Valley Road Work Is Being Rushed

That the Woodstock to Fredericton section of the Valley Railway would in all probability be completed in a year's time, and that trains would then be operated on this part of the road to serve the rich farming country through which it passes, was the prediction made by Mr. R. J. Arnill, of Fredericton, who with Messrs. Luther Smith and E. I. Merrithew arrived in the city Friday morning and registered at the Victoria. All three are members of the firm of Smith & Merrithew who have the contract for the grading work on a stretch of road nine miles in length, starting about seven miles above Fredericton. Mr. Arnill stated that the Valley Railway has been delayed somewhat by the fall freshets and considerable difficulty has been experienced in obtaining gravel. Another setback occurred shortly after the inception of the Turko-Balkan war, when forty Bulgarians who were employed on this contract left their work and returned to their native country to take up arms against the Ottoman forces. Other contractors have experienced the same difficulty. Despite these drawbacks to the work, however, Mr. Arnill states that the grading and concrete work on the Fredericton to Woodstock section of the road is progressing with considerable rapidity and he expects the part of roadbed for which his firm hold the contract will be completed and ready for the work of laying the rails about the first of July. At present Messrs. Smith & Merrithew are employing one hundred and seventy men and besides have a steam shovel and forty-six horses with the rest of their plant on the work.

Captain John Porter, of St. John, was in town on Thursday called here by the death of his sister Mrs. Henderson.

Dear Friend:—

I am quite aware that your time is already occupied with the many demands that come upon you from day to day, but I feel sure that you will pardon me for calling your attention to a special subject.

Ever since the passing away of our beloved General, William Booth, many people, both inside and outside our ranks have suggested that a memorial of some kind should be erected in memory of the "Grand old man" and the work which he accomplished.

From the many suggestions that have come to the son and successor, General Bramwell Booth, the idea of better training facilities has been decided upon. This was one of the unrealized dreams of the General and it is the desire of the present Leader to do all in his power to carry that plan into effect.

In an interview General Bramwell says, "I feel so strongly that we owe it to the officers to do something more for them at the beginning of their career. Such devotion and self-sacrifice as they manifest, and so much ability, deserve to be made the very, very best of." "In short we want to bring all up to the level of the best. We must not be content with the past, however good it may have been, but see that in future, with all the love and goodness possible, there shall be combined the needed knowledge and wisdom to make every Army Leader all he may become."

Many donations have already reached the General in London, including $5000 from Lord Rothschild, but one from a salvationist is said to have touched the General's heart more than anything else. This mother wrote,—"All I have—my husband, my children my home—I owe to your father's blessed work. So I feel I must take out of the bank the few pounds I have there and send it to you for this memorial."

Each country, where the work of the Salvation Army is carried on will go in for its own memorial.

Commissioner David Rees, who is in charge of the Canadian work is very anxious that every soldier and friend should do something, and in this way make it possible to erect a Training College in Toronto which will meet the demands of the work in this Territory. I will be pleased to call and see you or hear from you through the mail.

Wishing you every blessing and much success,

I am
Yours Faithfully
Thomas J. Meeks.

Turkey's Reasons For Not Accepting Armistice Terms

Constantinople, Nov. 22—Turkey has rejected the conditions offered for an armistice between the opposing armies. This decision has been communicated to the Bulgarian government. One of the causes for the rejection, was the opinion held in official circles in Constantinople that the conditions proposed by the allies deprived the Turks of the possibility of resuming hostilities in the event of the Plenipotentiaries failing to settle terms. This, from the Turkish point of view, meant no armistice at all.

Such conditions, it is held here, are made only when it is a question of preliminaries of peace and by accepting such terms as those presented by the allies, Turkey would be binding herself hand and foot. It is further insisted that Turkey has not sunk to that degree of impotency which should compel here to accept such conditions.

The terms stipulated by the allied Balkan nations provided for the surrender of Adrianople with its garrison, for the evacuation of the Tchatalja lines in front of Constantinople and for the surrender of Scutari, Durazzo and Dibra. No mention was made of Constantinople or the Dardanelles.

The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh arrived here this morning in tow. The warship was down by the stern where she apparently had been struck by a torpedo—She was immediately docked.
