HERE'S YOUR CHANCE.

R. S. Phillips, of King St. is still buy-ing hogs. Mr. Phillips has contracts that call for a large amount of beef and pork and says he is ready to buy all the hogs that come in. We presume he means the kind they use for pork, but anyway, here's your chance if you have hogs to sell.

RIGHT OF WAY GRANTED.

Ex-Warden John Scott has set a very good example to other property owners in the St. John Valley by offering to the Saint John and Quebec Railway Company which is to build the line a free right of way across his very valuable farm in Dumfries. It is understood that Mr. W. S. Tompkins of Meductic, Mr. Geo. F. Burden of Pokiok and Mr. Frank de L. Clements of Springhill are about to make similar offers. Others are also likely to be made as the people of the wallow all madize the immense of the valley all realize the immense value such a line will be to the country as well as to the towns and cities of the

Christmas Week at Richards

When the well known firm of Richard's & Co. advertise an event it becomes a fact.

For several weeks the buyers and advertising manager have been making plans for the Christmas holidays and the results of their efforts has been ful filled beyond expectations.

A visit to the store last week by a representative of the TIMES during the salesladies and floor-walkers were busily engaged in showing the wares and nearly every customer found what he or she wanted, and went away with their purchases neatly done up in the brown wrappers recently adopted by this progressive firm, and which is attracting the shopping public. Every article, large or small, is delivered in one of these brown wrappers or boxes.

All through the week an orchestra has been stationed in the Garment Dept. and hourly concerts of popular and classic music have been enjoyed by the holiday shoppers.

The basement dept. has been a popular place, for here one of the largest stocks of toys and novelties ever shown in Houlton, has been attractively displayed, and many a little tot has been made happy by a visit to this realm of

The Fur and Garment department was another attractive spot, made evident by the large number of purchasers Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Estey, and two children, of Wicklow, spent part of last week in Jacksonville, the guests of Mr. price advertised and altogether this price advertised and altogether this great Aroostook Department Store has fulfilled every promise made to the shopping public.

Aroostook Times

The concert held in the hall at Oak Bay, under the direction of Mrs. Opie, exceeded the most sanguine expecta-tions of parents and friends of the children. The platform had a homelike, Christmas appearance. There was an old fashioned fireplace with a row of stockings hanging in front of a blazing fire. Telephone messages were frequently received from Santa Claus during the evening. The children threw their souls into singing, and recitations that held the audience. Rev. D. W. Blackall gave an interesting and amusing speech that added largely to the interest of the evening. Master Douglas Carr, spent New Year's In a felicitous speech, Dr. M. L. Day in Hartland the guests of Mr. and Young moved a vote of thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Opie for their efforts in pro-viding such an excellent concert. Sherlock Out-Holmes'd

A short time ago a large factory fitted with the most modern appliances, including electric light, caught fire, and, despite the most strenuous efforts of the fire brigade, was almost demolished.

The following morning a newly appointed member of the police force was despatched to the shop to see how the fire originated. After closely questioning the manager of the factory, he asked to see the man who was responsible for the electric light. The manager stated that the electric switches were under his sole con-

"Then you are the man that lights up the electric affair?" said the police-

Manager-"That is so." Policeman, bubbling over with excitement.—"Now, be careful how you answer my next question, 'cos if it ain't satisfactory, it will be took as evidence against ye. When you lighted the electric light last night, where did you throw the match?"

Breaking the Hat-Pin

Berlin's Chief Constable is dealing with the hat-pin danger in a very pointed manner. Some months ago he issued a courteous appeal to the fair inhabitants of the city requesting them not to wear dangerously long needles in their headdress without covering the points with protecting sheaths. This appeal, however, does not appear to have met with the desired compliance, and the Chief has now proceeded to stronger measures. A woman whose unprotected hat-pin delay. inflicts a wound on another person is now liable to a fine of $220 and to a term of imprisonment not exceeding two years, in addition to which the injured party may claim damages up

Blind Shorthand Writers A Jewish contemporary puts on record the remarkable feat of Mr. Maurice Myers, who reported the whole of the discussions at the recent conference at Exeter, Eng. on the treatment of the blind, and adds the interesting fact that his notes were recorded on a narrow strip of paper which extended to a length of two and a quarter miles. The idea of shorthand note taking by the blind is, of course, not new to Britain, for it is well known as one of the 30tf. principal subjects taught to the sightless at the Birmingham Royal Institution for the Blind. Mr. Myers was trained at the Birmingham institution, and his speed is 158 words a minute - rather above the average speed of
