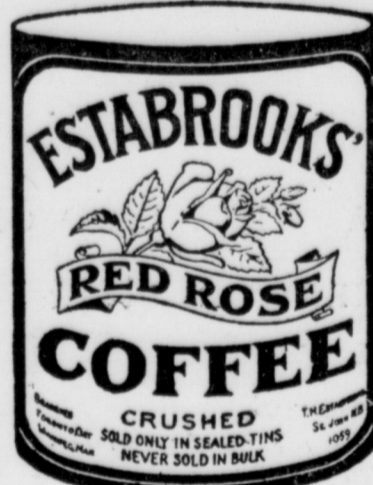

Mr H L Grant, the Company's representative at Woodstock, states that the business at his agency, during the past year, was satisfactory, and that prospects point to a very greatly increased business in 1911.

ATCHESON—GODARD.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of John W Godard, 20 Douglas Avenue, St John, Wednesday, when his daughter, Miss Ethel Vaughan was united in marriage to Leopold A Atcheson of the C P R office staff at Woodstock, N B. The bride who was married in her travelling dress, wore Copenhagen blue broadcloth with hat to match. Mr and Mrs Atcheson left on the C P R for Montreal and Toronto and before returning will visit Mrs Atcheson's sister, Mrs L W Sanford of Lincoln, Vermont. On their return they will reside at Woodstock. Many beautiful wedding gifts in china, cutglass and silver testified to the festivity in which the bride is held.

Crushed Coffee— what it is

By a process of crushing between steel rollers, instead of grinding, the skin, which remains in the eye of the bean after roasting, is separated from the kernel and removed by air suction, while the kernel is broken into small even grains. These grains when steeped, being free of the skin or chaff, settle quickly, leaving the liquid clear and bright, and give the true coffee flavor.

Estabrook's Red Rose crushed Coffee is as easy to make as Red Rose Tea. Directions are in each tin.
