The Three Weapons With Which Success May be Won

Howard Pyle, the famous artist, writing a chapter of his autobiography in the April WOMEN'S HOME COMPANION, says: "He who would succeed must arm himself with three vital and most necessary weapons. First, he must have ceaseless industry; second, he must have limitless ambition of purpose; third, he must possess unquenchable enthusiasm, coupled with a determination to succeed. Given these three, and something else beside—a gift of imagination,—and it matters not, I believe, whether the life of a man begins in a cobbler's shop or a grocery store, or whether it begins in such an illuminating joyfulness in beautiful things as that which brightened my early childhood. With any beginning, success will, of a surety, be his who makes himself truly deserving of it."

Mexico is not able to suppress the rebellion within her borders, and has received with displeasure some suggestions from the United States government as to the best course to pursue. In a letter to the acting secretary of state at Washington, the Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs declares his country does not recognize the right of the United States government to admonish Mexico as to her mode of proceeding. Relations between the two republics are becoming slightly strained.

St. John Globe

Many Luxuries, Few Boats

(Montreal Herald.)

The Titanic had a splendidly equipped gymnasium, in which the first cabin passengers could take every variety of exercise to which he was accustomed on land; but she had no lifeboats for two-thirds of her complement of living beings, and therefore twelve hundred men and women are dead today in mid-Atlantic, cut off in the prime of their life.

The Titanic had a squash racquet court in charge of a professional practitioner of that fascinating game; but she had not enough boats, and therefore most of her racquet-players have gone to the bottom with the court and the implements of their amusement.

The Titanic had Turkish, electric and swimming baths, in palatial rooms lighted with bronze lamps in Moorish settings, with marble fountains and in-laid tables; but she had not enough boats, and therefore most of her bathers are drowned.

The Titanic had three elevators running night and day; but she had not enough boats, and therefore hundreds of those who used the elevators have gone to a depth whence no human mechanism can ever raise them.

The Titanic had half-a-dozen different restaurants with scores of private rooms in which the exclusive passengers might eat and drink with the same privacy and hauteur to which he was accustomed on Fifth avenue or in his club; but she had not enough boats, and hundreds of those who sought her have gone to a promiscuous death in the open sea.

The Titanic had a concert room, and bands; she had two miles of promenade decks; she had huge verandahs with climbing plants, she had a business room with stenographers and typewriters; she had a dark room for photographers; she had the most sumptuous smoking room in the world; but she had only one-third of the number of boats that she needed.

How long shall we persist in this folly of making a toy of the ocean steamship and a playground of the world's great waterways? How long shall we go on trying to destroy the immemorial character of life at sea and make it a mere bedizened duplicate of life on land? How long shall we demand of our ocean carriers the three qualities of extravagant speed, luxury and exclusiveness, and ignore the primary factors of safety?

When you need a squash racquet court at sea you don't need it so badly that you can't do without it. When you need a lifeboat you need it as the American needed his gun—"mighty bad!"

SPRING REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

Raw, Damp Weather Starts the Pain, but the Trouble Lies in the Blood

Spring weather is bad for rheumatic sufferers. The changes from mild to cold, the raw, damp winds start the aches and twinges, or in the more extreme cases, the tortures of the trouble going. But it must be borne in mind that it is not the weather that causes rheumatism. The trouble is rooted in the blood—the changeable weather merely starts the pains. The only way to reach the trouble and to cure it is through the blood. The poisonous rheumatic acids must be driven out. Liniments and rubbing may give temporary relief, but cannot possibly cure the trouble. The sufferer is only wasting time and money with this kind of treatment and all the time the trouble is becoming more deeply rooted—harder to cure. There is just one speedy cure for rheumatism Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the impure, acid-tainted blood. They purify and strengthen it and thus root out the cause of the rheumatism. Here is strong proof of the above statements. Mrs. Robt. Luffman, Midland, Ont., says: "About three years ago my grandson, Robert Luffman, was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. He became so bad he could only walk when someone helped him about. One arm he had to carry in a sling, and we felt sure he would be a cripple for life. The trouble also affected his heart. The doctor said his blood was turning to water and we had little hope for his recovery. The medicine the doctor gave him did not do more than soothe the pain a little, then he would be as bad as ever. On a former occasion Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured my daughter of rheumatism, and we finally decided to try them in Robert's case. After the use of three or four boxes there was a slight improvement and he continued taking the Pills until he had used 12 boxes when the trouble had completely disappeared, and he has not been afflicted with it since."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tom: "Did you ever see such a pretty girl. How on earth can we meet her?"
Dick: "I've an idea. You push her off the pier and I'll dive in and save her life."

TOWN COUNCIL

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Friday evening. Present, Mayor Ketchum and Couns. Jones, Dibblee, Balmain, Gallagher, Mair and Gibson. The most important business was to hear from Engineer Feeney of Fredericton who kindly offered to come up and give some information on the question of permanent streets. It was also decided to engage John S. Leighton Jr., for $150 a month, to work on the collection of taxes and the taking of a census of the water takers of the town.

Engineer Feeney said that he looked over plant; it was as good as the one in Fredericton; the plant should be set up where the stone pile is now to save the cost of hauling. The road he should be built eight inches deep in the centre and five inches in the gutter. There was now in the rock pile 550 cords of rock, weighing 3850 tons. The streets were 35 feet in width. The sum of $2500 would lay about 1000 feet of macadamized road. After returning home he would prepare plans and specifications for the engineer who would have charge of the work. Proper drainage is the chief factor in making good roads. Much valuable information was given by Mr. Feeney in his address to the council. John S. Leighton was heard before the board. He was willing to audit the water and sewer accounts. These had not been audited for eight years. He would start out and take a census of the water takers; have them sign new applications; prepare a new book, and render such service to the town as his time would allow. He would be willing to take the position for a month, or longer if the town needed his services.

Moved by Coun. Jones, seconded by Coun. Mair, and passed that John S. Leighton, jr., be engaged at $150 a month, for one month, to work under the advice of the finance committee.

Coun. Mair stated that the price of Copper had gone up. The total cost for rewiring the light system would now be $941; from the old wire he would get $250, making the net cost about $691. This would furnish an all-night service, which the Powell Company would continue during the life of its contract with the town.

Coun. Gallagher stated that the work on permanent streets would commence about the last of May and continue for about two months when this year's appropriation would be exhausted. Next year it was proposed that travertine pavement be laid from the creek bridge to the post office.

Couns Jones and Balmain intended to start John S. Leighton jr., at once on the collection of back taxes. He will be instructed to get results even if he has to use most drastic measures to do so. Back taxes must be paid before the new assessment is made up. He will have the moral support of the Council and the legal support of Chief Kelly and Supt. Fields in gathering in the taxes and water rates.

Couns Dibblee and Jones reported that as members of the Town Hall Committee they had judiciously handled the delicate case intrusted to them and that the Jewish wedding would proceed, on the date mentioned, without a hitch, the mayor, his council the town solicitor and reporters agreeing to be present and add eclat to the affair.

Adjourned until Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

LAKEVILLE

April, 17, 1912

Miss Lena Beairisto, Fort Fairfield, Me., is visiting her cousin, Miss Mae Beairisto.

Miss Addie Irvine, Knoxford, spent a few days recently with Mrs. Hawels Corbett.

Quiltings are the popular gathering now for the ladies. There has been one at Mrs. Robert Smith's, Mrs. Havelock Wilson's, Mrs. Stanley Savage's, and Mrs. Harmon Carvell's within the past week.

Miss Clara Tracy of N. B. Normal School, spent her Easter holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Tracy.

Miss Ferne Page has gone to Fredericton to attend Normal School.

Miss Mabel Phillips, Jacksonville, is doing millinery work in the village. She had a successful opening on Wednesday, April 17.

The snow is disappearing rapidly with the warm weather of this week. The roads are in very muddy and altogether unpleasant condition.

Miss Estabrooks spent Easter in Jacksonville.

We are glad to know Mrs. Robert Carvell is gaining now in health. Is able to take short walks and make neighborly calls.

The Misses Palmer, of Jacksonville, visited their cousins, Misses Kate and Hilda Wilson, last week.

Mrs. Strahan, of Centreville, has been papering for Mrs. J. R. Fowler. She papered seven rooms in two days—pretty good, is it not?

Stinging Trees

In the southern part of Formosa grows a tree, about 10ft. in height, having long leaves which possess the property of the nettle, and produce a maddening irritation of the skin when incautiously touched. The natives call it chiao-jen-kou, meaning "man-biting-dog." Mr. Tokutaro Ito, of Tokio, who has recently made a botanical exploration in Formosa, suggests the name "viper tree" as a more distinctly warning title. There is another species of "stinging tree" in Australia, which attains a height of 15 feet, and the effect of whose touch appears to be even more maddening to men and animals. Horses stung by it have to be shot, and dogs, when affected by the poison of the leaves, run about whining and biting themselves.

Bald Heads Not Wanted

Baldness is too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one who is blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65 per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements, no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want every one in Woodstock who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Woodstock, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. E. W. Mair.
