PRESENTATION.

After a splendid address given before a large audience in the Olivet Baptist church school room yesterday afternoon by Miss Clarke, Mrs. A. F. Baker, the wife of the retiring pastor of the church was presented with a handsome gold watch suitably engraved. The presentation was made by Mrs. S. Fader on behalf of the ladies of the church, as a token of their appreciation of the splendid work which both Mr. and Mrs. Baker have accomplished during their pastorate here. Mrs. Sutton, mother of Mrs. Baker, was also made the recipient of a beautiful brooch.---New Westminster British Columbian.

Agriculture vs. Militarism

That the present agitation which is being carried on in Canada for the working up of the German scare is arousing opposition is to be seen in a number of quarters. One of the latest manifestations of this opposition appears in a late number of the "Farm and Dairy," published at Peterboro, Ontario. The article in question is an editorial, and the manner in which the writer handles his subject shows that he has a clear understanding of the spirit animating the "scare."

The following excerpt is especially interesting:

"Just at this time when Canada is being urged from many sources to increase her military expenditure because of the so-called "German war scare," let us look at this question in a little saner way than it is generally viewed. It is a question that affects every farmer in this land, for it is we who will be called on to pay the major part of these proposed increased expenditures.

We feel safe in saying that the great majority of the people in both Germany and England are for peace; and in democratic countries the will of the majority is supreme. At the present time the party in power in the German Parliament, the Social Democrats, are pledged to peace. This party with their allies represent fully three-quarters of the German people. In Germany the war sentiment is kept alive by a small class of jingoes who will profit by war, either financially or through the chances of obtaining military glory. This class, through the influence that they exert because of their control of the German press, are enabled to create an entirely false idea of the intentions of the German people as regards the British Empire. In Great Britain it is the same class, military men and those who manufacture war supplies, who aim to instill into the British people that fear of the German that the German jingoes are endeavoring to instill into their people of the Britisher."

The farmers of Canada are to be congratulated that they have a paper with enough progressiveness to place itself in opposition to an evil which thrives only on its ability to keep fear, jealousy and hatred alive between nations, and which has cursed the race unspeakably in every age and will continue to do so until the intelligence of the age drives it forth from the experiences of man forever.

Very Truly Yours

LETTERS FROM MOTHERS

Every day we have letters from thankful mothers telling us what Baby's Own Tablets have done for their little ones. Some praise them for constipation, others for teething troubles, and still others for vomiting, indigestion and the many other ills of babyhood and childhood. We have received thousands of letters--all giving praise. Mrs. W. G. Crowe, Midland, Ont., says: "I think very highly of Baby's Own Tablets. I gave them to my baby when troubled with constipation and they helped her so much I always keep them in the house and now use no other medicine." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

McManigal Tells Of M'Namara's Confession

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.--For the first time since the twenty-one persons were killed in the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times Building on October 1, 1910, James B. McManigal's detailed confession was related on the witness stand Thursday.

Ortie E. McManigal testified that the confession was given to him while he was hiding McManigal in the woods five miles from Conover, Wis. Messrs. Olaf A. Tveitmo and Eugene L. Clancy, San Francisco labor leaders, were named by McManigal as having made arrangements for the explosion and as having furnished the two men, F. A. Schmitt and David Caplan to assist in buying the high power nitroglycerine. Tveitmo and Clancy are among the forty-five defendants now on trial.

McManigal said Tveitmo was the big paymaster and there never was anything to fear for Tveitmo was a friend of Mayor McCarthy, and in fact Tveitmo was the Mayor of San Francisco. When the stuff was ready to take to Los Angeles McManigal had a talk with Tveitmo, telling him either he or Schmitt would have to do the job alone, not both of them. For Schmitt was too much of a talker and had a woman friend in Los Angeles that he did not want to get mixed up in the job.

Then he told how he set the bomb in Ink Alley. He reached the basement and while passing through it tore off a gas jet. He said he wanted to get General Otis. McManigal said McManigal told him he put the infernal machines at the residences of General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times, and of Felix J. Zeehandlaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association.

At Salt Lake City he stopped off the train and got in touch with J. E. Munsey, who hid him in his house for two weeks. McManigal said after news of the Los Angeles explosion was published, J. J. McManigal sent him to Worcester, Mass., to cause an "echo" of the Pacific coast explosion in the east, so as to divert suspicion from "J. B." McManigal said he went to Worcester and caused two explosions on October 9. On the return he called at the home of Frank C. Webb, New York, and left a message that any more work to be done in the east should be sent to J. J. McManigal in Indianapolis. He also looked over the possibility of blowing up jobs in Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

"Chiropractic" is derived from the Greek word "Cheir" meaning the hand; and "Praktikos" meaning active or practical. The obsolete adjective form practice, defined as artful cunning, skillful, conveys the meaning in the compound word still more fully. The English form of the Greek word is practical, and is defined as "Capable of Practice" or active use; opposed to speculative.....and in distinction from ideal and theoretical" Chiropractic is thus seen to be that science of Drugless therapy which is accomplished by skillful hand treatments.

PHILOSOPHIC BASES OF CHIROPRACTIC.

Disease and Mal Alignment of Spinal Column. It is unwise when it comes to a matter of health, to allow our prejudices to hinder us from investigating new ideas. What advancement would have been made in the world if there had not been some liberal minds broad enough to investigate the claims of unaccepted truths; In some respects it is well that nature has given us this desire to travel in well-beaten paths; to follow old and accepted ideas, instead of being driven hither and thither by every wind of doctrine; but when the old and well-beaten paths have led to so many disappointments, is it not time to stop, consider and investigate the new? Even the most casual study of the structure of the Spinal Column will furnish convincing proofs that we are making no extravagant, unprovable assertion when we claim that a vast percentage, (probably 90 per cent. would be a very conservative estimate) of the ailments, diseases and deformities of the body, are influenced directly or indirectly by some mal-alignment of the vertebral of which the column is composed.

The greatest truths are those which we are apt to overlook in our search for something mysterious and complicated right at our hand, within easy reach lies the truth waiting recognition and acceptance.

The following verses should give the proper incentive to the students and readers of natural healing, especially those who have studied and practiced some of the various therapies in use today by drugless healers; as spina; adjustment offers to such, the most powerful methods known to science for obtaining success after the failures of other systems.

Fight ever on; this earthly stuff
If used, God's way, will be enough
Face to the firing line, O Friend,
Fight out life's battles to the end.
"One soldier, when the fight was red,
Threw down his broken sword and fled,
Another snatched it, won the day
With that his comrade threw away."
