Four Inches Of Snow In Madawaska Damages Crops

That a fall of four inches of snow in Madawaska early Monday morning would do great damage to the crops in that county was the statement made by Mr. Charles L. Cyr, ex-M. P. P., who arrived last night from St. Leonards, accompanied by Mr. Max Cormier, of Edmundston.

Mr. Cyr said that the country had been wholly unprepared for such wintry weather and that many acres of oats had been levelled to the ground by the heavy fall of snow, not more than 25 per cent. of the harvesting being finished. There were also many acres of potatoes still in the ground and the situation was indeed a serious one for the farmers, who would be hard hit.

Mr. Cormier mentioned the fact that the snow coming at a time when the roads were not frozen would do a lot of damage to the highways, and said that the fruit crop would also be badly damaged, he feared. There had also been fairly heavy fall of snow along the St. John river below Madawaska county, running down as far as Carleton county. Mr. Cormier, said, but apparently Madawaska county was the hardest hit.

A few stray flakes of snow were noticed in this city Tuesday morning but there was scarcely enough to be called a snowfall.—Gleaner.
