ARCH UPTON

In loving memory of Arch Upton, who died on Dec 17th, 1910, aged 25 years, 8 months and 18 days.

Many hearts in this place were saddened on Saturday morning last as the sad news flashed over the wires that Arch Upton was dead, being born and having lived in Florenceville all his too brief life, until last April when he removed with his parents and sisters and brothers to Avondale, where Mr Upton bought a farm. Arch was a boy who was liked by everybody, of a rather reticent nature, with strangers, with his chums and young friends he was always jovial and generous to a fault. Arch was of the nature that despised a mean or selfish action in any person. Six years ago about the present month he contracted a heavy cold and as one after another seemed to settle upon him, that slow fitting, insidious disease Consumption fastened upon him, although always able to mingle with all his young friends and walk about until the past year, but since that time, he has been nearly all the time confined to the house. Such being his nature, that in all those six years he was never heard to make one murmur of his fate only to his beloved pastor, Rev Mr Wetmore, of East Florenceville, did he ever open his heart to talk about his future. To Mr Wetmore he confided that all was well between him and God, he had made his Peace with him and was only waiting and longing for the summons to deliver his poor wearied spirit from the frail tenement of clay that held it. Who knows or can think of the hours of communion in the dead watches of the night he held with his God, only by the sad look in his eyes was the soul longing made manifest to his friends. Yes, Arch is dead but among his friends and neighbors he will never be forgotten. From a fine, robust, manly form, with health written on every feature, he was reduced day by day to mere skeleton. By his noble and self sacrificing mother he was waited on to the last. She always would say: "Arch has never been a care, he tried to be as little care as he could and only the last three or four weeks of his life was the only real care he ever had to have." All of his old neighbors sympathize and love goes to his whole family and we all mourn with them, for expecting every day to hear of his death it was a severe blow at the last. His funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at the Waterville church, a long concourse of old friends and neighbors following him to his long resting place. Three of his pall-bearers were his old favorite 'chums' Ed and Wilmot McKay and Rex Stevenson and Harry Carter of Avondale being the other one. Rev Mr Wetmore his pastor and friend, conducted the service assisted by Revs Copeland, Beatty and Hart.

As the shades of night were falling they left the body to its rest, for the freed spirit had winged its way to joys eternal, and tho the pure snow had covered the newly made mound with its white rilt, we will always remember Arch as he was when in song and laugh and gay jokes his merry voice was heard in our homes. Besides his father and mother he leaves four sorrowing sisters and three brothers, one brother, Howard, has been in the States for years and was unable to get home to see him during all his illness.

Good bye dear friend and associate, may we all be prepared to meet you in that home to which you have gone.

We shall meet but we shall miss him

There will be a vacant chair,

We shall linger to caress him

While we breathe an earnest prayer.—The Carleton Sentinel.

MRS SUSAN WHEELER ESTEY

The community of Knoxford and many friends throughout the province were saddened on Dec 25th to learn that Mrs Estey, widow of Charles Lothrop Estey had passed away. Although somewhat frail for a number of years, yet she measurably enjoyed activity, at ending to the duties of life and ministering to her household until about twelve days before her decease, then the heart weakened and she gradually went down to the close of her earth journey. Mrs Estey's maiden name was Susan Nevers and was born in Prince William, York Co., coming with her husband to this part of the province in its early settlement. The little body, never very rugged, rapidly succumbed to the excruciating pain, and release came by the angel we sometimes call death. The funeral services were conducted on the 26th at the United Baptist church of Upper Knoxford by Rev J D Wetmore and interment was made in the cemetery of that place.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.
