Awful Ravages Of Plague In Manchuria

HARBIN Manchuria, Feb 6—Already nearly 6,000 bodies of victims of the plague have been burned or buried in the outskirts of Harbin, Forty eight hundred of these came from the Chinese town and a thousand from the Russian quarter. Yesterday sixteen stacks of coffins and seven pits filled with bodies and oiled logs blazed outside the town.

The mortality among the physicians and the hospital attendants is high, considering the means taken for their protection, and doctors, nurses and orderlies are succumbing to the disease. The sanitary authorities hope soon to test serum of their own manufacture, from the Manchurian bacillus, as the foreign importation have proved ineffective.

The happening in Europe in the 19th century when the "Black Death" swept through the country are being repeated here. Fears bordering on panic have griped the Chinese. At first they defied the medical officers and kept their sick and dead hidden the purpose of carrying out the ancient funeral rites. Now it is brother against brother, father against son. The stricken ones are forced into the streets, to starve or freeze, or to fall perishing from the swift and deadly attack the plague makes upon its victims. Passers by avoid them, but sometimes those engaged in sanitary work, masked and bandaged, reach them before they die and cart them to the house, pestor, if they are dead, to the funeral pyres.

ODESSA, Feb 6 it is reported that the plague has appeared in Trans Baikal, a region in the western part of Amur in East Siberia.

ST PETERBURG, Feb 6—One hundred deaths from the plague are reported in Kwancheng Tse, a large town west of Kirin Province, close to the Manchurian Railway.

A DAILY THOUGHT.
When a thing is particularly hard to do, it is likely to be particularly well worth doing. This is worth remembering the next time that difficulty and opposition stare us in the face.

PERPETUAL MOTION AT LAST

Clerk making excuses for a big err or. But, Sir, man isn't a machine. He cant go for ever.

Employer: Oh, yes, he can! You're going for ever at the end of the month, Sydney Buletin.'

Addressing the Reichstag on the subject of the constitution proposed for Alsac-Lorraine, Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg on Saturday made a strong declaration of the government's internal policy and firm intention to maintain Prussia's supremacy in the councils of the empire.
The chancellor said that the government was working always toward granting more independence to the conquered provinces but was firmly resolved to suppress energetically all efforts to arouse a feeling antagonistic to Germany among the inhabitants as such efforts only hindered the fulfillment of Germany's intentions.

King Georges advisers this week instituted criminal libel proceedings with the object of ending once for all the rumors which have been freely circulated for years that His Majesty when in the navy, wasmorganatically married to a daughter of an admiral stationed at Malta. The defendant in the case, Edward M Mvlius, who is connected with the paper The Libera-tor published in Paris which printed the disgraceful and untruthful slanders on which the libel charge was based, was found guilty on Wednesday and sentenced to a years imprisonment; It was proved that the King had not been in Malta for at least two years previous to the time when the alleged marriage was supposed to have taken place. The suit had been taken to vindicate His Majesty as husband and father and not as Monarch. After sentence had been passed Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Attorney General, read a letter signed by the King and authorizing him to state publicly that the writer had never been married except to Queen Mary had never gone through a ceremony of marriage except with the Queen and that he he would have attended the proceedings to give evidence to this effect except for the advice of the law officers of the Crown that it would be unconstitutional for him to do so.

Some very amusing replies from intending applicants for life insurance were collected and published a short time ago by one of the leading medical journals. From various application forms the following remarkable statements were culled; Mother died in infancy Uncle died of cancer on my mothers side Father died suddenly, but of nothing serious, Mother's last illness was caused by chronic rheumatism, but she was cured of this before she died, Perhaps the happiest reply of all is this, Grandfather died suddenly at the age of 103. Up-t then he bid fair to live to a ripe old age.

PEACH TRIFLE

Boil together for five minutes one cup of sugar and one cup of water.
Put into this one quart of pared peaches. Stir slowly until tender.
When almost cold, press through a sieve. Line a deep glass dish with stale sponge cake dipped in sherry.
Spread over this the cold peach pulp.
Flavor one and a half cupfuls of sweet thick cream with two tablepoons of powdered sugar and one teaspoon each of vanilla and lemon, and whip until thick and solid. Pour this into the peaches and let it stand until very cold.

DISAPPEARING THATCHED COTTAGE
The gradual disappearance of the thatched cottage is matter of regret to all admirers of the picturesque in village architecture, says the Glasgow Evening News. At present three of the oldest houses in the quaint Ayrshire village of Mauchline are undergoing repairs which necessitate the substitution of slates for straw. One of these dwellings was the domicile of Clinkumbell, who acted as village bell-ringer when Burns was tenant of the neighboring farm of Mossgeil.
Another historic Mauchline house, which is said to have been standing in 1685, is undergoing still greater transformation at the hands of the builder.

DINING TABLE PROTECTOR OR SILENCER.
A light, convenient, and practical silencer can be made from asbestos pads covered with cotton flannel slips.
The pad is in two pieces each hinged in three places by being ed together. This makes it possible to use the pad on a table or desk when not in use. The slip is smooth.

ELASTIC ROADS IN SWITZER-LAND.
(London World)
An interesting experiment has been made with promising results at Zurich. Fine gravel, the grains averaging from one-twentieth to one-twelfth of an inch in diameter, the whole carefully freed from earthy substances, were coated in a revolving drum with tar. These pellets were then carefully dried and hardened, and after eight or ten weeks were spread during dry weather in a thick layer upon a prepared roadbed and rolled.
The road thus formed is inexpensive possesses a certain elasticity, and is said to withstand well the effects of heavy traffic. The desirability of a slightly elastic road for saving wear and tear and suppressing noise is evidence.

CORN OYSTERS
Corn oysters can be made from dried corn. Drain and mash the corn to a pulp, mix with a well-beaten egg, season with pepper and salt, stir in enough flour to make a dough that will drop from the spoon.
Fry in hot fat.
