Steel Rails

The fact appears from some statistics published at Ottawa that most of the steel rails purchased by the Canadian railway companies during the first three months of the present fiscal year were secured in the United States. Notwithstanding the Canadian tariff on United States rails at $7 per ton, there was imported into Canada from that country in the three months 45,668 tons at a valuation of $6,185,345. Under the preference the British rail comes into Canada at a duty of $4.50 a ton. Steel rails from Great Britain are admitted under the preference at a duty of $4.50 a ton. Nevertheless the amount of rails imported from the United Kingdom during the three months was very small, about 106 tons, valued at about $2,500. The duty collected on all the rails imported gave a revenue of over $300,000. The total rail importation from the United States and Great Britain for the first three months of last year was only 15,156 tons, valued at $442,630, just one-third of this year's three month's importation. The large importation is due to the fact that neither the Nova Scotian companies, nor the Soo are able to fill the orders fast enough.—St. John Globe.

Canadian Forestry Convention

Victoria, B. C. Sept. 4.—The fourteenth annual convention of the Canadian Forestry Association began in this city to-day with an unusually large attendance. The programme prepared for the convention extends over three days and provides for addresses of the most practical character by many leaders in forestry and lumbering in Canada and the United States. Sir Richard McBride and a number of other public officials of prominence are taking an active part in the convention.

Women Destroy Butcher Shops

New Haven, Aug. 27.—After a declaration of independence and forming secret committees to organize a fighting corps, about five hundred women of this city made a concerted attack on the butcher shops in Factory, Broad, Commerce, Oak and Hill streets to day.

The movement of protest quickly developed into a riot—the most violent demonstration against the high cost of living that has developed anywhere in the country.

Women who attempted to purchase from the shops were set upon by the irate members of the housewives' organization. They were beaten and kicked and their meat thrown into the gutters. In more than one instance men went to the rescue of poor foreign women who did not understand what they were being punished for. This interference added new fuel to the fire, and some of the well-meaning male rescuers suffered beating at the hands of the feminine mob.

The butcher shops where proprietors refused to stop selling meat were wrecked. The women would first overbear the storekeeper and either drive him from his shop or assign a committee to hold him while others poured kerosene over his meats and threw his entire stock into the streets. The police were called out early, but it took an hour for them to suppress the riot. The women in separate companies, attacked many places simultaneously. The field of hostilities covered about a square mile, and thus while the authorities were crushing one demonstration, another would break out in the next block.

The police found one woman, unable to speak a word of English, kneeling on the sidewalk in front of the meat shop of S. Swirsky, in Oak street, and praying her assailants not to beat her any more. An empty market basket lay beside her, and the little meat she had bought was in the street. She had been kicked and beaten until she was covered with bruises. Policemen, assisted by several civilians, rescued her. A store at Broad and Oak streets was wrecked after the women had found the proprietor selling meat to willing customers through the back door. The crowd of women swarmed in to the place pulled down the gas jets, overturned tables broke fixtures and threw the meat out of the windows. A knife was hurled at

Record Secretary Lands Good Position

Edward B. Winslow Becomes Foreman of "McDowell Times" at a Very Flattering Salary

Mr. Edward B. Winslow, Secretary of the Record Publishing Company has resigned as a member of the mechanical force of "The Record, and has accepted the position of foreman on the "McDowell Times" of Key-stone, West Virginia, for which city he leaves on September the eighth.

Mr. Winslow served his apprenticeship to the printing trade in the offices of the Carleton Sentinel Publishing Company, in his home town at Woodstock, New Brunswick, Canada. He then accepted the position of assistant manager of the "Van Buren News," a bilingual paper of the State of Maine, resigning from the latter position to become a member of "The Record" staff.

The Record shareholders had such confidence in his ability that they, in their annual meeting held less than a month after his arrival, elected him a Director, defeating for election some of Dayton's prominent citizens. The directors shortly afterwards made him the Secretary of the Company.

He is a member of the local Typographical Union, of Gem City Palace Knights of Pythias Lodge, and a charter member of the newly formed Business League.

Since coming to Dayton, Mr. Winslow has made many friends, who, together with his associates in business, regret very much to have him leave the city, but are delighted at his rapid advancement and wish him success in his new and responsible position as chief of the large mechanical force of the greatest Colored paper in West Virginia.—The Dayton Record.

the proprietor as he stood helplessly protesting. Departing, the militant women threatened him with death if he informed the police of the names of any of their number. A storekeeper in Lafayette street mounted a chair amid the ruins of his shop and tried to tell the women that the high prices were not his fault, but the fault of the New York wholesalers. He was dragged from the chair and rolled in the street, while the women kicked and pumelled him until he was black and blue.
