Previous to the date of the event so hap pily commemorated, Mr and Mrs Kearney ra sided at Jacksonville, New Brunswick, which is known as the hub of Carleton county, and the garden spot of that province.

For some years previous to coming to Ca gary, Mr and Mrs Karney resided in St John, New Brunswick, where they raised family of four beautiful girls of the quality that has won New Brunswick such fame.

After bilding good bye to so many of their friends who were coming to Calgary month after month, Mr Kearney ventured westward himself, to find that the good re ports he was constantly hearing of Calgary were a delightful reality. Little time was lost in sending for his good wife and family and thus Calgary gained and St John lost.

New Brunswickers are not usually clan nish, except on occasions of this kind, when every guest is supposed to be the rightful owner of the buckwheat badge (countersign ed New Brunswick). In spite of the fact that this company was composed of about wenty ladies and their respective husbands the secret never leaked out, and the affair was a complete surprise to our fair hostess and her spouse of 25 years.

H N Payson was selected chairman, and is behalf of the company presented Mr and Mrs Kearney with a beautiful silver scal op dish beaut fully engraved, and also one doz en silver desert spoons. Mr Kearney, in re sponse, very feelingly expressed the approlation of himself and wife that they had not left all of their friends behind, but were still in a land where friendship abounds.

TRANSPLANTING THE ENGLISHMAN

The average Canadian-born probably has not time to stop and consider how much it means to the Englishmon of the middle class or of any class to pick up his luggage and strike for Canada. It is a difficult thing to contrast the life in an old English town-a cathedeal town for instance with the life that is led in a brand new Canadian town. Mr Augustus Bridle succeeds however in doing this in his article on A New Town for an Old One in the March Issue of MacLean's Magazine. The article is illustrated with photographs and etchings showing the old crumbling walls of Engand, side by side with the board shacks of a new prairie town How Reginald Snippett the maginary son of an imaginary banker, living in the English Cathedral city of Highton-also amaginary comes to Canada and learns to live and think and work like a canadian after being almost swamp is indeed a story worth reading.
