Dyspepsia Means Slow Starvation.

By the testimony of actual cures—by the words of those who have proved the merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, you can satisfy yourself that indigestion and dyspepsia are curable.

"Four years ago I got into a condition of low health—suffered all possible torture with acute indigestion, wind on the stomach, and dizzy headaches. The very smell of food often was sufficient to make me violently ill. Energy was gradually fading away. I no longer had any desire for work or for the company of other people, and was in the depths of despair. Worse martyrdom brain and body could not suffer, and live. I used so many remedies without success that I was in poor hopes of getting relief when I started on Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In a month I noticed a slight improvement, and kept right on using one pill every second night. In a month I was another man, looked ruddy, strong, hearty, and I felt as if I had been made anew. Four years have gone by, and I still rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills and attribute to their power my present condition of robust health."

CURRENT EVENTS

The tribesmen in Morocco are causing much trouble, even attempting to seize Fez. However in this attempt they were severely repulsed by artillery fire. The anarchistic conditions now prevailing in the country necessitate the despatch of French reinforcements and four battalions will start immediately for the scene.

The committee representing the Protestant churches appointed by the Toronto Ministerial Association to investigate the Ne Temere Papal decree and mixed marriage question having reported, after securing legal advice, the Association has passed resolutions affirming the quality of all religions, before the law; the binding character of any marriage performed according to law of any person authorized by law to do so; that the promulgation and enforcement of the Ne Temere decree, especially as regards mixed marriages, is a violation of the foregoing principles; that the criminal law should be so amended as to reach any man who declares any legally contracted marriage null and void, or uses his influence to separate man and wife, except on grounds and by processes recognized by the law of the land, and that as in the province of Quebec the Canon law of the Roman church and the Civil law permit the annulment of such mixed marriages, the protestant ministers interested declare this condition intolerable and inconsistent with British freedom—therefore the British and Canadian governments are urged to take the necessary steps, by amending the B. N. A. Act, to remove marriage from the jurisdiction of the provinces, creating a uniform marriage law. These resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The grape-growing region of the Department of the Marne, France, has been the scene of great rioting and destruction of property for over a week. Pillage and the destruction of property are going on to an alarming extent throughout the disturbed districts, and the sky is darkened by the smoke from the smouldering ruins of the burned and sacked wine property. Millions of bottles of champagne already have been destroyed. Troops estimated to number 20,000 men, have been concentrated in the Department of Marne. The region resembles a great armed camp. The soldiers are openly defied, and on several occasions have been compelled to charge with drawn sabres before the rioters were dispersed.

The United States House of Representatives has been considering the reciprocity agreement with Canada during the week, and a vote is expected at the end of this week.

The feeling against the Mormon missionaries in England is becoming daily stronger. At Birkenhead on Sunday night, a crowd visited the Mormon hall and demanded that they leave the town, which being refused, the hall was stoned and quiet was only restored after a severe fight with the police, in which many persons were injured. The Mormons in Heywood have left the place, keeping their promise to do so.

The Dominion Parliament after the Easter recess has again taken up the reciprocity agreement discussion, which it is understood will be continued with as little interruption as possible. Before adjourning for the Easter recess, in reply to a request by Mr. Borden, the Conservative leader, for a definite statement as to the Government's intentions with respect to increasing British preference and as to whether there were to be any other tariff changes than those contemplated by the reciprocity agreement, Mr. Fielding, the minister of Finance, said some minor changes in the tariff might be proposed by the Government, but that it had no intention of increasing the British preference. "We realize," he said, "that the farmers are asking for free agricultural implement and that they are also in favor of increasing the British preference to 50 per cent, but we are going to say to them that we believe such drastic changes would have a disturbing influence on the trade of the country."

It was announced by the Minister of Agriculture in the House of Commons on the eve of adjourning for the Easter recess, that the Canadian census would be taken on June 1 and that the full enumeration would be made known about November 1.

The $50,000,000 loan to China by a group of American financiers, negotiations for which have been going on for some time, was signed in Peking on April 15.

The situation in Mexico is very serious, and it is feared that the United States government will intervene before long if the Mexican authorities cannot end the insurrection. A desperate battle has been fought at Agua Prieta, between the Federal troops and insurrectionists in which the latter suffered severely, eventually disappearing.

The coroner's jury in New York that has been investigating the fire in the Asche Building, where one hundred and fifty shirtwaist workers, chiefly young women, lost their lives, have returned a verdict holding the proprietors of the factors, Isaac Harris and Max Blank, responsible for the death of Mary Herman, a young operator.

According to a Washington correspondent progress is being made in the negotiation of the arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States, and the administration is confident that the document will be completed in ample time for submission to the present session of the United States Senate for ratification. No obstacles, it is said, have been encountered or are in sight which would impede the successful passage of the treaty. The Anglo-Japanese treaty, it is stated, offers no stumbling block to the arbitration treaty.

The Crown Prince William of Germany has arrived home from his tour in Egypt and India, bronzed and thin, but delighted with his experiences, especially in India. He hopes to visit that country again on his way to Japan. The Emperor William is much pleased with the effect of the visit, because Germany's importance is always enhanced whenever a good impression is made on foreigners anywhere.

To meet the inquietude expressed by the Republic of Portugal, the Spanish government has instructed the Governor of Pontevedra, a Spanish province on the northern Portuguese frontier, to request the Portuguese monarchists who have taken refuge in that territory to move further away from the frontier. Portugal on her part has closed at Lisbon a club organized for the purpose of spreading revolutionary propaganda in Spain. These actions on the part of Spain and Portugal are due to the anxiety felt at Lisbon over the Monarchist movement to regain control of the Portuguese government and to the representations made by the Madrid government to the provisional government at Lisbon that Portugal cannot be used as a base for the promotion of designs against the Spanish monarchy.

Captain Farron, of the French army aviation corps, fell 250 feet with an aeroplane and was crushed to death, midway on a trip from Orleans to Versailles. Carrying fifteen passengers 180 miles, the "Deutschland II," Count Zeppelin's latest dirigible, completed a successful trip along the Rhine, to Dusseldorf, Germany. At Lindenau, Saxony Oswald Kent, an aviator, made an interesting aviation experiment, exchanging electric signals with the officers in command of troops manoeuvring, informing them of the position of their opponents. Two aviators, Lieut. Byasson and M. Delarge, of the French army were thrown to death through their aeroplanes capsizing in flights on Good Friday. Four German balloonists were fatally injured when the car in which they were riding at Keck, Saxony, capsized. The accident occurred when ten balloons were ready to start on a distance competition.—World Wide

CONTESTING THE SPOT.

The craft and ingenuity displayed by two great beasts of prey in a forest of Asia, over the remains of a meal which one had secured and the other coveted, make a good story, told by Charles Livingston Bull, in the March 'Outing.' The writer, who had watched the hero of his tale, a great snow leopard, or ounce, as it is sometimes called, stalk and finally capture his prey, a young fawn, saw him also finally routed out of a position which he seemed to hold pretty securely.

As the big cat crouched feasting a pair of eagles sailed down from the crags high above and circled out over the park, swinging round and round, swooping nearer and nearer, screaming and threatening.

The leopard paid little heed to their threats and they did not venture quite within reach of his lightning bonds, preferring to wait till his appetite should be satisfied and he should leave his prey for them.

A little later, as he feasted greedily, he was startled to hear a deep growling and heavy footfalls rapidly approaching from behind. Whirling around, he faced a great yellow bear, which had also heard the notes of the wapsiti, though from a much greater distance back in the forest on the other side of the park. It was the hairy eared or isabelle bear, a creature nearly as large as a grizzly, and though fat and about ready to go in to its den to sleep for the winter, it was curly and of no mind to brook interference with its hunting.

The leopard face it, staring and growling, but the big bear was not to be daunted, and came steadily through more slowly forward, making its great shaggy head from side to side and growling deep and harsh. When it came within a few yards it rose upon its hind feet and stood for a moment, watching the leopard standing over his prey, his beautiful fur on end and his great tail puffed out like that of an angry cat, growling and spitting.

Dropping again on all fours, the bear turned to one side and walked slowly around the leopard and the dead fawn, gradually drawing closer and closer; as he went the leopard turned, always facing him.

This manner of attack soon got on the nerves of the leopard and he greatly resented it, darting a few steps toward his much larger antagonist most threateningly, then as the big bear rearing up on his hind feet would call his bluff, he would again retreat to his prey. Finally, coming within a dozen feet, the bear suddenly charged. The leopard bounded lightly to one side and the bear, satisfied with having driven the cat from his prey, fell to tearing at the fawn, keeping a sharp eye on its owner.

The leopard watched the big bear for a while, then, not quite daring to attack so redoubtable an antagonist, turned away into the forest and resumed his hunting. Wise with the wisdom of his tribe, he scorned the glory of the forlorn hope.

REHEARSALS FOR THE CORONATION.

Rehearsals of the coronation ceremony have begun already in Westminster Abbey. Each person interested has to study his part as closely as an actor. The Duke of Norfolk as Earl Marshal, of course carries out the arrangement of the "setting" and training of all, with one exception, his Majesty, who is instructed and rehearsed by the Archbishop of Canterbury.
