THE ENERGY FOOD

The Vim and Vitality One Gets From Oats

There is something in oats which creates spirit and energy. No other grain can bring results like them. Everyone knows what oats do for horses. They have the same effect on man.

An extract of oats is employed as a tonic. A diet of oats multiplies one's vitality. That is why energetic men—men of vim and spirit—are said to "feel their oats."

In Quaker Oats the finest oats—Canadian grown—are subjected to 62 siftings. Just the rich, plump grains are used. There is only ten pounds of Quaker Oats in a bushel.

These grains have the maximum of richness and energy. They are also the most delicious. To eat Quaker Oats once a day for a month will show to the limit what tonic effects, what bubbling vitality one can get from oatmeal. One never knows how good oat food is, or what it can do, until he tries Quaker Oats.

Made in Canada.

BANGOR SWEPT BY A TERRIBLE FIRE

Bangor, Me., April 30 — Property valued at upwards of $6,000,000 was destroyed, hundreds of people made homeless, and almost the entire business section of the city devastated by a conflagration which at midnight was still raging Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Old Town, Brewer and every other city and town within reach sent help.

The fire started in a hay shed of J Frank Green, Broad Street, and in a short time was sweeping through the city in a northwesterly direction. Before midnight both sides of Exchange Street from York to State; both sides of State street, from Kenduskeag stream to Broadway; a considerable part of Central and Franklin Sts, nearly all of Park street and Marlow street were in ruins, and the flames had made inroads of nearly a mile into the best residential section in Broadway, Central and French streets. Banks, office buildings, the public library and other structures were reduced to ashes. Both telegraph offices were burned, but they established temporary offices outside the zone, and communication was resumed.

In addition to the fire at the corner of Broad and Exchange streets, the firemen found a blaze in a bicycle repair shop in the rear of the telephone office. Both fires spread with such rapidity that the firemen were helpless.

One of the few buildings to escape destruction was the City Hall. In some way the flames leaped over it.

Among the buildings burned during the early stages of the fire were the Haynes and Chalmers building, the Hodgkins block, the Fiske buildings, the Fairbanks and Co. building, the Bangor public library. Then followed the telephone offices, the post office, the Morse Oliver block, a seven story structure in which were located the offices of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad; the Windsor hotel and several churches. The Stearns building, Graham building, High school, Universalist, Central and First Congregational, St John's Episcopal, Advent and First Baptist churches, Kenduskeag building, Norombega hall, in which was located the Gaiety Theatre, the Exchange building, containing the University of Main School of Law and central fire station were soon added to the list of burned structures.

About midnight a light rain began to fall, and this, combined with a shift in the wind, enabled the firemen to check the progress of the fire.

Thousands of people spent the night in the streets.

Bangor has a population of about 25,000, and had, by the census of 1910, a real estate valuation of $16,898,967.

Bangor, Maine, May 1.—Homeless, hungry and exhausted by the long fight against the flames which had destroyed practically a third of the city of Bangor last night, thousands of persons who had spent the night in the open air, protected only by a meagre supply of blankets, today faced the problem of providing themselves with food, shelter and clothing, while city and state authorities began the consideration of plans for the rebuilding of the city.
