Sentences of The Convicted Camorrist

VITERBO, July 9.—The verdict of yesterday, finding the Camorrist guilty, after two years' trial, as a whole proved somewhat of a surprise, and all are agreed that the severity of the sentences is the last blow to the Camorra, which has practically been annihilated since the arrest of its leaders.

The verdict found Corrada Sortina guilty of both murders; Niolo Morra, Antonio Cerrato and Mariano Di Gennaro guilty of the murder of Cuocolo, and Giuseppe Salvi guilty of the murder of Cuocolo's wife, Enrico Alfano, the alleged leader of the Camorrist; Giovanni Rapi, Di Marinas and the others are convicted of being instigators of the crime, and members of a criminal organization.

The president of the court immediately sentenced the condemned men. Sortino, Salvi, Morra, Di Gennaro Alfano, Rapi, Cerrato and Di Marinas were sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment, and to ten years' police surveillance; Di Mattio to ten years and six months imprisonment, and ten years' surveillance; Ascrittore to ten years' imprisonment, and three years' surveillance; Vitozzi, the priest, to seven years' imprisonment and two years' surveillance; the others to five years' imprisonment, and three years' surveillance.

When the accused men were placed in their own cage, to hear the verdict, Di Marinas suddenly drew forth a piece of glass and cut his throat. He fell to the floor of the cage in a pool of blood, the general pandemonium broke loose. The other prisoners screamed like wild animals, shouting invectives and imprecations.

Rapi shouted: "This innocent blood is crying for revenge." Alfano raged around and recalled the death of his brother, who, he cried, "was a victim of injustice and a man who had suffered the martyrdom of innocence." Vitozzi knelt weeping and praying. All the prisoners acted like maniacs, and the carabinieri had difficulty in forcing their way into the cage to maintain order and carry out the wounded Di Marinas.

The pronouncement of sentence was received with uproarious protests from the condemned men: One of them shouted: "We are innocent; this is legal assassination." Some of them shook their fists at the judge, and others tore at the bars of the cage. They attempted in concert to harangue those assembled in the court.

In addition to the police and carabinieri within the building, a battalion of troops with fixed bayonets were

Di Marinas is in a serious condition. There is a gash four inches long and half an inch deep in his throat. The glass with which he attempted suicide severed an artery, which was tied, but Di Marinas, the moment he was left alone, tore off the bandages and reopened the wound. Surgeons again dressed his injuries, but the wounded man declared he was determined to die.
