A DAILY THOUGHT

"Think what it means to keep your word, to meet every appointment, to fulfil every promise. There is a mighty moral force back of the one whose word is as good as his bond.

The big steamer had left the pier. The young man on the tar barrel still waved his handkerchief desperately.

"Oh, what'er you waiting for? Come on, said his companions, disgustedly.

What's the matter?

Good-Bye Hat!

BUT

if it happens to be a Buckley, he can get another without it costing him a cent.

You've seen "guarantees" before—but you never yet heard of a hat guarantee that guaranteed the owner even against accident. Here's one that does—the sweeping Buckley guarantee—provides for such cases as that shown in the picture — provides for a new hat within 4 months from date of purchase, if, for any reason—accident or otherwise—your Buckley hat has not in every sense "stood the racket." Read carefully the broad, all-embracing guarantee.

Why, you ask, should the guarantee be made so far-reaching?

Well, in the first place, the makers of the "Buckley" have absolute confidence in their product—they feel sure it will give satisfaction in 999 cases out of 1,000. But there's always that thousandth man—even he must be satisfied.

And, in order that he may get a new Buckley hat from any Buckley dealer, without having to answer questions or give a lengthy explanation, it has been thought well to provide that, whatever his reason, if the Buckley he's been wearing has not lasted four months, it will be cheerfully, promptly, unquestioningly exchanged.

Don't let this remarkable guarantee feature of the Buckley overshadow the style pre-eminence of these hats. The quality is English, but the styles are American and up-to-the-minute. There's a Buckley shape to suit every type of man.

Buckley hats are made by Union workmen—there's high grade material and honest workmanship in every hat that bears the Buckley name. Price, $2.50, at all the best hat shops.

CANADAS REINDEER COUNTRY

The progress of settlement in Canada northland has been so marked during the past few years that we must begin to make plans for the conquest of the ultimate north, the vast tract lying to the east and west of Hudson Bay and extending up toward Great Slave Lake and the basin of the Mackenzie. Similar territory in Europe affords a good living to the Norseman the Finn, and the Laplander. The Dominion is the only country available for the overflow of population from the far north of Europe and will inevitably attract many settlers of those hardy northern races.

The experiments conducted by Dr Grenfell on the Labrador coast and by the Government of the United States in Alaska in the acclimatization of reindeer should prove of great value to the Government of Canada when a real effort is made to open up the Canadian north to settlement. It is almost certain that in ten years at the most three railways will reach the water on Hudson Bay—one from Quebec, one from Ontario, and one from the Saskatchewan Valley. The completion of these railways will open up a huge coast region and make it necessary to find means of travel into the interior. Nature has made provision for that. What the camel is in the desert, the musk ox in the Turkestan steppes, and the husky in the arctic the reindeer is in the northern Asian and European regions corresponding to our own sub-arctic territory. The Government of the United States, seeing the need for hardy animals fit for domestication, introduced reindeer some years ago into Alaska. They have flourished and multiplied amazingly, and now number about 20,000, of which half are owned by the Eskimos. The animals were introduced from Siberia, where conditions are pretty much what they are on our side of Bering Straits. There is plenty of moss for food everywhere, and the Eskimos are required to serve a regular apprenticeship in caring for the reindeer before they are permitted to acquire a herd of their own. As the apprenticeship proceeds the Eskimo is given credit for so many deer, and in five years he may acquire a herd of fifty, which is ample to sustain a family. The venison of the reindeer is excellent, and in their new home the deer have lost none of their powers of speed and endurance. Many of the Alaska reindeer are trained to work and the carrying of mail and one reindeer mail express has already made a journey of six hundred and fifty miles from Point Barrow to Kotzebue over a frozen and trackless country.

The Dominion Government has recently spent a good round sum in saving the last important buffalo herd from extinction, and has thus earned the praise of all interested in wild nature. The introduction of reindeer into the northern territories in advance of settlement would be a step of even more practical importance. The experiments in Alaska and the Labrador prove that reindeer will readily adapt themselves to conditions in northern Canada. Their presence in considerable numbers would prove a magnet for very desirable settlers for the northland.—Toronto Globe.

$25,000,000 A YEAR SPENT FOR CHEWING GUM

(Washington cor. Houston Post)

This high cost of living problem has penetrated the halls of Congress, and when it comes to the solving of problems of domestic economy Congressman J Hampton Moore of Philadelphia has the frugal housewife all to the bad. But Moore has overlooked the beef and the sugar and has joined the Jim Hill decriers of extravagance.

Congressman Moore has completed a list of luxuries apparently deemed essential in this era of rapid living which comes short of being a joke. His statistics show that these luxuries consumed in a single year would comprise a chain of canals from Boston to Key West; that the jewelry sold represents more than twice the cost of building the Panama canal, and that the nickels annually spent for the pink and brown sizzling soda water are sufficient to complete the inland waterway system for which all south Texas is so ardently pining.

GRAPEFRUIT MARMALADE.

Slice thin one large grapefruit, one large orange, and one large lemon; using all but the seeds, measure the pulp and juice and cover with three times as much water; set aside until the next day; then add five pounds of sugar and boil for five minutes; again set aside. The following day boil it for about three hours, or until the consistency of marmalade. Put into glasses. This quantity should fill seven teen small jelly glasses.

COSTLY GOWNS FOR CORONATION.

New York, April 28.—Princess Kawakana koa of Hawaii, who before her marriage was Miss Abigail Campbell, (daughter of a wealthy sugar trader, is in New York on her way to attend the Coronation in London.

One of the robes which the Princess will wear at the Coronation is a cape of bird's feathers, one of the most costly garments in the world. It is made from the feather, of a species of island birds now extinct. Each bird had only one of the variety of feathers used in making the cape.

According to Moore, the boys and girl of the country, as well as the adult mass tigators of chiclo, spent $25,000,000 last year on chewing gum.

The candy bill in the United States last year reached the astonishing aggregate of $78,000,000.

The soda water bill in this country where it flourishes as in no other in all the world, was the—shall we say cool—sum of $320,000,000.
